SOLDIERS KILL WORKINGMEN MARCHING TO ST. PETERSBURG; STRIKE SPREADS TO MOSCOW

Men Parade Streets Closing Plants and Shops—Seat of Liberal Movement, and Bloody Occurrences Expected.

CZAR WILL TRY CONCILIATION

Although He Is to Declare St. Petersburg in State of Siege Today, It Is Reported He Will Create a Mixed Commission to Consider the Strikers' Demands; the Workingmen to Select Their Own Representatives—Troops Preserve Peace in Capital, Once Firing Blank Volley at a Crowd. Building at Admiralty Works Destroyed by Fire. Father Gopon in Hiding.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 24, 3:25 a. m.—At Kolpino, 12 miles up the river, a body of workmen who had started for St. Petersburg to join the strikers, were stopped and fired upon by soldiers. Accounts as to the number killed or wounded conflict.

A report has gained currency that the strikers intend to storm the market on Vassili Ostrov and seize the provisions there.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 23.—The most startling feature in the situation tonight is the news that several factories in Moscow have closed and that the workmen in the old capital of Russia are repeating the tactics of their fellow workmen of the national capital, marching from shop to shop and from mill to mill, demanding that establishments be shut down. The whole city is reported to be in a state of great excitement over the news of the bloodshed here yesterday which has precipitated immediately the strike that had been planned for Wednesday. Moscow has more workmen and less troops than St. Petersburg, and besides is just now the heart of the Liberal movement and the danger of more bloody occurrences there than have been witnessed here are proportionately greater.

The deputy prefect at Moscow has issued a proclamation warning the public to avoid assemblages and processions or the same severe measures will be adopted as at St. Petersburg.

According to private reports, the workmen in several other big cities, notably Kharkoff, where large locomotive works are located, already have completed plans for a general suspension of work. Moreover reports are current that workmen, who otherwise would soon be forced back into the shops or starve, have received assurances of financial support from the sources which hitherto have furnished the sinews of war to the Liberal and revolutionary agitation, but have not before been in touch with the labor movement.

Might Force Peace With Japan.

If the strike becomes general all over Russia, and especially if the railroads are drawn in, it might immediately force the nation to make peace with Japan.

The situation appears grave from every standpoint, but the authorities, although apparently somewhat bewildered, declare their purpose to stand firm, maintaining that it is their first duty to preserve order, scouting the idea of actual revolution. Seemingly the ministers are most concerned over the effect of the present situation abroad, where they declare exaggerated reports create a false impression. What, if any, steps have been taken to meet the general situation, however, has not yet been disclosed, but there are extremely significant reports tonight that Emperor Nicholas, in making the decision at the extraordinary meeting of the council of the empire at Tsarskoe Selo today to declare St. Petersburg in a state of siege, announced that he had resolved to issue a manifesto to the people with a view to calming them, promising to create a mixed commission of workmen and officials to investigate and decide the questions of the demands of the strikers, especially the one affecting hours of labor, which Russian law fixes at 11.

To Be Selected by Workmen.

The representatives of the workmen, according to this report, are not to be appointed but selected by the laboring men themselves. This would be the first concession to the representative principle. According to reports the emperor will also promise to investigate yesterday's events in St. Petersburg. He is said to be almost prostrated with grief.

Today there was no repetition of the deplorable occurrences of yesterday, with the exception that a single blank volley was fired to awe a crowd near the Warsaw station. Careful investigation shows that no bullets were fired. The military everywhere had a firm grip on the situation, and the police used every precaution, such as forbidding the sale of petroleum and advising people to remain indoors.

The fire in the Admiralty works at Sevastopol broke out immediately after the second signal to begin work was given at 7 a. m. The flames burst simultaneously from different parts of the works and the whole building was so quickly involved that men in the modeling department barely escaped by jumping out of the windows. Energetic measures prevented the flames extending to the docks. The fire was under control at 1:30 p. m. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Military in Control.

The military had complete possession of the city this morning and quiet prevailed in all sections. After the last volleys in the Vassili Ostroy quarter at midnight, the men abandoned the few barricades which they held until that hour and retired. The word was passed around by the leaders to remain quiet for the present.

During the night a fine, damp snow fell, covering the ugly red stains and obliterating all traces of the conflict yesterday and with the break of day the city, except for the presence of troops in the streets, had resumed its normal appearance. The shops had reopened and general traffic was partially resumed. The men appeared at work in several of the factories and mills, including the works of the Russian Westinghouse Company, but the managers in a majority of cases told the men to remain away for a few days and that in the meantime they would receive their pay.

The people generally were nervous and apprehensive and kept indoors.

Strikers Curse Soldiers.

The strikers, looking weary and haggard after the excitement of yesterday, collected in sullen little groups in the vicinity of their various headquarters and yesterday's barricades, awaiting the decision of their leaders regarding the plan of action. They were in an ugly mood and broke out in curses whenever soldiers marched by.

An early morning tour showed that a cordon of troops barred the entrances of the city from the big industrial sections. The bridges were still held by the regiments. It being rather strange to see the officers of the Imperial guards, the pets of the St. Petersburg drawing rooms, riding thoroughbreds and doing police duty in the streets around the Winter palace. There was no trace of excitement. The big square which yesterday was filled with troops was empty, but inside the palace court, beyond the sight of passersby, a regiment of dragoons and several companies of infantry were quartered. The authorities advised the factory owners not to admit the men, as they had stolen a lot of dynamite bombs and might destroy property.

Denied Intent to Pillage.

Rumors were current that the strikers proposed to proclaim a general attack on property and a reign of anarchy, but the labor leaders denied this in the most vigorous terms. One of Father Gopon's lieutenants declared that the leaders of the strikers had resolved to preach the gospel of armed resistance and the overthrow of autocracy, but that it did not carry with it a threat of pillage or an attack on property. The police were not able to locate Father Gopon, though they searched for him everywhere. His whereabouts were known to only half a dozen trusted lieutenants, through whom he issued orders.

No newspapers have appeared since Friday, except the Official Messenger, containing the government decrees, which is printed under military protection at the office of the State bank, where the bank notes are issued. Official accounts of yesterday's affair were posted on all bulletin boards. Strikers who came to read spat upon them. It was reported that at one of the meetings in the early hours this morning some of the strike leaders discussed the advisability of sending delegations to the various embassies to appeal to the foreign powers for protection, but no action was taken.

Strikers Argue With Soldiers.

In the Putiloff district this morning everything was quiet, troops guarding the factories, policemen on their beats and strikers quietly chatting with the soldiers, discussing their grievances and trying to convince them that they were wrong to shoot their brothers. A mill owner in an interview said he felt no apprehension for the safety of his property. Many men stationed outside the Putiloff works were drawing the balance of their pay, thereby severing all connection with the works. The depots and railroads are guarded by regiments brought from Reval and Pskoff.

As the day advanced the crowds on Nevsky Prospect increased, but the police did not allow them to collect. Squadrons of Cossacks with lances and carbines patrolled the thoroughfare as a reminder of what would happen at the least disturbance. Half a regiment of infantry stacked arms and remained on duty on the Grand Morskaja, a fashionable boulevard of the city, and at noon troops were again marched into the palace square, where people were once more trying to collect. All the grand duke's palaces were strongly guarded.

Troops Take Meal in Streets.

The troops received their noon meal in the streets, steaming camp-kitchens being driven from place to place. An instance of the perfect military management occurred shortly after 1 o'clock today when there was a disturbance on the palace bridge. A bugle rang out and in

INSANE ENGINEER HELD THROTTLE

Gave Up His Place to Fireman Just in Time to Avert Disastrous Wreck.

WILD RIDE ON PANHANDLE

A Panhandle freight train was run from Burgettstown to Carnegie yesterday morning by an engineer who suddenly became temporarily demented. His fireman got control of the throttle just in time to avert what would probably have been a disastrous wreck.

The train had started for Pittsburgh from the big yards at Colliers, W. Va. The engineer was Charles Kull and the fireman, Perry McKinley. Just before reaching Burgettstown the fireman heard a loud cry from the engineer and, from his position across the cab, saw Kull gesticulating wildly and screaming at the top of his voice. McKinley went to the engineer, and realizing the latter had gone mad, tried to persuade him to give up his place. Kull stubbornly refused and his only replies to McKinley's entreaties were piercing screams.

The train was near the steep hill at Burgettstown, and the fireman knew that unless he got hold of the throttle before the train started down that treacherous grade a disaster was certain. Just as the train started down the hill Kull gave up his seat and the fireman safely brought the train down to the bottom of the grade.

The insane engineer was finally induced to take the fireman's seat and the latter did double duty as engineer and fireman until Carnegie was reached. There McKinley reported what had happened, and Kull was placed in care of Dr. R. L. Walker. The physician had him removed to the West Penn hospital. Kull arrived at the hospital last night about 7:30 o'clock, and at a late hour was reported to be much improved mentally.

It is stated that he will soon regain his reason which, it is alleged, was temporarily unbalanced by an incident on Sunday when an interlocking switch failed to work and Kull's train was in danger of being thrown over an embankment. This produced a severe nervous shock. Kull resides at Sheraden. He is 35 years of age.

SUICIDE OF CASHIER CAUSED RUN ON BANK

Columbus Institution Goes Into Hands of Receiver While Its Officer Lies Dead.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23.—As the result of a run by depositors, following the suicide this morning of Cashier Charles H. Houseman, the East End Savings bank was closed today by its directors and placed in the hands of a receiver, W. H. English.

The news of Houseman's suicide caused a panic among the depositors, who are mostly residents of the East Side, and the crowd which struggled around the doors of the bank seeking to withdraw deposits became so large the police were called. The run had been in progress less than two hours when the directors decided to close the bank.

Cashier Houseman had worried over the bank's affairs and in a note, which he left to his wife said:

"My Dear Wife and Emily: Another sleepless night, and I am so unnerved I am almost beside myself. I can't tell what will become of me if it lasts much longer. The tin box has all my papers, some of them worthless, but keep them all as they may be valuable to you. They are all yours. Goodby."

Tucker Case Ready for Jury.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Jan. 23.—The case of Charles L. Tucker, charged with the murder of Mabel Page, will be given to the jury tomorrow. Counsel James H. Vahey finished his effort in behalf of the prisoner this afternoon.

ALLEGHENY IN PHIPPS' PLAN

Model Tenements in Home City Are Said to Be Under Consideration.

DOES NOT DENY IT

Philadelphia Also Is Included in the Millionaire's Great Building Project.

WILL COMMENCE WORK SOON

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Jan. 23.

"It is the intention of Mr. Henry Phipps to build model tenements not only in New York, as announced 10 days ago, but also in Allegheny and Philadelphia."

This statement was made by a gentleman thoroughly conversant with the plans of Mr. Phipps. Mr. Phipps refused either to confirm or deny the story when it was brought to his attention. The fact that Mr. Phipps was accompanied to Philadelphia Saturday by Robert W. De Forest, one of the first persons consulted on the New York project, lends color to the story. Mr. Phipps went to Philadelphia to attend the annual dinner of the Phipps institute and then spent Sunday in Lakewood, N. J.

"If Mr. Phipps has such a plan I have heard nothing about it," said his secretary, Mr. McKenzie, this evening. "He refuses either to confirm or deny the story, but even if he had such a plan he would certainly say nothing on the subject until it was fully ready for announcement. He absolutely refused to discuss the New York plan until he was ready to put it in operation."

"Then, Mr. McKenzie, you would not like to say the story is improbable?"

"No, I wouldn't say it is all improbable, but I would much rather not discuss the question. When Mr. Phipps is ready to have his plans become public property, he will make the announcement himself. I can only say in this case, I know nothing about it myself."

According to the gentleman who gave information regarding the plans Mr. Phipps has in mind for Allegheny and Philadelphia, the matter was broached when the New York model tenements were under discussion, but the impression was given that Mr. Phipps would wait until the experiment can be thoroughly tried here.

"I have since been given to understand," continued the informant, "that the tenements will be built in Allegheny and Philadelphia, whatever the result here. In fact, I do not believe Mr. Phipps will wait, as it may take several years to prove the success of the idea, and he is unwilling to allow so much delay."

Mr. Phipps has shown his interest in Allegheny, his old home, in many ways. He has provided a fine conservatory for the Allegheny parks, a splendidly-equipped playground for children in the most thickly settled part of the city, a fine manual training school, $20,000 for the purchase of books for the Carnegie library, and in other ways has shown deep interest in the welfare of the working people. He still owns considerable property in Allegheny, and it is possible he designs building model tenements on the ground he holds as an investment.

Mr. Phipps has also shown his interest in the city of Philadelphia by the erection of a hospital for consumptives at a cost of $1,000,000, and by providing the means for the study of tuberculosis.

LACKAWANNA STEEL CO. GETS C. H. M'CULLOUGH

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Announcement was made tonight of the resignation of C. H. McCullough, second vice president of the Illinois Steel Company, a branch of the United States Steel Corporation. Mr. McCullough will go to the Lackawanna Steel Company of New York.

KISSED GROUND HE HAD DEFENDED

Gen. Stoessel's Last Act at Port Arthur, According to Russian Refugees.

TWO THOUSAND IN CHEFOO

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHEFOO, Jan. 23.—Thirteen junks, containing 500 men, women and children, after a passage of 60 hours from Port Arthur, arrived here today. The passengers were immediately sent on board the British ship Muenchen which has been chartered by the Russian government to take them home.

Among the arrivals today was the Russian civil administrator, M. Wereschtchine, who was permitted by the Japanese to leave so he might take charge of the refugees. There are over 2,000 refugees now here. Owing to the lack of houses for their accommodation they will be transferred directly to three Russian transports which are waiting to take them to Odessa. One of the passengers arriving on the junks today brought a copy of Gen. Stoessel's final proclamation to the garrison, dated January 7.

"It is apparent," the proclamation says, "further resistance would be merely daily murder. It is the duty of every commander to avoid useless sacrifice of lives. It is not hard to die for one's country, but I must be brave enough to surrender."

In concluding, Gen. Stoessel said the fortress had done its work. There was no longer a fleet to be protected. A vast Japanese army had been crushed, it was pointed out, and kept from joining the armies in Manchuria, against Gen. Kuropatkin. Gen. Stoessel thanked officers, soldiers and civilians for their devotion and then announced his surrender, "with full consciousness of the sacred duty I perform."

Gen. Stoessel's last act before leaving Port Arthur was to kneel and say a short prayer, and then to kiss the ground he had held for so long and so valiantly defended.

RESISTANCE EXPECTED IN SANTO DOMINGO

Uncle Sam to Take Charge of Ports Held by Rebels. Claims Swollen.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The state department is working out the details of the agreement touching the administration of the finances of Santo Domingo and some of these will be made operative within a month. A commission will be named at an early day to take up the broad subject of reform of the Dominican finances, which are said to be in the utmost confusion. The commission will ascertain the exact amount of the foreign obligations now outstanding against Santo Domingo and readjust these on an equitable basis. Many of the claims preferred against Dominica are known to have been swollen by the claimants.

It is expected that opposition will be encountered in this work, but the state department has had assurances of some of the principal creditor nations of Dominica that they would much prefer to have their claims adjusted by the United States than submit them to the decision of some Dominican tribunal. The entire debt of Santo Domingo, both foreign and domestic, is placed at about $30,000,000.

Some of the ports of the republic at present are practically in possession of revolutionary elements hostile to President Morales. It will be necessary for the United States to place customs officers at these ports and to overcome any resistance that may be offered locally, so to that extent the administration of President Morales is likely to receive moral support.

Italy Honors Whitelaw Reid.

ROME, Jan. 23.—King Victor Emmanuel today signed a decree conferring the grand cordon of the crown of Italy on Whitelaw Reid of New York.

SENATOR KNOX HONOR GUEST

Around Pittsburgh Statesman Crucible Club Dinner Centered.

A SENATE CHAMBER

Big Banquet Hall at Schenley Was Converted into the Upper House.

MANY FEATURES PRODUCED

United States Senator Philander Chase Knox of Pittsburgh was the central figure in the fourth dinner of the Crucible club held last evening at the Hotel Schenley. Around him and his election revolved many of the principal "stunts" for which the organization has won fame for its dinners in the short period of its existence. The tribute given "by Pittsburghers to a Pittsburgher" brought his thanks.

Senator Knox did not, however, monopolize the attention of the gathering. Gov. Pennypacker, by proxy, cut a large figure in the celebration; there were hero-medal awards and trials of prominent citizens for various offenses, the singing of original songs and the impromptu debate and speeches aroused by the occasion.

The reception preceding the dinner opened shortly after 7 o'clock, and the 75 members, with an equal number of guests, passed down the receiving line in the parlors of the hotel and then proceeded to the banquet hall. In the line were A. P. Moore, Robert Pitcairn, Senator Knox, P. C. Boyle, Mayor Hays, Judge Francis J. O'Connor of Johnstown, Edward Murphy of Johnstown, Harry K. Calvert, George Brennen of Philadelphia, T. Edwin Murphy of Johnstown, Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, Director Emil Paur, George T. Oliver, W. B. Rodgers and O. S. Hershman.

Special Session of the Senate Held.

As the banquet room was entered there was seen above the doorway the sign, "SENATE CHAMBER," and this sign gave the first token of the character that the dinner was to assume. The big hall was arranged to carry out the idea. In the center of the west side was arranged the desk of the president of the senate. The tables were arranged in semi-circles, so that every person present faced the presiding officer. The music changed to "Hail, the Conquering Hero Comes," as Senator Knox, escorted by Robert Pitcairn, entered the room.

Judge W. D. Porter of the superior court, president of the club, assumed his duties as president of the senate, after explaining that since one Pittsburgher had been elected to the United States senate, other Pittsburghers supposed they could break in. Calling the senate to order, he assumed his seat, and the first course of the dinner was served.

As the dinner was served a quartet sang James Francis Burke's song, "Back to Boyland," of which the refrain follows:

Underneath the rushlamps, underneath the trees,
Heard by every cabdriver, Hugh or every breeze:
Wishing time would hasten the day we'd all be men,
Oh, blissful days of boyland, bring them back again.

More courses were served, followed by Arthur G. Burgoyne's song, "Treadle," having as its topic the election of a United States senator.

Indians Put In an Appearance.

Hardly had another course been served when the hall was suddenly invaded by motley gang, bearing banners and escorted by musicians of many kinds. The procession wound twice around the hall, with the banners held high, bearing the inscriptions, "Col. Logan's Bloody Fifth," "Col. Finney's Tribe," "Col. Lindsay's Veterans," "Col. Moody's Braves," "American Club." Meanwhile Harry Allyan Hall, wearing a Rough Rider's uniform and campaign hat, and equipped with four revolvers, mounted one side of the president's rostrum while another gentleman, tall, brown-bearded and gaunt, with a pair of ice tongs grasping a cake of ice, stood on the other side—Roosevelt and Fairbanks. With wild flourishes the pseudo Teddy blazed away in the air with blank cartridges, while the procession marched about. "Teddy" being called on for a speech said he was "delighted; re-lighted."

Another course of viands brought another surprise to the banqueters. From the ceiling was lowered a great loving cup. Flames were burning brightly from the top. It was carried up and down the long rows of tables and every person present arose and took his quaff, as Mr. Burke gave him a name and a character. Among those may be mentioned the following:

S. A. Ammon—Leading Daughter of the American Revolution.

Henry Buhl, Jr.—Never been in Ireland, but knows more about Boggs, than if he had.

Hon. William Flinn—Editor of the Pittsburgh Leader and founder of the Citizens party.

Robert Pitcairn—Chairman of the Pennsylvania railroad. Always anxious to give you a pass, but sometimes runs out of blanks, you know.

P. J. Torrance—Manufactures bathtubs and sometimes uses them.

Murry A. Verner—Went to Russia a month ago and organized a Citizens party; then left the czar to its mercies.

P. C. Knox—The advising genius in the boldest, bravest and broadest-gauge administration in American history since the time of Lincoln.

The Governor Wore His Boots.

Another course brought the announcement that Gov. Pennypacker had arrived from Harrisburg and on motion ex-Lieut. Gov. Walter Lyon and Robert Pitcairn were appointed a committee to escort him to the hall. He appeared in due time, boots and all, and then it was recognized that the governor was a host. D. L. Gillespie in disguise being his secretary. The gov-error was taken to the president's rostrum and spoke on "The Press," as follows:

Gentlemen of the Crucible club: My absence from Harrisburg tonight is attended by grave perils to the people. The legislature is there and during my absence everything is at its mercy, but when I am there everything is at my mercy, including the legislature.

Nothing could have induced me to leave Harrisburg tonight but my deep desire to respond to the toast so near to my heart, "The Press."

In Herbert Spencer's principles of psychology we read this statement: "There has been established such an intimate association between truth and print that much of the reverence given to the one gathers round the other." That must have been written before we had newspapers; at least before John Wanamaker got into the business. As you all know, I dislike ancient history, but justice to my topic compels the observation that 325,000 years ago a Hindoo philosopher named Dr. Holland wrote a thesis on journalism, and nailed it to the side door of the Carnegie library, located seven miles back of Port Arthur at a place called Corks run. The next day Horace Greeley, having obtained a dispensation from the czar through Murry Vernet, started a newspaper in the interest of good government in lower Allegheny, the home of Frank Torrance and "Shifty Sady."

From that hour to this the evil has grown until today there are no less than seven newspapers published in the city of Pittsburgh in the very eyes of the police. For many years the evil was confined to Fifth avenue, but they are no longer restricted, like other evils, to any one district, and their shameless bulletins can be seen on a number of the most prominent thoroughfares today. Similar conditions exist in other cities.

What a strange people you are. You hang some men for murder and honor others for publishing newspapers.

I don't believe in looking backward, nor yet do I believe in traveling forward so rapidly that I get in front of the procession and expose my seat of judgment to mine enemy, but I once tried to keep pace with an afternoon newspaper whose noon edition I found on my breakfast table every morning. It's 3 o'clock edition greeted me as I went to lunch at 12 and at 4 o'clock a bright boy sold me a 6 o'clock "night edition," upon the front page of which appeared a scare head, entitled "Justice Triumphs; Three Men Sent to Jail for Discounting the Future."

The future prospects of these rapid-transit editors who publish tomorrow's editions yesterday remind me very much of an anxious passenger who kept shouting to the engineer of a train which was behind time and running at about 70 miles an hour to make up: "Do you think you will land me in Buffalo on time?" To which the engineer replied as he shot through a tunnel: "I'll land you in Buffalo on time or in hell ahead of time."

If these editors ever reach that destination I don't believe there will be any complaint that they arrived ahead of time. I would gladly sign a bill providing them with free transportation at the expense of the state, but no return tickets.

Don't imagine for a moment that I am opposed to printing presses. I believe in them. I believe the editors, reporters and cartoonists should be run through them regularly.

Six hundred thousand years ago a Hebrew sage named Francis Murphy, seeing a red whiskered man take a drink, remarked unto him, "Old man, it's time to quit." And here am now my discourse ends, lest I too be shocked by some rude editor arising to remark, "Old man, it's time to quit."

I thank you for the dishonor you have conferred upon me and assure you that I hope soon to have the pleasure of signing the death warrants of all of you.

Time to Take to the Woods.

The question was brought up, in view of the governor's threats, as to the best way to get out of town and President Ramsey of the Wabash, General Manager Potter and General Superintendent Finney of the Baltimore & Ohio, and Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, made attempts to be heard, but were drown out by a chorus of cries of "louder."

At this juncture Dr. W. J. Holland presented the credentials of Senator Knox, tied up in a brown wrapping paper in a bundle two feet long and a foot wide.

The lights went out and from one corner of a room glowed a great star, while from behind the screen of palms came a woman's voice singing Mr. Burke's song, "His Lucky Star."

'Mid all the stars
From Earth to Mars,
I'm one that ne'er looks yellow;
O'er land and sea
I'll shine for thee,
Oh Phil—you lucky fellow!
To heights sublime
I've seen you climb,
Your movements always clever;
Keep up your spirits,
I'll be your guide,
And cheer you on forever!

There's Fuller's seat
You'd fill complete,
With honor to your station,
Or should you choose
Our Teddy's shoes,
'Tis well you'd serve the nation;
Should foeman say
Your march must stay,
Reply to them: "No, never."
For I'll be here
Your path to cheer,
And guide you on forever!

Credentials from Pennypacker.

It was twice encored, and as the lights returned the following credentials from Gov. Pennypacker were read:

To all to whom these presents shall come: I, Samuel W. Pennypacker, governor of Pennsylvania, in spite of newspapers, do solemnly by myself enact and proclaim that the seat now vacant in the United States senate shall be henceforth and forever held down and kept warm by P. C. Knox, the hero of Valley Forge as long as he shall behave himself. To send him to the United States senate is a difficult task, but at least 10 men have done it in the past 100 years. He can do at least as well as I have done since I have been governor, according to all published accounts. If he cannot, he ought to be shot. Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and hoping you will write soon, I add the great seal of the commonwealth and the sacred name of Pennypacker.

President Porter qualified the new senator with the following oath:

You do solemnly, sincerely and truly imagine that you have nothing to do with the wording of your commission, that you will not disgrace this body by behaving yourself during your term of office; that you will draw your salary regularly and vote for an increase at every opportunity; that you will keep your head shut for at least 15 years, and stand by Penrose in case of a fight between him and the Constitution.

The toast to Senator Knox, "Pittsburghers to a Pittsburgher," was given, all standing and Mr. Knox spoke briefly saying that he was moved by the compliment conveyed, and declaring that the Pittsburgh senate compared very favorably with the one at Washington. "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" the party sang as the senator resumed his seat.

Several Libel Suits Heard.

A number of suits for libel were then tried, the prosecution being represented by Mr. Burke and the defense by John Marron. A great noise was heard in the hall and it was explained that the joint debate between John Dalzell and Bourke Cockran was on. On motion it was continued five minutes longer, while tin pans, tom-toms, bass dums and cat-calls floated in thickly from the entry. The debate came to an end with the appearance of the sergeant-at-arms of the house asking the senate's concurrence in a joint resolution awarding the belt to John Dalzell.

The suits tried were mainly alleged libel cases in which the Pittsburgh newspapers figured. A head, "Dr. Holland's Bughouse," was the ground for one, the contention being that the apostrophe indicated the verb "is," instead of the possessive case. Robert Pitcairn was charged with singing at church, "I Love to See the Wabash Far Away." He was defended on the ground, first, that he could not sing; second, that he does not go to church, and thirdly, that when he goes to church and sings, it is always on songs allowed by Cassatt. Efforts of the prosecution to make Mr. Pitcairn sing were unavailing.

The hero medal awards were made by a committee consisting originally of four—all in Highland costume. They were Francis J. Torrance, Harry Alvan Hall, James F. Burke and Robert Pitcairn, but Mr. Pitcairn deserted. The awards in part were as follows:

Medals for the Heroes.

To William Flinn—For not building a spite fence between his place and Highland park.

To George T. Oliver—For staying out nights to watch the Old Lady Grow Young.

To Robert Pitcairn—For regulating the clock at the Union station at night.

To Henry Clay Frick—For getting us a washbasin at East Liberty station.

To C. A. Rook—For letting it be known that he's connected with the Dispatch.

To Mr. Burke—For not taking John Dalzell's place on the ways and means committee.

To Andrew Carnegie—For his Oberlin gifts.

To Tom Lawson—For boosting the price of copper.

To Cassie Chadwick—For leaving the bank furniture.

To George Brennen—For founding the Fellowship club of Philadelphia, the only real rival of the Crucible club. Mr. Brennen made a speech acknowledging the medal.

To Judge Buffington—For wearing red neckties on the bench. In response to calls Judge Buffington named the Crucible club "The Safety Valve of Strenuous Pittsburgh."

To J. Dawson Callery—For running fast horses and slow street cars.

To Dr. John A. Brashear—For being what he is, "the first citizen of Pittsburgh."

To G. L. Potter—For coming to Pittsburgh over his own railroad.

The dinner came to an end with the singing of "Home, Sweet Home," and shortly before midnight the party scattered.

The members of the committee in charge were Mr. Burke, Judge Joseph Buffington, Charles A. Rook, Arthur G. Burgoyne and Francis J. Torrance.

Following is the list of the officers, members and guests:

READ CAREFULLY THE CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST.

The conditions governing the contest follow: No answer which does not exactly conform to them will be considered.

All answers must be upon GAZETTE blanks, which will be printed with each Proverb Picture. Only one answer will be allowed on each blank.

ANSWERS MUST NOT BE SENT IN UNTIL THE CLOSE OF THE CONTEST. But all answers must be in The Gazette office within two weeks after the last Proverb Picture is printed.

The blank forms will be numbered and answers must be neatly arranged in numerical order by the contestants. At the close of the contest answers should be sent by mail postpaid, addressed to Manager Proverb Contest, THE GAZETTE, PITTSBURGH, PA., or they may be left in sealed envelopes at our Business Office, Wood Street and Oliver Avenue addressed as above.

Do not send the pictures. SEND ONLY THE ANSWER BLANK. The blanks may be filled out in any legible way.

Contestants may send in as many sets of answers as they please, but each set must be in a different envelope. Each set will be treated separately, BUT NO CONTESTANT WILL BE AWARDED MORE THAN ONE PRIZE. Contestants may send in duplicate answers to the same Proverb Picture, but they must be on separate blanks; that is, they may fill out two or more No. 1s or 2s, etc. These duplicates must be kept together in making up the sets of answers.

Reasonable neatness will be taken into consideration in awarding the prizes.

Contestants may secure assistance from any source. Everybody is eligible except employes of The Pittsburgh Gazette.

The management of the Proverb Contest distinctly reserves the right to make any change in or addition to these conditions that he may deem necessary for properly conducting the contest.

The proverbs selected for this contest are those in common use and will not be hard to solve, but be careful to get the correct wording and punctuation, and see that each word is spelled correctly. You will find this contest an education for old and young. Enter at once.

SOLDIERS KILL WORKMEN

less than a minute five squadrons of cavalry emerged from neighboring streets at a gallop, charging to the point of alarm. But the few obstreperous half-drunken strikers had already been overpowered, placed in sleighs and taken to jail.

The absence of any definite objective led the strikers to drift toward the Nevsky Prospect. As the afternoon wore on the crowds became dense, and the authorities, possibly fearing that the cars might be converted into material for barricades, stopped street railway traffic and reinforced the already considerable number of cavalry patrols.

Towards 5 o'clock the blaze of camp fires in the palace square, with the dark forms of troopers sitting around them, could be seen by those passing along Nevsky Prospect. The Nevsky Prospect itself was ablaze with light.

Strikers Promenade Sidewalks.

Strikers and curiosity seekers promenaded the two miles of sidewalk between the Admiralty and Nicholas station and squadrons of Hussars and cuirassiers rode up and down in endless procession. The crowds seemed peaceful enough, the watchword evidently being, "Don't abuse the troops." The only shouts heard were a few isolated hurrahs.

Suddenly the electric lights in the upper section between the bazar called Gostinny Dvor and the Nicholas station were extinguished, and the thoroughfare was plunged without warning into utter darkness, which was not relieved by lights in shop windows, as all were closed. The scene was weird and fearful.

A deathly silence prevailed, heightened by the rustle of hundreds of feet on the snow covered sidewalks, the muffled tread of squadrons and the hammering of shopkeepers, taking precautions against possible attack by boarding up the windows of their stores with rough lumber. The curious hastily scurried into adjoining streets, finding their way home as best they could through the inky darkness.

Few Strikers Remained.

Only a fringe of sullen strikers and rough characters remained, the police warning all to get home as soon as possible. The only bright spot was a blaze of light from the court yard of the Anritchkoff palace, whence the empress dowager yesterday fled to Tsarskoe Selo. Beyond stood the dark, grim palace of Grand Duke Sergius. The crowd was particularly dense around the approaches to the Nicholas station. Here, in the darkness, marauders attacked a few newsvenders' stalls, but a grim row of infantry around the station buildings effectually discouraged violence. Other disturbers broke numerous windows in the Gostinny Dvor and the Kiosk at the corner of the Anritchkoff palace garden. A bench torn up from the adjoining park was placed in the roadway in the hope that it might trip up cavalry. Some policemen were roughly handled and disarmed in side streets, but there was no firing.

Troopers cleared the sidewalks of loiterers by using the flats of their sabers, causing a general stampede. This continued until 9 o'clock at night, when the lights were again turned on and revealed the Nevsky Prospect almost deserted.

It was learned afterward that the turning off of the lights was due to the workmen in two electric light plants walking out, refusing tripple pay to remain, thus plunging half the city into utter darkness. The water supply also was cut off and a veritable panic ensued. Finally soldiers from the engineer corps, with the aid of German engineers from factories, started up the plants and the lights came on again.

At midnight, when life in the Russian capital is usually bright, St. Petersburg resembled a city of the dead invaded by a hostile army. The facades of the buildings were black and every restaurant and place of amusement was closed. The only sound heard was the deadened patter of the hoofs of the cavalry horses and the tramp of marching men over the snow as the Emperor's legions moved to and fro.

The guards at the palaces of the grand dukes are especialy heavy, and over 20,000 troops are massed at the Tsarskoe Selo.

The estimates of the number of dead and wounded yesterday continue to vary greatly, as at least a majority of the killed and wounded were carried off by their comrades. Few of those taken to the hospitals have been reported.

500 Dead Liberal Estimate.

From careful investigation it appears that the estimate of 500 as the lowest number cabled last night seems liberal. There were 47 killed and 84 wounded at the Putiloff works, where the greatest casualties occurred, about 60 in the Alexander gardens, 15 in the Moika district, 45 in the Wassili Ostrov district and the remainder at various other points.

Among the authenticated horrors of yesterday is the case of an aged general whose sledge was stopped by the infuriated people as he was driving in the direction of the troops.

"Are you going to order them to fire on us?" yelled the crowd.

The general ordered his coachman to drive on, when he was instantly struck on the head by a well-dressed individual wearing a sable fur coat. The general was then thrown out of the sledge, beaten and trampled to death.

The situation was reflected on the bourse today in a semi-panic in industrial shares. The government energetically supported Imperial 4s and prevented a slump.

The police have closed all the gunsmith shops and firearms and other weapons have been removed from the windows and locked up in the cellars.

Interior Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky this morning telegraphed orders to close the headquarters of the workmen's union. This was done by the workmen themselves without police interference.

The fourth civil department of the court of justice has suspended its sittings, owing to the lawyers refusing to practice.

M. ROUVIER HAS FORMED NEW FRENCH CABINET

Delcasse is Retained as Minister of Foreign Affairs—Vatican Receives the News Coldly.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PARIS, Jan. 23.—President Loubet today received M. Rouvier, who announced his acceptance of the mission for the formation of a new cabinet. The following is the list of the ministers as finally arranged:

President of the council and minister of finance, M. Rouvier; minister of justice, M. Chaumie; minister of foreign affairs, M. Delcasse; minister of the interior, M. Etienne; minister of war, M. Berteaux; minister of marine, M. Thomson; minister of colonies, M. Clementel; minister of public works, Armant Gauthier; minister of public instruction, M. Bienvenu Martin; minister of commerce, M. Dubief; minister of agriculture, M. Ruau; under secretaries—Fine arts, Dujardin Beaumetz; finance, M. Merlou; posts and telegraphs, M. Berard.

ROME, Jan. 23.—The announcement of the composition of the new French cabinet was received coldly at the vatican, where the belief prevails that although the ministers will be more moderate they will continue the late Premier Combes' program.

MITCHELL IS RE-ELECTED THE MINERS' PRESIDENT

Before Adjournment, He Urges Brethren to Go Into Co-Operative Store Movement Carefully.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 23.—The national tellers of the United Mine Workers reported to the convention this afternoon that John Mitchell and been re-elected president by 70,398 votes. T. L. Lewis, vice president, and W. L. Wilson, secretary-treasurer, were also re-elected.

Delegates elected to the American Federation of Labor convention are: John Mitchell, T. L. Lewis, W. L. Wilson, W. D. Evans, Patrick Dolan, John Fahy and John Demase.

Just before adjournment, President Mitchell referred to the co-operative store movement which will be a development of the miners' organization during the coming year. He advised them to go into the venture carefully and with precaution.

Troops Protect Non-Unionists.

LA PALLICE, FRANCE, Jan. 23.—A force of infantry is protecting non-union dock laborers in the unloading of the cargo of phosphates brought here last week on the British steamer Rockabill from Tampa, Fla. The union laborers refused to unload the ship because the consignees had been employing non-union teamsters for transferring freight.

BOMBS THROWN BY WORKINGMEN

Revolution Reigns in Russian Capital—Soldiers Are Killed With Dynamite.

PEOPLE FLEE OR BARRICADE

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Telegraphing from St. Petersburg at 11 o'clock tonight the Daily Chronicle correspondent says:

"The revolution has begun in earnest. As I write the capital literally is 'the city of dreadful tonight.' All lights have been extinguished and the streets are in complete darkness. The tramp and clatter of soldiers, armed to the teeth, who patrol the streets, mingle with the sound of occasional shots and the detonation of deeper and more sinister explosions, for the revolution challenged with massacre has replied with dynamite. Everywhere in the suburbs where there are soldiers or public buildings, bombs are being thrown. A state of siege prevails and orders have been issued that people who leave their houses do so at the risk of being shot.

"Many frightened inhabitants are fleeing from the city or barricading themselves in their homes. Others are marooned in hotels; but the strikers—revolutionists they may now be called—are gathering in the streets, and the wildest rumors are circulated. Armed men are reported to be marching to their aid from various quarters.

"Twelve thousand strikers from the Capiloff works, 16 miles away, are stated to have beaten back a detachment of troops told off to deal with them, and to be advancing on St. Petersburg. A bomb has been thrown among a regiment of Cossacks near the Winter Palace and the revolutionists are hourly growing bolder. There seems every prospect of a great revolution, and this unhappy city is threatened with a reign of terror that may equal that of the French revolution. The dowager empress, that relentless opponent of reform, who might parallel Louis XVI., has fled. The dynasty's one hope is the troops who are still stanch.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 23.—At 7:30 tonight at the corner of Sadovia and Voznecensky streets, where a great crowd had gathered, a bomb was thrown into a group of soldiers, instantly killing several.

RUSSIA WILL FALL INTO HANDS OF REFORM PARTY

Body of Men Constitute Themselves the Future Provisional Government.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent reports that as the outcome of the meetings of the reform party of Gorki, Aunesky, Arsenieff and others and their adherents Saturday night and Sunday, a body of men has been constituted who regard themselves as the future provisional government of Russia. As yet, the correspondent says, they are political ciphers, but they hope some sudden stroke of luck will enable them to overturn the existing regime and at the same time they recognize the fact that non-success may lead them to Siberia or the tomb.

The correspondent adds: "I am not permitted to reveal their identity. They are not adventurers, but men of standing, whose names are widely known and deeply respected here and abroad. They have requested me to state that their financial policy would be to respect all Russian loans and obligations entered into before January 22, but to repudiate any foreign loans contracted in the future. They have decided, in conjunction with the strike leaders, to appeal to English-speaking peoples throughout the world for financial assistance to enable them to continue the struggle for freedom."

The editors of four newspapers, the Russ, the Viedomosti, the Novosti and the Grashdanin, declare their intention as soon as the printers return to work and they are able to resume publication, openly to defy the censorship in the matter of strike news and Sunday's affairs. They drew up a letter to the censor today saying they felt the gravity of the situation demanded that they print the facts without minimizing or glossing them over. The Novoe Vremya and other papers, however, refused to join and the letter was not sent; but the editors of the four papers named agreed to adopt the course indicated.

URGE REPUBLICANS TO RALLY TO NEIDRINGHAUS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 23.—A resolution was adopted this afternoon by the Republican state central committee calling on all Republican members of the assembly to support Thomas K. Niedringhaus, the caucus nominee for United States senator. One ballot in joint session of the legislature showed the deadlock unbroken and an adjournment was taken until tomorrow.

STEEL CORPORATION IS NOT AFTER MIDVALE

WESTINGHOUSE WORKERS AID RUSSIAN STRIKERS

Money to Be Sent to St. Petersburg by Special Messenger—Meetings Are Held.

Russian workmen of East Pittsburgh, Wilmerding and Pitcairn, who are employed at the Westinghouse plants, are preparing to send their fellow workmen and countrymen in St. Petersburg financial aid. Several largely attended meetings of Russian workmen of the Westinghouse works were held last night in East Pittsburgh at which pronounced sympathy was expressed for the strikers who are feeling the iron heel of oppression in their fatherland.

At all these meetings it was voted to contribute liberally to the cause of the St. Petersburg strikers and in order to make certain that their contributions reach the proper destination it was agreed that the money, which is expected to net a handsome sum, will be sent to Russia in care of a special messenger from their own number. Subscriptions will be taken among the Russians in Pittsburgh and adjacent towns within the next few days. The messenger is also expected to arrange an avenue of communication by which other contributions may be sent to aid their countrymen.

CHINA MAKES A BOLD REPLY TO RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—The Pekin government has handed to the American charge, Mr. Conger, a long answer to the Russian charges that China is sanctioning violations of neutrality. These charges are sweepingly, vigorously and specifically denied and the answer is said to be far more courageous than most Chinese state papers.

RUSSIANS HOPE FOR A REPUBLIC

This Is Dream of Younger Generation According to Letter from St. Petersburg.

ROYAL SCION WAS HISSED

Letters from residents of the turbulent city of St. Petersburg indicate that Sunday's riot was dreaded by the populace and that all classes of the people have reached the limit of their patience. Merchants, students and the professional classes, as well as the workingmen, are crying for vengeance on the head of the bureaucracy. Frederic H. Parke of Edgewood, who spent several years in St. Petersburg managing Westinghouse interests in Russia, has received letters which, in their general tone, bespeak a revolution in the czar's domain.

Mrs. Parke corresponds with a young American woman who is living in St. Petersburg, and a letter from her, written early this month, opens with the ominous epigram, "Every day we see history written before our eyes."

The letter states that the students and younger people hope to see a republic established, but this dream of freedom seemed not to be realized. The revolutionists seem to have no definite plans as to the course they will pursue in case the monarchy should be overthrown, and conditions would have to be adjusted in the tranquility that would follow when the combatants would relinquish turmoil and bloodshed. It was hoped that the czar would receive the representations of the people, and the intelligent public looked for some of these demands to be granted. No person had the courage to predict the terrible consequences of refusal. The royal order for the slaughter of the people had never been suspected.

The letter related an incident which clearly shows the feelings of an outraged people. One night, as the Grand Duke Alexis the czar's uncle, was entering his box at the opera, the entire audience stood up and hissed him. From all parts of the house came the question in a frenzied chorus, "Where are our millions?"

The people who greeted the noble scion thus represented the best people of the empire, its most intelligent and influential citizens. They referred to the vast fortune which had been appropriated for the Russian navy and which had been squandered by the nobles. There was trouble in preventing riot and the assistance of the police was called to aid Alexis in escaping from the building.

The censorship of the press in St. Petersburg was relaxed early in January, and when the newspapers printed the accounts of the discontent of the working classes and the threatened revolt in all parts of the empire "peace-loving men held their breath."

Mr. Parke left Russia about 18 months ago. "At that time," he said, "the nobles seemed to have everlastingly alienated the confidence of the people."

RUSSIAN MALCONTENTS ARE UNBIDDEN ALLIES

Japan's Consul at New York Thus Characterizes Them in Discussing Slav Uprising.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—S. Uchida, the Japanese consul general in this city, made the following statement today regarding the Russian disturbance:

"Before I can make any definite estimate as to what effect the present disturbance in Russia will have on the war in the far east, I will have to await developments for two or three days. If the Russian imperial government succeeds in overpowering and putting down the insurrection in a few days, it will have no effect at all. On the other hand, if the disturbance is continued, and the workingmen of Russia desert the shipyards, arsenals, powder factories and all industries that furnish the sinews of war, then it will prove a great factor. Russia is in no condition to fight two wars at once. She is not strong enough to fight Japan in Manchuria and put down a revolution within her own borders.

"Japan seems to be wanting for no lack of allies. We have been offered aid by the United States, Great Britain and other countries unasked, to bring about peace negotiations, but here in Russia we suddenly find that we also have allies, and who have come forward without compensation."

PRIESTS JOIN THE PEOPLE.

Pope Hears They Are Especially Active in Poland—He Prays for Peace.

ROME, Jan. 23.—Reports received at the Vatican from Russia say that, notwithstanding the efforts of their bishops, the Catholics are excited and it is impossible to keep them from participating in popular movements, especially in Poland, where even part of the lower clergy have joined the people. The pope expressed the hope that the internal situation in Russia was not so black as depicted. He received the Russian minister to the vatican, his wife and daughter today. To the minister he said:

"I am ardently praying for the pacification of Russia."

Had His Partner Arrested.

U. S. G. Neel of Midway was committed to jail last night by Alderman Anderson on a charge of embezzlement made by A. D. Work. Neel and the prosecutor were partners engaged in teaming in the oil fields about McDonald, and Work alleges Neel secured about $2,500 of the firm's money and converted it to his own use.

THE BOOK AUCTION.

Busy Book Publishers Disposing of Their Stock at Auction.

The book sale now going on at 435 Smithfield street is arousing the book lovers in Pittsburgh. At no time before has it been possible to purchase the master works of standard authors at prices so ridiculously low. The opening of the book auction rooms by the large book publishing interests of the country has made it possible for the reading public to become acquainted with the minds of the foremost men of letters of this and ages past.

A representative of this paper attended the book sale the other afternoon and found the house crowded to its utmost capacity. Books of the most popular kind were being knocked down at almost nothing and eagerly taken up by the people attending. "How can they do it?" and "How is it possible to sell them at such prices?" being questions that were asked on all sides. These interrogations were answered only by the more spirited selling of books. The auction seemed to be in full swing and the auctioneer held the audience's attention firmly. Webster's New Unabridged Dictionary, which sells ordinarily at $12.50, was disposed of at the price of only $3.50. Charles Dickens' works, 18 volumes, in morocco binding, listed at $32, was sold as low as $10.00. A new atlas of the world, value $8.00, was sold as low as $1.50. Good books at such figures are sufficient to draw large attendance.

THINKS THAT NEWS MAY BE DOCTORED

Murry A. Verner Says Russian Riot Reports Are Likely to Be Colored by English.

HOW LOCAL PRIESTS FEEL

Russia's revolution, although attracting the greatest interest among Russians, Poles, Fins and Jews living in this vicinity, has created little surprise. Some such action has long been anticipated and varied opinions as to causes, conditions and ultimate results can easily be secured. Among the Russian residents of the city the very general opinion is held that Americans do not thoroughly appreciate conditions in Russia, basing their ideas too largely upon reports received through the press. Murry A. Verner, the local politician and traction magnate, who has business interests in Russia, is one of the supporters of this latter opinion. "One should remember," says Mr. Verner, "that most of the news we receive anent doings in St. Petersburg, comes from English sources and that the antagonistic attitude of England toward all things Russian may have a tendency to bias these reports.

"Of course there is no doubt," continued Mr. Verner, "that a riot is in progress in St. Petersburg, but just how serious it is is impossible for us here to say. The Russians are naturally a quiet people. They are not nearly so excitable as the French. They are a great people to congregate, and on Sundays thousands come out and promenade along the banks of the Neva. The secret of the trouble over there is that the people want a free press. Newspapers in Russia are closely censored, you know. But the people have more freedom than is generally supposed. I do not think that this uprising will result as seriously as most people think. The administration will gain control of things. There are 100,000 soldiers in St. Petersburg alone."

Has Two Sons in St. Petersburg.

Among the Russians in the city few are better qualified to speak from an intelligent point of view than the Rev. John Nedzelnitsky, pastor of the Archangel Michael's Greek-Russian Orthodox church, Vine and Reed streets. He is inclined to take an optimistic view of things and says eventually the country will have a constitution modeled along English lines. He came to America from Russia about 10 years ago, but has kept in close touch with the political and social conditions of his country. He has two sons who are students in a college at St. Petersburg, and was naturally perturbed when told of the slaughter in that city's streets. In his opinion the country is not ready for a revolution.

"The czar is ready to make concessions," said Father Nedzelnitsky. "Our code of laws is modeled after those of England and our journalists urge reforms along English methods. Russia is largely made up of small farmers who are deeply religious and loyal to the emperor. Only a small minority of the population lives in the towns. I believe that at the present time those who are making disturbances are under the influence of the anarchists. Americans understand little of the degree of liberty existing in Russia. Tolstoy is a free writer; sometimes a keen critic of the government. Yet he has as much liberty in Russia as he would have in England or in America."

Time Ripe for Revolution.

The Rev. John Sutkaitis of St. Casimir's Lituhanian Catholic church, Sarah and South Twenty-second streets, does not think the uprising will extend to the entire empire. He says while the riots have been brought about by industrial troubles that politics are bound to play a part.

"I do not believe," said he, "this movement can be traced to the anarchists. The Jews could not have had a decided part in it, for Jews are not permitted to live in St. Petersburg. As to whether or not the revolution will extend to other parts of the country I cannot say, but the time for a revolution seems ripe."

The Rev. Father Koshevitch of the Russian Orthodox church in Kerr street, Allegheny, thinks early reports have been greatly exaggerated. The Rabbi M. S. Sivitz of several Jewish synagogues in the city is thankful that "a light has at last dawned on darkest Russia," and hopes "its rays will grow stronger and wider" until the oppression of the Jews shall cease. Rabbi Aaron M. Ashinsky said:

"The Jews of Russia are taking no part in the present uprising and I am confident they will continue to preserve a neutral attitude. It is a struggle between Muscovites, those of noble birth and power being pitted against the working classes. The movement is headed by a priest of the national church, and the whole trouble is of intense national character. The Jews will wait and hope and pray for the success of the movement, for it means much to them."

This Tuesday Is Our Third

Remnant Day

MRS. HAXWORTH-WALLACE'S lecture this afternoon in Restaurant—3 to 5—will be a sort of scrambled one—just what some women like. She will tell how to make correctly Cheese Puffs, German Coffee Cake and Peach Froth.

The daily life in this store has for its keynote "Better than yesterday." There is no looking backward except to improve upon the past. Our two former Remnant Days were phenomenal affairs, if you will permit us to use such a high sounding word, and we intend this third remnant day to overreach them. We have variety enough in both remnants and odds and ends of everything, and we have Remnant Day Prices down low enough to attain the point mentioned. It is quite desirable for an early attendance this morning because some of the lots that were quoted in our news of yesterday afternoon are not overly large. We also have for mention this morning quite a number of things that were crowded out of our announcement of yesterday.

Would You Learn How to Execute Hardanger Embroidery?

A Significant Notice to Women!

It is with the greatest of pleasure that we announce a series of lessons for the prosecution of this most delightful needlework, by Mrs. Clara E. Bye, of Philadelphia, who enjoys the distinction of having introduced this Norwegian pastime into this country.

The lectures will be given in the Restaurant, morning from 9 to 11 o'clock, afternoon from 2:30 to 5, and the charge per lesson will be 50c. This will include enough material for the beginner to practice upon.

Mrs. Bye also has with her a complete Instruction Book which she sells for $1.00. The purchase of this book will include a first lesson, together with material for executing the different stitches.

No embroidery of recent years has met with such instantaneous popularity as the kind known as Hardanger. It is essentially a Norwegian style, and takes its name from the county of Hardanger, Norway, where the women of that county first invented the idea.

$26.50 Axminster Rugs for $19.50.

The size is 12 feet by 9 feet.

In this instance Spring moving and the Spring renovating of the house can be anticipated. There are just 75 of these Axminster Rugs for sale. The effect is after the Persian Oriental Rugs, and the styles and association of colors are the very latest.

You will be surprised to learn that the price of $19.50 is less than the wholesale price today.

The Clearance of Metal Beds.

No choice today in Brass Beds—you helped us to clean house thoroughly yesterday. Perhaps two or three left, which you might see, but in the matter of Iron Beds, white enameled beds, either plain or trimmed with brass, we still have quite a few. Mostly one of a kind. These prices today:

Speaker Walton has issued instructions that all lobbyists are to be kept from the floor of the house during this session of the legislature. It will be easier to enforce the rule in the new capitol than it was in the old and it will be beneficial to have it strictly observed. The lobbyist is not even a necessary evil. If he insists upon attending the sessions he can disport himself outside the state building. Of course, this rule is not to the liking of those papers in the state which have been crying themselves black in the face about a program of corruption for this session in advance of any developments. It is, however, in line with the best popular sentiment of the state and will be widely welcomed.

Amicable settlement of the dispute between the Pennsylvania railroad management and certain of its employes by liberal concessions on both sides is gratifying. A strike on that great system at this time would have inflicted wholly undeserved hardship on the disinterested public. The most pleasing feature of the matter, however, is the evidence given that both parties have discussed it in a friendly spirit and been able to submerge personal feelings for the general good. There are few, if any, cases in which capital and labor cannot agree if their differences are approached with fairness on both sides. Trouble is usually due to inability to see more than one side of the question or arbitrary refusal to consider it if it is seen.

A reply to the "Frenzied Finance" of Thomas W. Lawson is appearing in Public Opinion. The writer charges the Boston man with having no higher motive than stock-jobbing for his own profit. He promises details in proof, though his first article is almost as elusive as some of Lawson's initial chapters. It is fair enough to give both sides of the story, though it may be doubted whether the public interest in the subject continues keen. Lambs who have been shorn in Wall street may have been morbidly concerned with some pictures of processes by which the shears are manipulated, but even they soon tire of being told how easily they were done for. If any good comes of all these publications it will be through the disgust of the small fry who may well exclaim, "A plague on both your houses."

Representative Sheatz of Philadelphia has prepared a bill to put in force the recent amendment to the state constitution permitting personal registration of voters. Mr. Sheatz is not in harmony with other members of the Philadelphia delegation, but this fact should not blind his colleagues or other members of the legislature to any merits the bill may possess. It is true the vote on the amendment was so light it does not amount to a popular demand for the proposed change. Yet the majority of the votes cast were in the affirmative, and since adoption of the amendment a public expectancy that it will be enforced has grown up. The measure offers certain opportunity to protect the purity of the ballot if good citizens take the care to use it to the full, and for that reason it should be adopted. If it is not made to serve its best purpose afterward the failure cannot then be charged to the legislature or to the party organization.

Last evening's dinner of the Crucible club was honored by the presence of distinguished guests, who took what was coming to them with the same good humor that characterized the members. The Crucible has gone into a class with the old Clover club of Philadelphia and the newer Gridiron at Washington for its originality of entertainment and fierce trying out of its guests. These occasions are beneficial since they restore for an evening complete democracy. None are exempt from the jibes of the crowd by reason of their exalted station in life between dinners and the fierce drubbings in jest may have the quality of discouraging the pride of achievement that may grow even in good men. At any rate, the dinners serve the purpose of relaxation and enjoyment, needed as relief from the high-pressure, work-a-day life.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the speech of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts anent the demand for regulation of railroad rates. Senator Lodge is widely accredited with being on most intimate terms with President Roosevelt. He has an enviable reputation as a thinker and writer in his own right. So when he declared in a public address that if the movement to regulate rates is successfully resisted, it will be followed by a demand for government ownership of the railroads and a socialistic issue, his words at once challenged attention. There is another and greater reason why this utterance has brought the public to attention, simply because other men have been thinking the same thing. Denial of a reasonable popular demand is always followed by an unreasoning demand for more drastic measures.

Mrs. Clara Harrison Stranahan, one of the founders of Barnard College for Women, who has just died in New York city, was known as "the most finely educated woman in America." Such a title was earned because she was a pioneer advocate of academic education for women, for no doubt the women's colleges are producing excellent scholars today. She was able to attend one of the first institutions in the country established for the higher education of women and was recognized as one of Mary Lyon's most distinguished pupils at Mt. Holyoke. There was prejudice against colleges for women in those days, but she persisted in her efforts to secure an education, which has continued a part of her life work. In that time she has seen a great change in public sentiment on the subject and a broadening of the opportunities for women. One evidence of the advance she made in literature and the arts was her publication of a text-book on French art, which has been accepted as a standard.

Russian Disturbances.

While the frightful scenes of Sunday were not repeated in St. Petersburg yesterday, the trouble is not over. The ruthless massacre effected by the imperial guards had its effect in terrorizing the populace, though the bitter resentment aroused was plainly manifested by the crowds which were not permitted to enter the heart of the city. There were a few encounters, in fact, though none so serious as those of the day before.

Meantime the strike, which was the basis of the demonstration at the capital, has spread to Moscow. The metal workers have gone out and have induced the printers to join them. Their strike was peaceful and in this fact the officials see some ground for the belief that the worst is past. They will not rest easy, however, until there has been time to note how the events of Sunday will be regarded in the provinces. All appear agreed that if the labor disturbance is to assume a wholly political character the impulse must come from the interior provinces.

Students of Russian affairs in this country and abroad are apparently much influenced by their personal prejudices, for diametrically opposing views are met. On the one side is the declaration that protest has become revolution and the Russian autocracy is doomed. On the other hand is the opinion that the deplorable events of Sunday were the outcome of casual circumstances and that the disturbance will end there. Between these extremes almost every shade of belief is represented. Where the doctors so disagree, the layman may be excused for preferring to await developments.

It is quite probable, at the least, that substantial reforms may be offered the Russian people when the acute phase of the outbreak has passed. There is a large element believing the czar made a serious mistake in not facing the crowd and personally accepting the petition of the strikers. This opinion prevails throughout England and is popular to a less degree in this country. Of course it is not the view of the Russian grand ducal party, but it is not improbable it may be accepted by the emperor to the extent of offering some reforms as atonement. In any event, there is a deep-rooted spirit of discontent in Russia, accentuated by the Manchurian war, and even the most optimistic will await the news of the next week with an interest little short of feverish.

New French Cabinet.

Rouvier has completed a new cabinet for the French government, which is presented under somewhat peculiar circumstances. Ordinarily a new cabinet is formed after the old has fallen under disfavor, but this one is organized because the former premier resigned after winning a vote of confidence. The ostensible purpose is to strengthen the government for a continuation of its policies instead of portending a reversal of them. Naturally the experiment will attract careful attention from the politicians of other nations.

M. Combes, the retiring premier, has proven himself one of the most forceful statesman in recent French history. Coming into power after the democratic triumph of President Loubet, he assumed that France was really becoming more republican. On that assumption he laid his lines boldly. He came into collision with the army clique and into conflict with the church, carrying his points against both. The support he received was no less a surprise to the French people than to foreign observers, for few had so keenly analyzed French public sentiment as M. Combes.

One of the strongest members of the Combes cabinet is transferred to that of M. Rouvier. That one is M. Delcasse, minister for foreign affairs. He is a skillful diplomatist and a man of character. He has been able to strengthen the bonds between France and Russia, while establishing cordial relations with Great Britain. In short, under his administration all of the foreign relations of France have improved, even to those with Germany. It has been a wise move to retain him in the new cabinet, which may have an exceedingly difficult road to travel if the internal affairs of Russia grow worse.

Chicago's Municipal Museum.

The Chicago municipal museum association has voted to give a temporary exhibit in the public library of that city, beginning February 13, and to plan immediately for a more permanent display to illustrate features of municipal life in this country and abroad. Sanitation, transportation, education, the parks, engineering, housing and public art will all receive attention, each exhibit being organized with the city as a unit. This is the first collection of the sort attempted independently in this country and much is expected to result by its example from an educational standpoint. The idea has frequently been considered and an attempt was made to present the elements of a model city at the fair in St. Louis, but this was only partially successful. When Miss Jane Addams of Hull house fame was in St. Louis, she was much impressed with the fragmentary displays there made to illustrate municipal advance, and she has been largely responsible for the development of the plan.

Cities in Germany, France and England were well represented at St. Louis, while of American cities New York, Boston, Buffalo, St. Paul, Cleveland, Harrisburg and St. Louis had prepared features of their civic life to be shown in the model city. Mayor Harrison of Chicago was interested in the enterprise and the museum corporation was able to borrow three carloads of displays from the Louisiana purchase exhibition. These will be reclassified and to them will be added the object lessons Chicago can show, so there ought to be much of value in the entire collection. There is a growing desire apparent in all cities to learn more about the possibilities of improvement and a museum where all such attainments may be studied will be of great value. Such a collection will prevent the necessity for each group of workers seeking information about an individual project. The museum, for instance, would give the projectors of an improvement like the public bath house an opportunity to learn in a short time what others have done so as to be warned from failures, as well as stimulated by successes. The same result might be achieved in almost any other department of municipal improvement.

Mr. Phipps' Plans.

There is no intimation that Henry Phipps may extend his tenement house experiment to his native city of Allegheny and to Philadelphia. Refusal to discuss the subject is evidence that if he has plans for such extension they are not mature, while his declination to deny the report gives ground for the hope that it is true. Mr. Phipps is a man of thorough business methods, so he is certain to be tolerably sure of the results he is aiming at in New York. On that assumption it is not unreasonable to suppose he might extend the benefits of the plan to Allegheny.

This community already owes much to Henry Phipps. The old conservatory in Allegheny antedates any of the magnificent benefactions of his former partner, Mr. Carnegie. The later conservatory in Schenley park marked a distinct advance in the life of the city, giving the people a place of enjoyment and instruction. Doubtless his tenement house project has been as thoroughly thought out as the plans for his conservatories and the aid he has extended to the battle against tuberculosis. It is, however, of a different character. It is not less for the advantage of the whole people, but its highest success depends upon the possibility that it will pay sufficient dividends to induce others to follow his example. It is an effort to help others to help themselves and to induce others still to help others—a noble object, indeed.

Risks of Automobile Speeding.

The violent deaths of Robert Croker and his chauffeur from speeding in an automobile over the Florida beach will hardly discourage the promoter of the races there, who is now busy planning a five-mile track at Barnegat, N. J. He proposes that racing men have a mile stretch on a five-mile track which is to be 120 feet wide with every facility for speed. The place is accessible to New York and Philadelphia and provision is to be had for a grand stand seating 10,000 people to accommodate the crowds expected.

There is nothing said about danger to the riders of maintaining speeds of less than a mile a minute, the assumption apparently being the general public ought not to complain if the drivers are willing to take the risks and protect spectators from harm. It is urged the case is not comparable to the road races on Long Island. It may be argued the case differs from the beach in Florida, where the public cannot well be excluded. Yet the question arises whether the authorities should not regulate such extra hazardous trials of speed. Individual performers are often prohibited from attempting tricks that are obviously too dangerous and cities like New York provide a penalty for suicide. Thus the right to restrict and even prohibit ventures that are extra hazardous is established.

A Chicagoan is suspected of inventing a new poison with which to kill people, something on the order of that used on a former king of Denmark. Chicago is nothing if not dramatic and there is something rotten there.

While the house committee on legislative apportionment looks hostile, there ought to be a way to convince it of the injustice in depriving Allegheny country of eight additional members.

Lobbyists are to be kept out of the house at Harrisburg. Another opportunity for the Dispatch and Leader to abuse the legislature in advance.

Mr. Bird of the Wabash says government regulation of rates is revolutionary. By this does he mean putting the shoe on the other foot.

Despite his reappearance after 1896 there are signs that Mr. Bryan recognizes a popular verdict when he meets it passing.

Senator Morgan of Alabama has forgotten the ill-fated Nicaragua canal long enough to discuss the situation in Russia.

A personal registration bill has reached Harrisburg under unfavorable auspices. But one should pass, nevertheless.

Whatever the senate may think of railroad rate legislation it has been known to change its mind upon occasion.

None of the Crucible victims of last night are as sore as those so much in evidence the year before last.

Rouvier will now take a turn at upholding Republican doctrines in France, while Combes takes a rest.

There will be no railroad strike. The Russians may have a monopoly of that sort of thing.

President Roosevelt appears willing to have Robert Watchorn charged to his own account.

William Jennings Bryan is doing a little in the safe and sane line on his own account.

Mayor Wyman's drubbing in the primaries is a refreshing incident of the season.

Returns from the provinces are awaited at St. Petersburg with bated breath.

Field Marshal Oyama might send condolences to the czar, if the wires are open.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—In New York, as probably everywhere else today, the situation in St. Petersburg is the one great topic of discussion. According to Dr. David Blaustein of the Educational alliance, the Russian Hebrews who reside in this city are in favor of revolution in Russia and hope for the overthrow of the Russian government. He said the Russians who met in Clinton hall yesterday and adjourned after adopting resolutions of sympathy with their fellow-countrymen are known here as the "friends of Russian freedom." Dr. Blaustein thinks he said, that the present trouble will result in a revolution unless the Russian government relents and makes some concessions.

"The present conditions," he said, "are different from those in 1860. Then the movement was by nobles, who objected to domination by the church, and they got the government to back them up in humiliating the church. This movement is entirely different inasmuch as it is industrial. The nobles in 1860 thought the czar was their friend, and when they found out differently they hated him.

"The people in the present movement are the uneducated masses, and have been of the opinion that the czar is their friend. When they find out he is not, they will wake up, and when the masses have awakened it is a serious proposition and will not be so easy to put down. Unless Russia concedes some of these demands made on them, in my opinion there will be a general revolution. That movement was not started by the Hebrews as such, but as workmen, regardless of creeds, and any outrages perpetrated against the Hebrews have nothing to do with it."

McAdoo Given Some Pointers.

"I have been very much instructed. You have done me a great public service by asking me to call here. If I had more time I would be here oftener,' said Police Commissioner McAdoo to the magistrate in Jefferson market court today, after listening for more than two hours to the testimony of detective sergeants from the detective bureau against several men whose pictures are in the rogues' gallery and who were arrested on suspicion of being pickpockets.

"I am unwilling to discharge these men," said the magistrate, "so that they can go out on the street and pick pockets again. This thing is going to be stopped. The streets and cars should be made safe for the public, and I am going to make them so if you will present the evidence to me. If it can be proved that these men have no visible means of support I will send them away for six months."

The prisoners were all held for further examination and to give the detectives an opportunity to gather more evidence against them. The testimony offered today was flimsy enough to surprise even the complaisant police commissioner.

All on Account of a Name.

C. M. S. McClellan is trying to escape the full responsibility for having written "Glittering Gloria." On the original play bills the author was called Hugh Morton, but McClellan has since pleaded guilty.

"Of course, I put the name of Hugh Morton to 'Glittering Gloria,' and to all my earlier pieces with a definite purpose in view—to give myself a freer road should I ever try to write more ambitiously," says Mr. McClellan. "The first use of my name was with 'Leah Kleschna.' I am very sorry to have the Brooklyn manager utilize the prominence of this last play by attaching a name to the Gloria thing which has never before been associated with it. I don't know yet whether I have any rights in the matter, but I am writing to Fisher & Riley on the subject, and also to Mr. Fiske, to see if managers may not be compelled to use the name of Morton on any play that I have brought out under that name."

All of which would indicate that it is bad policy for these "literary fellers" to write pot boilers under any name.

Waldorf's Loss Seems Small.

One of the clerks at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel today waxed eloquent on the subject of "kleptomania," declaring that that hotel last year had lost tableware, etc., to the value of $600. "One would naturally suppose," he said, with no little bitterness, "that people who can afford to live here at the rate of, say, $15 or $20 a day, would be above petty stealing, but unfortunately it is far from the case.

"Most of these 'kleptomaniacs' are women, and they have a special fondness for collecting table silverware, perhaps because it is more easy to appropriate and conceal without detection. Pearl handled knives, solid silver fruit spoons, pickle forks, nut crackers, and such, disappear from this hotel almost every day. Even the linen napkins melt away like butter. It pays us to foot the loss and say nothing."

In the end, of course, the public foots the bill, as the management naturally enough makes the prices high enough at all times to cover losses of every sort and wind up the year with a decent profit.

It's McClellan Against the Field.

Charles F. Murphy returned to Tammany Hall today after an absence of two weeks. He was not in a talkative mood. When asked whether he thought that a fusion ticket would be nominated this year, he said:

"It will be McClellan against the field again. Personally, I don't care whether we are opposed by a fusion ticket or a straight Republican ticket. McClellan will be re-elected mayor of New York city."

Wouldn't Stand for His Name.

Loren Webb Nichols has just had his name changed to Lawrence Webb Nichols by the superior court of Fairfield county, Connecticut, for reasons that are novel. Nichols is employed as coachman in New York and has worked for many prominent families. "The people for whom Loren worked simply wouldn't call him Loren," said his sister today. "They thought that name too high-toned for a coachman. Plain Larry was good enough for him, they said. After a while everybody began to call him Lawrence and his mail matter came addressed Lawrence W. Nichols. To put an end to the embarrassment, he asked the court to change his name."

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

When I used to go to school—that was long ago,
There was a most annoying boy that always seemed to know
What the answer was, whate'er the question chanced to be.
Never got confused and scared and worried, same as me.
Whene'er the class was catechised, he wore a smile most bland
And beat us all, he was so quick at holding up his hand.

And when the teacher called on him, his memory might balk,
But none the less he went ahead and made a little talk.
The teacher always helped him out, and never called his bluff.
The interest he showed was such she couldn't use him rough—
And many a man grows powerful an' famous in the land
By being quick to take the lead, and holding up his hand.

—Washington Star.

Of the many and various definitions given for education none surpass in clearness, exactness and truth as that given by Wendell Phillips many years ago:

"What is education?

"Of course it is not book-learning.

"Book-learning does not make 5 per cent of that mass of common sense that 'runs' the world, transacts its business, secures its progress, trebles its power over nature, works out in the long run a rough average justice, wears away the world's restraints, and lifts off its burdens. The ideal Yankee, who has more brains in his hands than others have in their skulls, is not a scholar; and two-thirds of the inventions that enable France to double the world's sunshine, and make Old and New England the workshops of the world, did not come from colleges or from minds trained in the schools of science, but struggled up, forcing their way against giant obstacles, from the irrepressible instinct of untrained natural power."

"It has been impossible, since that day, for me to believe that it is any part of the mission of the school to make learning easy for the sake of having it easy," says Dr. Winship. "Education is conquering nature and human nature. Education must be a personal triumph and it is not easy to secure such a triumph in the simple wrestling with facts or fancies in books, or in easy-going 'exercises' or 'busy' work in school."

* * * * *

What is education doing for the home, the nation and the world?

One answer to this question is found in recent statistics concerning the growth of colleges.

During the 13 years ending with 1902 the increase has been nearly 100 per cent for men and nearly 200 per cent for women. The men increased from 38,000 to 66,325 in co-educational institutions and the women from 8,000 to 22,500. In men's colleges the increase was from 45,000 to 78,600, and in women's colleges from 10,700 to 29,258.

The number of women enrolled in technical institutions is also large. It is becoming a fad for women to study engineering, chemistry, architecture and other sciences.

During the year 1901-2 nearly one-half as many degrees were conferred upon women as upon men; the totals being 5,502 and 11,755. Of the women 3,002 received the degree of bachelor of arts, and others in proportion. The degree of doctor of philosophy was conferred, after examination, upon 240 men and 26 women.

* * * * *

The people are getting there all right, and the schools follow them. The pioneer isn't a college graduate or hardly ever, but the college man is close on his heels.

There is Oklahoma, for instance.

And here is what Dr. Winship of the American Journal of Education found on a recent visit to that strip of new country:

"It is but 16 years since it was first opened to the white man. It is impossible to realize that when we read that at St. Louis it took 114 medals in agriculture, a greater number, it is said, than was taken by any other state or territory.

"It is the only state or territory that is in the first class for both wheat and cotton, apples and gulf fruits. It is equally east and west, north and south, with good soil and climate, and a young and vigorous population.

"Sixteen years from oblivion to a territorial university with 600 students, and agricultural college with 500 and three normal schools with an aggregate of 2,000 or 3,00 0students in the five institutions. No state or territory is more completely equipped for the education of its young people in free public school institutions, and no other has so large a percentage of its population therein.

"It is but 16 years since the first white men came to Oklahoma City, of course, and today it is a city of 80,000 and more, with wide, well-paved streets, fine business blocks, a handsome railroad station, street cars as good as the best, and several large hotels, one of which is as good as any all-the-year hotels in New England, outside of three cities."

* * * * *

Yes, this is a great country, and its institutions are of the finest, making up in practicability what age counts for in those of other countries.

And yet we are not as practical as we might be, nor as we will be, for we are becoming more and more utilitarian year by year.

Heretofore we haven't had to be economical, having so much ground to spread over, and with virgin soil enough to raise all we have needed with some to spare.

Now that we have occupied nearly all the good farming ground we are beginning to give it the attention that it needs. And we are finding that old, worn out lands can be revitalized and made as good as new, and that without any great expense.

Agricultural colleges are doing much for the farmer, and particularly for the farmer boy. And what is a most hopeful sign is that farmers' boys and girls are going to these agricultural schools instead of to the big colleges and finishing schools, where scholars are not taught to work and to do things.

The farmer, aided and abetted by the cross-country trolley, is bound to come forth and shine equally bright with his college-bred city cousin.

COUNTRY, CITY AND SUBURBS.

Their Sanitary Conditions Compared by Prof. Sedgwick.

President Sedgwick of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology thus compared sanitation in the city, suburb and country in a lecture before the Lowell Institute:

"In the country the available air supply, water supply, milk supply and food supply is generally purer than in the city or the suburbs, while the disposal of sewage, garbage, dirt, refuse and the like need give little trouble. On the other hand, in country houses the cellar is often damp, the living and sleeping rooms are too often low and unventilated, the heating, lighting and bathing arrangements are frequently deficient or defective. In the city the reverse is more often the case; the available air supply, water supply, milk supply and food supply are frequently impure; the collection and disposal of sewage, garbage, dirt, refuse and the like are often imperfectly done; while on the other hand, owing to the existence of sewers, cellars are generally drier, living and sleeping rooms are often higher, larger and better ventilated, and heating, lighting and bathing arrangements are usually better than in the rural districts. The suburbs stand midway, in sanitation as in many other respects, between city and country. They have better available air and generally better housing and house arrangements than the city, and they may have, if they will, better food and drink. Too often, however, suburban places lack proper drainage and sewerage, and also satisfactory systems for the collection and disposal of sewage, garbage, ashes and rubbish. Their water supplies even are frequently in fact inferior to those of large cities; so that while suburban life, rightly conducted, is probably the most wholesome life available today for vast numbers of people and is constantly more and more adopted and appreciated, it seldom requires less, and often demands more attention from the sanitarian than does the urban life of intelligent and prosperous communities. Finally the fact that unfavorable site, soil and climate, formerly so potent in the welfare of cities, can now be largely overcome, when sufficient reasons arise for the existence and growth of cities under these conditions, shows how great today is the power of man over nature, and how far reaching his control over his environment, i. e., over sanitary among other conditions."

Absolute Monarchs

By L. W. STRAYER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—When you picked up your morning paper today you were confronted by two great pieces of news. The first, the one of thrilling interest and overshadowing importance, was the account of the massacre of thousands of people yesterday in the streets of St. Petersburg as they were marching to the Winter palace to petition the czar for redress of their wrongs. The other item of startling information was a report from Dr. Norton, the American consul at Harput, Turkey, stating that from an investigation he had just completed, he estimated the number of Christian Armenians slain by the Turks last summer at 5,000, of whom 2,471 were children. Surely this was blood enough to smear upon one page of a newspaper.

But the significant fact in connection with these reports was that they came from the only two remaining absolute monarchies of Europe—Russia and Turkey. They alone deny their citizens the rights of human liberty. They of all the nations of Europe refuse their people the privilege of a part in the government. And they alone permit the slaughter of thousands of innocent and unarmed men, women and even children. The czar and the sultan, side by side, hand in hand, stand hopelessly trying to force back the wave of progress and civilization that is rolling in upon them and that threatens the early end of their despotism.

Gave Lives to No Avail.

If you are inclined to a study of historical subjects here is one that will repay a thorough investigation. What influences have held back these two nations centuries behind the remainder of Europe and permitted them to grope blindly along the by-way of absolutism when the broad highway of political freedom was before them in the full light of civilization? It costs blood and misery to buy freedom, but the people of Russia and Turkey have given lives and generations of suffering and yet they are under the yoke. England, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain and the others have their freedom and they paid for it with the same that Russia is now buying hers and that Turkey must pay if the people are to ever escape from despotism.

Another significant thing about these two absolute monarchies is that they are the only nations of Europe which deny their citizens the right to emigrate to America and become American citizens. Neither a Russian nor a Turk may come to the land of the free as the Germans, the English and the French do and renounce their allegiance to the fatherland. If they do so and return to their native country they are still considered subjects of the czar or sultan and are not recognized as citizens of the United States. For that reason naturalized Russians and Turks seldom return permanently to their native country, because they are liable to arrest and imprisonment for violating the law which compels them to remain subjects of the country of their birth.

An Embarrassing Situation.

The state department is continuously besieged by people of these two countries for help on the ground that they are naturalized citizens of the United States. Having taken up their residence in this country and having obtained the right to vote and take a part in the affairs of the nation, they often return to the fatherland to bring here their families or friends to share with them the privileges of freedom. But too often this return visit embroils them in trouble with the officials and they are cast into prison on some charge, trumped up or real, from which they often find the greatest trouble in securing their release. This government cannot consistently interfere, because they have violated the law of the native country by immigrating and obtaining citizenship in America and the situation thus becomes very embarrassing.

It is to avoid such complications that the state department, whenever it issues a passport to Russia or Turkey, encloses with it a copy of a digest of the laws of that country relative to citizenship and warning the naturalized citizen, who is about to return, of the trouble that he may find awaiting him. Then if he goes back, he does so at his own risk. But it has been the experience of the department that this notice does not act as a very strong deterrent to keep naturalized Turks or Russians from visiting their native land, because when they plan a trip to the old home it is usually for the purpose of seeing dear friends from whom they have been separated for years or to bring their families or relatives to share in the blessings of freedom. Therefore, they are generally willing to take the risk that attaches to the trip, trusting to fortune to let them return when they are ready.

The next heard from them is through some consulate or embassy asking for aid to get them out of prison. In such cases all the state department can do is to bring the facts to the attention of the authorities where they are imprisoned and ask for leniency. Sometimes it is effective, but usually it is met with expressions of regret and polite reference to the laws of the land.

Little Chance for the Turk.

One of the concessions that Minister Leishman has been trying for a long time to obtain from the Turkish government is an imperial decree permitting the wives and children of Turks who have become American citizens to join the head of the house in this country. It is comparatively easy for a Turk, who is ambitious to find a home in America, to slip past the officials and make his way to this country. Here he toils and saves, awaiting the time that he has gotten together enough money to bring his family here. When that time arrives, he often finds that the least of his troubles is over, as the law of Turkey will not permit his wife and children to come to him. The sultan has promised Minister Leishman that this law shall be amended to cover cases of this kind, but like many other promises made by that wily potentate it has never been put into effect.

Russia is about as strict in this matter, using every endeavor possible to prevent the emigration of her citizens to this or any other country. They are needed at home to produce revenue, and more important still, for military service. Both of these nations resent any interference with what they term their "internal affairs" on the part of the United States. The Kurds may slay Christians by the thousands and the interest of the sultan will center in the question of whether among the victims there were any native Americans for whose killing off the government might be held to damages. Hundreds of Jews may be massacred in Russia and a mighty protest from members of that race in America is met with the polite but firm announcement that the "disturbance" was an "internal affair" in which no other government can possibly be interested.

Marking the Doom of Absolutism.

History is making these days. Maps are changed over night and the 20th century bids fair to excel all the years that have gone before in the advancement of civilization throughout the world. The sun has dawned in the far east and is rising upon the oriental nations that have slumbered in their ignorance for centuries, awakening them to action. Japan is up and doing. China is bestirring herself. Tibet is no longer a closed book. In the west, progress is making splendid strides, development continues unchecked and is extending to the ends of the hemisphere, while the wedding of the Atlantic and the Pacific by the Panama canal is but a few years distant.

In Europe the clash of battle has given way to the rivalry of commerce and universal peace is no longer considered an Iridescent dream. Republics and monarchies are striving for higher and better things and all is done in the interests of the principles, but in the path of this onward march of civilization stand the two absolute monarchies, the twin monuments of darkness and despotism. On the north the czar's soldiers are mowing down defenseless people by the thousands because they dare to ask for human liberty. On the south the precious fanatics subjects of the sultan are butchering innocent men, women and children who dare accept the true religion. This is the 20th century, but this story of blood fairly sounds like a chapter from the history of the 15th. Could anything more plainly mark the downfall of absolutism?

Bryan Too Conservative.

The chief trouble that we discern in ever philosophic scrutiny of Col. Bryan is that he is too conservative. But a few years since and Col. Bryan was the limit of radicalism and the very ideal of unrest. Things have changed wonderfully, even marvelously. But we do not see that Col. Bryan has changed at all.—New York Sun.

PARTING OF WAYS MAY COME TODAY

Bigelow Opposes Controller Larkin's Demand to Cut Out Filtration Item.

DIRECTOR HAS COMMITTEE

"I gave notice today that I would not stand for the $366,666 item for sinking fund charges and interest on the $5,000,000 filtration bond issue being retained in the appropriation ordinance and I will not stand for any inflation of the estimated revenues," said Controller Larkin last evening after a four hours' lively session of the sub-committee on appropriations, held secretly in the mayor's office. There is said to have been a number of tilts between Director Bigelow and Controller Larkin.

According to statements of those present Director Bigelow insisted upon the filtration item remaining in the appropriation ordinance and Controller Larkin was equally emphatic in his demands that it be taken out. The five members of the sub-committee are supporters of Director Bigelow and according to the declaration of one member made after the meeting, Director Bigelow's request that the $366,666 item remain in the ordinance will be granted. The sub-committee, it was stated, would so report to the finance committee on Friday and the finance committee is expected to so report, in its turn, to common council next Monday night.

Parting May Come Today.

If Controller Larkin keeps his word the parting of the ways will probably come at another meeting of the sub-committee to be held this afternoon. It was expected that the session yesterday would be the last secret meeting of the sub-committee and that it would convene today or tomorrow publicly. The dispute between the controller and the director of public works, however, prevented much other business being transacted. Director Bigelow claimed to have legal assurance from the city solicitor that it would be perfectly legal to make the appropriation for the sinking fund charges and interest on the filtration bond issue, even though the bonds have not been yet issued, and the case is still pending in court. It is believed that if the administration loses its present suit in court against the controller, that another ordinance to meet the requirements of the decision of the court will be speedily passed by councils and that the bonds will be soon issued. The case is not likely to go to the supreme court unless the controller loses, and if so he says he will take an appeal.

"If they keep the $366,666 item for filtration in the bill it will mean a 13½ mill levy unless they cut the appropriations for the departments to that extent, or else inflate the estimated revenues. I will not stand for this item remaining in the bill nor for the revenues being inflated," said the controller.

Additional Cuts Are Made.

Some revision was made in the appropriations yesterday. The total cut in the public works department from the original estimates is about $150,000 and about $100,000 in the public safety department. The $20,000 Schenley park racetrack item was taken out in the ordinance framed by Controller Larkin and the $60,000 appropriation for the rebuilding of the Ellsworth avenue bridge was cut down to $40,000, it being decided to ask the traction company to bear one-third of the expense because the bridge is used most by the street cars. The street repaving schedule was reduced to $200,000, a cut of $37,000.

THIEF USES ACCIDENT AS CHANCE FOR WORK

Claimed to Be Son of Man Killed and Stole an Overcoat.

An unknown man, supposed to be D. Quigley of Allison Park, near DeHaven, on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad, was killed at Twelfth street and Penn avenue at 5:45 last evening. The accident was taken advantage of by a thief to make a most peculiar robbery.

The man was crossing Penn avenue at Twelfth street and was knocked down by a car. The Pittsburgh Railways Company emergency wagon was called and started with him to the West Penn hospital. He died before that institution was reached. The only injury visible was a cut on his right wrist and from this he is thought to have bled to death. The wagon men started with the body to the morgue. Coming in Penn avenue a young man swung up on the wagon and stated that he was a son of the victim. The men refused to permit him to ride on the wagon. The stranger inquired the way to the Philadelphia Company building and when told, got off the wagon and went to the company's offices. He stated that his father had been killed by a car and he wanted to telephone to the morgue. The company central got the morgue for him and he talked over the telephone, informing the morgue authorities that he would be there in a few minutes. On the way out of the building he is alleged to have stolen the janitor's overcoat and he has not yet appeared at the morgue. The body was identified by a bank book and several letters.

Joseph Brokata, a miner, was killed by the premature explosion of a blast in the mines of the Clyde Coal Company at Fredericktown yesterday morning. The body was sent to the morgue.

At the coroner's inquest yesterday into the death of James W. Dihm, Jr., who killed himself by taking poison at his home, No. 4807 Morewood avenue, last Tuesday, a verdict of suicide was returned. The testimony was to the effect that Dihm had been despondent before his death.

Kunits Quartet This Evening.

This evening the Kunits string quartet gives the third recital of its fine series at the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music hall. The only absolute novelty on the program tonight is the Smetana quarter "Aus Meinem Leben." The history of this quartet is one of sad interest, for its composer, one of the brightest lights of Bohemian music, had become totally deaf several years before the composition was written, and though he did some of his best work after his affliction he was unable to hear the performance. The composer's own account of this quartet is that it portrays in tone his life. The program further includes the second quartet of Tschaikowsky and a Dvorak quintet for piano and strings, in which J. H. Gittings will assist the quartet.

MAYOR IS PITTED AGAINST LARKIN

Suit to Compel Issue of $5,000,000 Filtration Bonds Being Argued.

DISPUTE OVER NEW CHARTER

The hearing in the mandamus case, begun last fall, to compel Controller Larkin to advertise and issue $3,000,000 worth of filtration bonds, was begun yesterday in common please court No. 2 before Judges Shafer and Rodgers, and was continued until today. Arguments were made on the demurrer of Mayor Hays to the return of Controller Larkin, Solicitor Rodgers appearing for the mayor and George W. Guthrie for the controller.

Mr. Guthrie had not finished when court adjourned and will resume his argument this morning. Neither the mayor nor the controller were present. The argument of Mr. Rodgers followed closely that outlined in the petition for the mandamus—that the controller was merely the bookkeeper of the city and had no powers or duties regarding the propriety of the bond issue, and that in his return he gave no valid reason why he should not comply with the terms of the ordinance directing him to advertise, sell, countersign and issue the bonds.

Mr. Rodgers claimed that the method of procedure in the case was based on article 19 of the new charter act for second-class cities, which provides that in issuing bonds for the funding of indebtedness, already existing, or to be hereafter created, the bond should be made payable not less than every five years. He argued that this article repealed article 11 of the same act, which provides that new bonds shall be made payable annually.

Mr. Guthrie disputed the assertion that the latter article repealed the former and insisted that the latter related only to funding bonds, while the former pertained to bonds for public improvements, such as filtration. He asked the court to read carefully the two articles of the charter act cited. He said that the former article showed clearly how the bonds must be issued, and it also provides for the payment of the bonds out of the sinking funds. He said Controller Larkin claims that there is $325,000 now available for the sinking funds, and that at least $1,600,000 more will be available this year and should be invested in the bonds.

The charge of corrupt solicitation in the passage of the bond ordinance in councils, which was one of the reasons given by the controller for refusing to advertise and issue the bonds, was not touched upon by the attorneys for either side. The result of the contention of the controller that the bonds should be made payable annually and not every five years, as the ordinance specified, is being looked forward to with much interest because of the recent decision of the Dauphin county court to the effect that the bonds for public improvements in second-class cities must be payable annually.

Held Policeman for Court.

Policeman Edward Frank of No. 6 police station was held for court in $300 bail yesterday by Alderman J. D. Walker on a charge of assault and battery made by James Callahan of Gornell street. Callahan swore that on New Year's morning, as he was coming from a watch meeting in a Euclid avenue church, Frank gave him a beating.

The lessons learned by advertising, gained by the expenditure of millions of dollars, may be yours without cost.

Advertising is no longer an experiment. It will never be an exact science, but many accumulated experiences have taught us what to do and what not to do—these experiences have practically all been gained in the last fifteen or twenty years.

Many manufacturers have spent millions in the various experiments which have resulted in the present accurate knowledge of the correct principles and forms of publicity.

This pioneer work does not have to be done over again. The advertiser of today commences upon a solid, substantial basis, and does not need to waste money in useless experiments.

It has been proved over and over again that any article which is of use in the American home can be profitably advertised in The Saturday Evening Post. The Post is a weekly magazine, appealing with peculiar strength to intelligent people. It goes into 700,000 families every week. Its circulation has not been gained by premiums or any similar method. The fact that it is a weekly magazine makes it possible for the advertiser to introduce his goods more quickly and surely than if it were a monthly.

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing the submission to a vote of the electors of the city of Allegheny the question of increasing the bonded indebtedness of the city of Allegheny by the amount of two hundred twenty-five thousand ($225,000.00) dollars for the purpose of extending the water system of the city, installing a manifold system at the Montrose pumping station and making improvements at the Montrose and Howard street pumping stations.

Whereas, The select and common councils of the city of Allegheny deem it for the best interests of the city that its bonded indebtedness shall be increased by the amount of two hundred twenty-five thousand ($225,000.00) dollars for the purpose of extending the water system of the city, installing a manifold system at the Montrose pumping station, and making improvements at the Montrose and Howard street pumping stations; therefore,

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, that the question of increasing the bonded indebtedness of the city of Allegheny by the amount of two hundred twenty-five thousand ($225,000.00) dollars, by an issue of bonds, bearing interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, the principal thereof payable annually in not less than five years and not more than thirty years from the date of their issue, and for the payment of which as the same shall mature and become payable, so much of the revenue of the city of Allegheny as may be necessary shall be pledged, for the purpose of extending the water system of the city, installing a manifold system at the Montrose pumping station, and making improvements at the Montrose and Howard street pumping stations, at such time, in such manner and in such amounts as the councils of the city shall determine, shall be submitted to the electors of the city of Allegheny at the municipal election to be held on Tuesday, the twenty-first day of February, 1905, in the manner prescribed by and in accordance with the laws of the state of Pennsylvania in such case made and provided.

Sec. 2. That the mayor is hereby authorized, empowered and directed to procure the proper proclamation for said election to be issued, and public notice thereof given according to law, and to provide at the expense of the city of Allegheny any and all ballots or tickets, return sheets, or any other papers, materials or things that may be required by law to be provided by the city, for the lawful holding of said election, and to cause the same to be held according to law.

The expense thereof to be payable out of appropriation No. 41, contingent fund.

Sec. 3. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing, be and the same is hereby repealed.

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing the submission to a vote of the electors of the city of Allegheny the question of increasing the bonded indebtedness of the city of Allegheny by the amount of ninety thousand ($90,000.00) dollars for the purpose of making repairs and improvements in Central and Riverview parks in the city of Allegheny; therefore,

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the question of increasing the bonded indebtedness of the city of Allegheny by the amount of ninety thousand ($90,000.00) dollars, by an issue of bonds, bearing interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, the principal thereof payable annually in not less than five years and not more than thirty years from the date of their issue, and for the payment of the principal and interest of which as the same shall mature and become payable, so much of the revenue of the city of Allegheny as may be necessary shall be pledged, for the purpose of making repairs and improvements in Central and Riverview parks, at such times, in such places, in such manner and in such amounts as the councils of the city shall determine, shall be submitted to the electors of the city of Allegheny at the municipal election to be held on Tuesday, the twenty-first day of February, 1905, in the manner prescribed by and in accordance with the laws of the state of Pennsylvania in such case made and provided.

Sec. 2. That the mayor is hereby authorized, empowered and directed to procure the proper proclamation for said election to be issued, and public notice thereof given according to law, and to provide at the expense of the city of Allegheny any and all ballots or tickets, return sheets, or any other papers, materials or things that may be required by law to be provided by the city, for the lawful holding of said election, and to cause the same to be held according to law.

The expense thereof to be payable out of appropriation No. 41, contingent fund.

Sec. 3. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Ordained and enacted into a law in councils this 18th day of January, A. D. 1905.

SALE OF CALVARY IS CONSUMMATED

Papers Transferred at Exact Moment Which Marked Half Century of Parish.

SERVICES ARE IMPRESSIVE

"At 5:30 o'clock on the evening of January 23, 1855, this parish was organized. At about the same moment this evening, just as nearly 50 years after as the moments could make it, the papers were signed and transferred conveying this church property to others for $85,000, and it is no longer ours."

This announcement by the Rev. Dr. J. H. McIlvaine, rector of Calvary Episcopal church, Penn avenue and Station street, closed the golden anniversary services held in the church last evening. The congregation last month purchased the Hallman property at Shady avenue and Walnut street for $73,000 and contemplate the erection of a new church on the property at the cost of $150,000.

Dr. McIlvaine did not state who the purchaser was and declined to give this information after the service, stating that the buyer wishes his name withheld. The property fronts 138 feet on Penn avenue and has a depth of 200 feet along Station street. It runs back to and abuts the property of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and it has been rumored for two years that the railroad company was anxious to acquire the property. Dr. McIlvaine emphatically denied that the railroad company had purchased the property. The sale was made through the real estate office of G. G. Paul. Rumors are current that a buyer on the market for a wholesale bakery site was anxious to acquire the property.

Processional of Rectors.

The services in the church last evening were most impressive. They opened with a processional of local rectors, headed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead of this diocese and the Rt. Rev. Bishop Boyd Vincent of the Southern Ohio diocese, formerly a rector of Calvary. All the clergy wore their robes and vestments.

The hymns sung during the service were the same rendered at the 25th anniversary of the parish, and two members of the ministry who took part in that anniversary were present last night—the Rev. Dr. R. J. Coster of the Baum institute and the Rev. Dr. Meech.

Dr. McIlvaine presided and introduced Bishop Whitehead, who spoke on the hospitality and progress of the parish. Bishop Vincent, who followed, spoke of the accomplishments of the parish and the spirit of Christian helpfulness that prevailed within it. He referred to the dismembered congregation he faced when called as rector. Many left the parish to establish the Reform Episcopal church, which, he said, "were near enough to us and mean enough to go to church at the ringing of our bell." He spoke of the marked change in the community since that time and of how the church was then surrounded by cow pastures and woods. He lauded the love of church expressed by the communicants and the fact that there always was unity notwithstanding the difference in social standing, always present in congregations of the size of Calvary. He was glad there never had been a scandal in the church.

Help During War Times.

The Rev. Dr. William D. Maxon, now of Christ church, but rector of Calvary from 1894 to 1898, told of some interesting memories and announced the establishment of the Kingsley house and the Church club by the parish, and the fact that it organized the Pittsburgh Red Cross auxiliary during the Spanish war and had given the Brotherhood of St. Andrew a national president. He also referred to the three parishes organized by Calvary—St. James, St. Stephens and Ascension.

The Rev. Dr. George Hodges, dean of Cambridge (Mass.) Theological seminary and a former rector, spoke in a humorous vein of the realistic and romantic form of low church worship he met when he assumed the charge. He referred to the primitive equipment of the church and paid homage to the loyalty of communicants and the noble efforts of Bishop Vincent, who as rector, preceded him.

Addresses were also made appropriate to the occasion by the Rev. Dr. McClure of Oakmont, who was assistant rector from 1891 to 1892, and by the Rev. Dr. Wightman, who was acting rector of the parish for 18 months preceding Dr. McIlvaine.

The Rev. Dr. Robert W. Grange, rector of the Church of the Ascension, spoke for that parish as the eldest daughter of Calvary. He attested that the motherhood of that parish was in hazy doubt. He said it grew out of a union Sunday school in Bellefield. The Presbyterians drew out and formed the Bellefield congregation, and the Methodists followed and formed the Oakland church. Of the remaining remnants of the Sunday school the Episcopalians were in majority and claimed the property, when Calvary took it under its sheltering wing and developed it into a flourishing parish.

Hopes for Episcopalian Trust.

The Rev. R. W. Patton, rector of St. Stephen's church, Wilkinsburg, spoke for the youngest daughter of Calvary and told of the vicissitudes encountered by that parish, which has finally triumphed through the continued aid of Calvary.

The Rev. Dr. Coleman E. Bryan, rector of St. James' church, represented the third daughter parish, and spoke appreciatively of the sustaining help of the mother parish. The Rev. Dr. A. W. Arundel, rector of Trinity church, the mother parish of Calvary, congratulated the 50-year-old daughter on behalf of the 108-year-old mother. He also congratulated the grandchildren and great-grandchildren. He spoke feelingly of the bonds between Trinity and Calvary and in conclusion hoped to see a great Episcopalian "trust" formed in this community, where co-operation would succeed any possibility of competition between parishes. He hoped that some such arrangement might be effected to husband the strength of the church and afford the greatest good for the greatest number. He trusted that some of the younger people might live to see some dream as this accomplished.

The celebration will conclude this evening when a reception will be tendered the visiting clergymen and Bishop Whitehead in the parish house, beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

The Death Roll.

Joseph Weis.

Councilman Joseph Weis of the Third ward, Allegheny, died suddenly at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, at the family residence, 717 Chestnut street, after a brief illness. Mr. Weis was stricken with neuralgia of the heart last week and was confined to his room. His death was unexpected. Mr. Weis was born in Baden, Germany, in 1850, and was educated in the schools of that place. When 18 years of age he immigrated to this country with his father, Joseph Weis, and learned the brewing business in the old Heckelman brewery. In 1873 he started the Hoffmann brewery in Allegheny, and was engaged in the brewery and malt business until 1900, when he opened his saloon at 717 Chestnut street. His first wife, Josephine Hoffman, died in 1886, and a year later he married Theresa Grapp, who died in 1901. For some years Mr. Weis had been prominent in Third ward politics, and two years ago was elected to common council on the Democratic ticket. He entered the Republican primaries on Saturday last, but was defeated. Mr. Weis was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, St. Pius society, Branch 79, C. M. B. A., Baden Beneficial society, Gambrinus Beneficial society, Cecelia Mannerchor, Teutonia Mannerchor and Allegheny Turnverein. He is survived by the following children: Joseph, Jr., Mary and Helen. Services will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's church.

Mrs. Katherine Gedekoh.

Mrs. Katherine Gedekoh, 76 years old, of 1110 Carson street, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louise Scheitinger of Philadelphia. The interment will take place at Zimmerman's cemetery, but the time of the funeral has not yet been set. Mrs. Gedekoh is survived by the daughter residing in Philadelphia and another daughter, Miss Sophia Gedekoh, of 1110 Carson street; a sister, Mrs. Wilhelmina Gedekoh, of Elizabeth, and two brothers, David Mang of Pittsburgh, and Jacob Hahn, residing at the Soldiers' home in Dayton, O. She also leaves two grandsons, Bert Succop, real estate dealer, of 1110 Carson street, and Charles Jackson. Mrs. Gedekoh was a member of the First United Evangelical Protestant church, of Jane street. She had lived on the South Side for many years.

John D. Riddle.

John D. Riddle, at one time a well-known member of the Westmoreland county bar, who served 10 years as an associate judge, is dead at his home in Franklin township, near Belmont, aged 93. He served on the judicial bench from 1862 to 1872, when the district comprised Westmoreland, Indiana and Armstrong counties. Westmoreland county was made a separate judicial district in 1873. James A. Logan was president judge at the time of Mr. Riddle's service. After leaving the bench he practically abandoned the practice of law. He was a lifelong resident of the county. He is survived by one son, Samuel Riddle, and one daughter, Mary Riddle, both living in Franklin township. Another son, John Riddle, who was a well-known physician, died several years ago.

Edward Payson Cone.

Edward Payson Cone, prominently identified with many patriotic and other organizations, died suddenly from an apoplectic shock yesterday in New York. Mr. Cone was born in Connecticut 70 years ago. For 25 years Mr. Cone was associated with the late Robert Bonner in the publication of the New York Ledger. He was one of the governors of the Society of Founders and Patriots of America and a vice president of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Obituary Notes.

Job Bentley, aged 67, a well-known window glass worker, died at Arnold yesterday. He is survived by his wife and five children.

John Quinn, aged 67, a former Braddock millman, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Daniel Dunlay, at Pitcairn station. He was born in Ireland and came to this country 42 years ago. He was a fireman at the tin plate plant at Demmler for 18 years. He was a member of the St. Pius Catholic church, McKeesport, and is survived by one son and one daughter.

Citizens Ticket in Coraopolis.

The Citizens party of Coraopolis, composed of Democrats and former Republicans, held a suggestion meeting last evening. The names suggested are: Council, three years, W. M. Parker, E. H. Ferree, F. E. Knock, D. A. Phillips and R. E. Irons; school directors, J. H. Strong, John Dailey, A. D. McCabe, E. N. Phillips; constable, J. H. Beggs and Charles Stewart; auditor, Charles Hahn and Robert Watson. The primaries will be held Thursday, January 26.

RUSSIAN ADMIRAL FLAYS STOESSEL

Declares He Was Incompetent and That Fortress' Surrender Was a Disgrace.

KONDRATENKO THE REAL HERO

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, Jan. 23.—A Russian admiral who has just joined the prisoners from Port Arthur now in Japan, has given an extended statement covering the defense and surrender of the fortress. He characterizes the surrender before the garrison had reached its extremity as a disgrace, bitterly criticises Gen. Stoessel, and lauds Gen. Kondratenko, commander of the Seventh East Siberian rifle regiment, as the true hero of the defense of Port Arthur.

The admiral says Vice Admiral Makaroff, who commanded the Russian squadron at Port Arthur, and who went down with the battleship Petropavlovsk April 13, dictated the policy of inactivity on the part of the squadron, taking the ground it would be hopeless, owing to the inferiority of the Russian naval strength, to engage the fleet of Vice Admiral Togo and that it would be unwise to divide the force defending Port Arthur by running ships to Vladivostok or to neutral ports.

Friction Between Army and Navy.

"There was friction between the army and navy over orders received from St. Petersburg. These orders came to Gen. Stoessel, and intimated the navy should emerge and fight the Japanese, but the heads of our naval force at Port Arthur, notwithstanding the orders from St. Petersburg, deemed it prudent not to divide the defending forces, which action would relieve Togo of the necessity of keeping the majority of his fleet off Port Arthur in order to protect the Japanese transport service.

"The ships of the Russian squadron at Port Arthur were the results of endless experiments with all kinds of naval architecture and armament, and there was no attempt at uniformity. We were terribly handicapped in the manner of speed, and in every case the Japanese naval guns outranged ours by more than 1,000 yards.

"These facts show it would have been a hopeless attempt to give Togo successful battle, and that the only thing left was to endeavor to strengthen Vladivostok with some of our under-manned ships so the Vladivostok squadron could prey on Japanese commerce, and to hold the rest of the squadron at Port Arthur to assist in the defense of the fortress, as well as to keep Togo's fleet from engaging in other enterprises. This policy was decided on by the lamented Makaroff, our best admiral, with the approval of all his officers.

Stoessel an Incompetent.

"Gen. Stoessel, who was in absolute command of the fortress, vigorously opposed the naval policy. He maintained that, despite the unpreparedness of the fortress, Port Arthur could easily be defended by troops armed only with rifles. He opposed the idea that artillery was necessary, but this resulted in causing friction between him and the commanders of the fortress artillery.

"I am sorry to say that from the first Gen. Stoessel proved to be incapable. Though in full command, he never visited the fighting positions during the lifetime of Gen. Kondratenko. Kondratenko was not only the life of the defense, but he possessed in a large measure the quality of peacemaker. He intervened in all cases of trouble, and always eloquently pleaded the cause of the emperor and the necessity for defense, and these he placed above private differences. His ceaseless energy, patience and courage won the confidence of the higher officers of both the army and navy, and likewise won the confidence of the common soldiers.

Kondratenko a Hero.

"Fortunately for the defense, Kondratenko was able in large measure to direct its policy. Stoessel left much to him, and the officers of the navy recognized in him the one man capable of fusing the discordant elements. By day and by night, Gen. Kondratenko visited every portion of the position and constantly risked his life. He was our inspiration. No Russian need be ashamed of the defense made by the garrison while Kondratenko lived.

"It is difficult for a Russian officer to talk about the end. It was worse than a mistake. It was a disgrace. The fortress could easily have held out for another month, as it had food and ammunition sufficient for that period, and, if Kondratenko had remained alive, it would have held out for months longer. In Kondratenko the garrison not only lost a leader, but the one man who had the ability and the power, through his tremendous earnestness, to control Stoessel.

A Disgraceful Surrender.

"For nearly two weeks it was known among the officers that Stoessel and his chief of staff, Reiss, who was incompetent, were preparing for surrender. Through Stoessel's servants the soldiers became aware of what was coming and, brave as they were, the knowledge destroyed their enthusiasm.

"At a council of war, held three days before the capitulation, at which 22 of the higher officers of the army and navy were present, Gen. Stoessel represented that if Port Arthur should be taken by assault there would be fighting in the streets and possibly a massacre. He mentioned the women and children of the garrison, and said he thought it was the duty of the council to avoid such a possibility.

"Notwithstanding these representations, only three officers, Chief of Staff Reiss and two others, favored capitulation.

"Stoessel's note to Gen. Nogi came without warning, and the word surprise inadequately expresses our condition, after the sentiment of the majority of the council had been expressed. What the officers said and felt, and how the men thought and behaved, will be known later, but I say now, and I believe the majority of the officers of the garrison will support me, the capitulation of the fortress was a disgrace to Russia.

Blew Up the Ships.

"When the news that Gen. Stoessel had sent a letter to Gen. Nogi offering to surrender, reached the navy, we realized the necessity of destroying our ships beyond the possibility of their use by the Japanese. Accordingly, on the night of January 1, every vessel in the harbor was ordered to be torpedoed several times in the engines, boilers, shafts and funnels. It was a hard night's work, but the Japanese will never be able to utilize a single ship of our navy at Port Arthur.

"Shells from the 11-inch howitzers failed to explode when they struck the soft earth or landed in the water. There are thousands of them at the bottom of the harbor. When we recovered one that had not exploded, we immediately sent it back to the Japanese. This was possible, because the rifling of the Japanese guns runs from left to right, while the rifling in ours runs from right to left and both howitzers are the same size.

"I came as prisoner to Japan because I felt it to be my duty to share the destinies of our men. I do not criticise those who gave their parole, but I believe that I would be dishonored if I returned to Russia after doing so."

FESS TALKED ON SLAVERY AS A SECTIONAL QUESTION

The Chicago University Man Delivered Another of His Interesting University Extension Course Lectures.

Prof. Simeon Davison Fess, M. A., of the University of Chicago, lectured last evening at the Conservatory of Music to one of the largest audiences that has attended the University Extension course of lectures this season, on the subject, "Slavery as a Sectional Question." It was the third of a series of lectures on growth of representative government in the United States.

Prof. Fess enumerated as some of the causes leading to the final great crash—the struggle for equilibrium in congress between representatives of the north and south; the importation of slaves, forbidden in 1808; the annexation of Texas, the Kansas-Nebraska bill, the Brooks-Sumner episode, the Dred Scott decision and the John Brown raid.

Prof. Fess will deliver the fourth of the series, "The Great Civil Strife," on Monday, January 30.

STREET BRAWLERS ASSERTS CASSINI

Declares Americans Should Not Consider Present Movement Revolution.

SHOT FOR DISOBEYING LAW

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, has had no official information from St. Petersburg about the riots there, but tonight the ambassador after reading the afternoon dispatches, said:

"Human life is sacred the world over, and nowhere more so than in Russia, but it should be remembered that the public peace is of predominating importance and vigorous measures are sometimes necessary to preserve order. This is the situation in the Russian capital. There is a great industrial strike in progress. Because their demands have not been forthwith granted the strikers, as strikers in every country have done, have endeavored to storm the emperor's own palace in the effort to gain an audience with his majesty. The troops ordered them to stop outside the gates and the crowds refused. The troops then fired a volley of blank cartridges and on came the crowd. There was only one thing else to be done—to fire with ball cartridges. That stopped the strikers and they fled in every direction.

"There is a great deal of difference between a riot and a revolution and Americans will make a great mistake if they infer from the unfortunate stories of the disturbances in the Russian capital that the demonstration is revolutionary, or even hostile to the war. The love of a great people for their sovereign is not wiped out by the cries of a few street brawlers. It will be found when public order has been restored that the traditional and ancient affection of the Russian people for their emperor still abides.

"For when violence has been suppressed and order restored the strikers through the proper channels will be given a hearing; their demands will be considered and all that justice and expediency can be done in their behalf will be forthcoming.

"Strikes occur in every country. No country appreciates this more, perhaps, than the United States, and in no country would an attack upon the home of the country's ruler be repelled more quickly than in your own.

"You have asked me for a word of comment upon the press dispatches, for as you know I have had no official advices. I can only say that it is an unfortunate condition of affairs which I hope will be soon relieved. The demonstrations are not against the war, there is no revolution in Russia, nor will there be."

AMERICAN IDEAS WERE ABSORBED BY GOPON

Our System of Government Explained to Him While in Boston.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Father Gopon, the young priest, who is leading the strikers in St. Petersburg, was in Boston three years ago, attending the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the foundation of the Boston Young Men's Christian association. At that time Father Gopon was introduced by another name, Father Agathon, by which he is also known. In the delegation showing the visitors around was John Baker of Melrose, an escaped exile from Siberia, and well known for his writings.

"And who are you, please?" asked Father Gopon.

"John Baker of Melrose," answered that gentleman. At the mention of the name the Russian stepped back in amazement, as the name was one proscribed. Mr. Baker arranged a meeting with Mr. Gopon, and afterwards had a conference of six hours with him in a Boston hotel. During the conference the exile explained to the young priest, the military, the police system, the church and the government of the United States. It is perhaps much that he learned during his visit to America that Father Gopon has been explaining to his followers in St. Petersburg.

As Mr. Baker remembers Father Agathon or Father Gopon, he was a man of about 35 years of age, a missionary priest without a charge, and doing work which might be compared to that of the Brotherhood of St. John in this city.

Worn Out? Run Down?

I will gladly give you a full dollar's worth of my remedy to test.

Nothing to deposit. Nothing to promise. The dollar bottle is free. Your druggist, on my order, will hand you a full dollar's worth and send me the bill.

Why do work and worry and excess and strain and over-indulgence break down constitutions and make men and women worn out and run down and restless and sleepless and discouraged and morose? Because they weaken the tiny, tender nerves on which life itself depends.

Not the nerves you ordinarily think about—not the nerves that govern your movements and your thoughts.

But the automatic nerves that unguided and unknown, night and day, keep your heart in motion—control the digestive apparatus—regulate your liver—operate your kidneys.

These are the nerves that worry wears out and work breaks down.

It does no good to treat the ailing organ—the irregular heart—the disordered liver—the rebellious stomach—the deranged kidneys. They are not to blame. But go back to the nerves that control them. There you will find the seat of the trouble.

It does no good to take stimulants and narcotics, for theirs, at best, is but a temporary effect which merely postpones the day of reckoning.

There is nothing new about this—nothing any physician would dispute. But it remained for Dr. Shoop to apply this knowledge—to put it to practical use. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the result of a quarter century of endeavor along this very line. It does not dose the organ or deaden the pain—but it does go at once to the nerve—the inside nerve—the power nerve—and builds it up, and strengthens it and makes it well. That is the end of all vital troubles. That is the end of sleepless nights and restless days. That is the end of "nervousness," the end of brain fag and fatigue.

If you are worn out, run down and have never tried my remedy, merely write and ask. I will send you an order on your druggist which he will accept as gladly as he would accept a dollar. He will hand you from his shelves a standard sized bottle of my prescription, and he will send the bill to me. This offer is made only to strangers to my remedy. Those who have once used the Restorative do not need this evidence. There are no conditions—no requirements. It is open and frank and fair. It is the supreme test of my limitless belief. All that I ask you to do is to write—write today.

For a free order for a full dollar bottle you must address Dr. Shoop, Box 4568, Racine, Wis. State which book you want.

APPORTIONMENT BILL INTRODUCED

Representative McWhinney Presents Measure to Increase General Assembly.

LEGISLATION ON NEWSPAPERS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., Jan. 23.

Representative McWhinney of Allegheny tonight introduced a legislative apportionment bill. It provides for 207 members of the lower house, a gain of three over the present membership. Allegheny, should this bill pass, would gain eight members, making the representation 24 instead of 16, the present quota. Other gains are, Philadelphia two, Blair one, Cambria one, Clearfield one, Fayette one, Jefferson one, Luzerne two, Lackawanna two, Northumberland one and Westmoreland one, total, 21. The losses are one each for the following counties: Adams, Bedford, Bradford, Bucks, Center, Chester, Clarion, Columbia, Crawford, Huntingdon, Indiana, Lancaster, Lycoming, Mercer, Montgomery, Schuylkill, Susquehanna and Wayne, total, 18. Unless the leaders change their program there is no chance of a new apportionment.

Senator Goehring of Allegheny tonight introduced a bill which provides a remedy for individuals, corporations, associations, etc., who are the victims of newspaper misstatements, and making compulsory adequate retraction. In explanation of this measure, Mr. Goehring said:

Authors of Bill Kept Secret.

"Without their consent I do not care to give the names of the authors of this bill. It should be passed or rejected upon its merits without regard to the source from which it emanated. Its object is to compel newspapers, in case of false publication, to do what they should do without resort to legal measures, i. e., publish a retraction with the same prominence given the false publication.

"Most newspapers will not hesitate to repair the wrong done, but for the few who refuse to do so, an act of this kind should be available. This measure has received careful consideration, and I have reason to believe will become a law."

The act provides:

Section 1. That whenever any publication is made in any newspaper printed or published in this state referring to any individual, association, firm or corporation, and which such individual, association, firm or corporation shall allege to be false, either in whole or in part, he or it may file a bill against the publisher or publishers of such newspaper in any court of equity in this commonwealth where such newspaper is published or the publication has been circulated, complain of such publication, and praying the court to inquire as to its truth or falsity, and the court shall in each case have power to make all necessary orders for the service of the bill upon the defendants in whatever county they may reside or be found, and also for the purpose of requiring an appearance and answer or the entry of a decree in case no appearance is entered or answer filed.

Shall Award Jury Trial.

Sec. 2. If an answer be filed the said court shall proceed to hear said case, and on the demand of either party, in case any facts are in dispute, shall award a trial by jury as to such facts, and in that case the cause shall be tried as speedily as possible and shall have precedence for trial over other causes.

Sec. 3. In case a decree is entered in default of appearance or answer or when the said cause has been heard by the court either itself or with the aid of a jury, as above provided, if the court shall find the publication to be false in any particular, it shall have power to direct a retraction thereof in such general or specific form as the court may direct in its decree and the same shall be published in the newspaper in which the original publication was made in such place, type and for such number of issues as the court in its discretion may deem right and proper, and the said court may enforce its decree by attachment for contempt or other penalty. If the court shall find that the publication was true, then the bill may be dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff.

BILLS ARE INTRODUCED IN THE STATE SENATE

Measure for Appointment of Lewis and Clark Exposition Commission Favorably Reported.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—The senate was in session for one hour tonight and adjourned until tomorrow. Mr. Herbst of Berks presented a resolution, which was referred to the committee on legislative apportionment, calling for an examination by a committee of senators of the Lebanon senatorial district. Mr. Herbst contended that Lebanon county comprises one senatorial district in direct violation of the state constitution.

Among the measures favorably reported from committees to the senate tonight was the joint resolution creating a commission of 11 persons to represent Pennsylvania at the Lewis and Clark exposition. The resolution carries an appropriation of $50,000 for the erection of a state building. The bill creating a state department of health was also favorably reported.

Among the bills introduced in the senate tonight were these:

Mr. Rosenk of Montgomery, appropriating $223,000 to the Norristown Insane hospital; $90,000 to the Children's Aid society of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Phillips of Lawrence, appropriating $20,000 to the Western Pennsylvania Colored Industrial school.

Mr. Brown of Philadelphia, appropriating $167,000 to the Eastern penitentiary; $70,000 to the German hospital; $100,000 to the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Stober of Lancaster, repealing the act of June 8, 1895, authorizing the commonwealth to rebuild over navigable rivers and other streams which have been declared public highways by act of assembly, bridges which have been destroyed; authorizing counties to rebuild over navigable rivers and other streams which have been declared public highways bridges which have been destroyed, and providing that the state pay half the cost.

Mr. Stineman of Cambria, appropriating $45,000 to the Conemaugh Valley Memorial hospital.

Mr. Crawford of Allegheny, appropriating $100,000 to the Charity hospital, Pittsburgh.

Mr. Brown of Philadelphia, creating a commission of nine persons to select a site in the state forestry reservation of Franklin county for the erection of a state institution for the treatment of incipient tuberculosis, and appropriating $250,000 therefor.

Mr. Woods of Allegheny, authorizing the judges of county courts to determine from time to time the number of jurors to be summoned and returned and serve in such courts; establishing in counties containing a population of from 300,000 to 1,000,000 a board of assessment and revision of taxes for state and county purposes and abolishing the offices of ward, borough and township assessors in so far as respects the assessment of state and county taxes; amending the 74th section of the act consolidating, revising and amending the laws relating to penal proceedings and pleadings so as to repeal the provision which prohibits the imposing of sentences to expire between November 15 and February 15 of any year.

Mr. Woods of Westmoreland, providing that an appeal shall lie to the orphans' court from all decisions rendered by the register of wills granting an issue devisavit vel non in a contest concerning the validity of a will; the said appeal to be taken and perfected within the time and shall be heard and determined in the way and manner in which the appeals are now taken and heard from decisions of such register allowing probate of the will.

Mr. Cummings of Warren, validating ordinances and other transactions of boroughs wherein there has occurred a misnomer, omission, informality or irregularity in the corporate name of such borough.

Mr. Heidelbaugh of Lancaster, amending the act relating to toll on bridges so as to authorize an increase in tolls on bridges that have been rebuilt by corporations.

Mr. Grime of Bucks, amending the laws relating to building and loan associations so as to change the payment to withdrawals from the legal rate of interest to actual or book values.

BOY'S ABDOMEN PUNCTURED BY HORSE'S SHARP SHOES

In the presence of 150 schoolmates 11-year-old Charles Stanley, Jr., of 749 Bouquet street, McKees Rocks, was run down by a team attached to a cab in front of the borough school house at 1 o'clock yesterday. The driver took no notice of the boy's injuries. His head and body were trampled upon and the wheels passed over his legs. He was taken to his home, where Dr. P. T. Sullivan stated the boy's abdomen had been punctured by the sharp calks of the horses' shoes. He may die.

REGISTRATION BILL PREPARED

Measure Will Be Presented in Legislature at Harrisburg This Week.

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED LAW

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., Jan. 23.

Representative John O. Sheatz of Philadelphia will introduce a bill this week providing for the personal registration of voters. The measure has been prepared by the joint committee for the promotion of election reforms in the state. The following is a summary of the proposed legislation:

Each city will be divided by the county commissioners, subject to the review of the court of quarter sessions, into registry districts containing about 2,500 voters. The court shall appoint for each division three registrars, who shall not all belong to the same political party. They may each appoint a clerk. The registrars and clerks must have been residents of the city for five years. Preceding each general election, the district registrars must meet in public session for the registry of voters for five specified days and for three days before each municipal election. Their hours must be from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. and from 7:30 to 10 p. m.

Every person claiming the right to vote must appear in person and if he is not known to some of the registrars he must produce a qualified elector of his district to vouch for him. If the claim of the elector, made under oath, is approved by a majority of the registrars the following information will be placed on the register of votes:

Full name, occupation, age at last birthday, height, place of birth, time of residence in state, time of residence in election district, if formerly a resident of the state; time of return and previous place of residence; place of residence with street and number, whether owner, lessee, boarder or lodger; if lodger, name of person with whom he lodges; tax paid, with date and place; whether tax receipt produced or affidavit of loss; name of voucher, if any; whether or not assistance will be required in marking the ballot, and if required the reason; signature of claimant, if required.

Should the voter be challenged on election day upon identity, he shall be required to sign the registry of voters again. The registrars of each division shall prepare three copies of the registry. Names shall continue on the registry for one year without further action by the voter and no person shall be entitled to vote who is not duly registered. A copy of the registry shall be kept for public inspection at the place of registry and another will be open to the public at a public office (the office is not named in the bill). All three copies shall be in the hands of the election officers on election day. Any citizen has the right to petition the court to have names added or stricken from the registry.

Three watchers may be appointed by each party with power to challenge and interrogate applicants for registration. No person on the registry list shall be excluded from voting unless successfully challenged for nonpayment of taxes, removal from election district or upon identity. Not more than ten electors, other than registrars, clerks and watchers, shall be allowed in registry room at one time. Registrars shall attest naturalization papers and tax receipts produced by claimants. The county commissioners shall prepare and distribute all lists and stationery and provide places of meeting for registrars. Two copies of registry list shall be furnished and used as ballot check list and voting check list in place of assessors' lists heretofore required. Registrars and clerks shall be sworn before entering upon duties. Registrars are empowered to administer oaths and perjury before them shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment. Neglect or refusal to serve as a registrar is punishable by fine.

A registrar knowingly making a false registration or refusing to make a legal one is punishable by fine and imprisonment. A registrar or clerk registering a name, except in accordance with the provisions of the act, or by altering any registry list, is punishable by fine and imprisonment. An election officer improperly refusing the vote of a registered voter or accepting the vote of a person not registered is punishable by fine and imprisonment.

CHILD LABOR MEASURE INTRODUCED IN HOUSE

Large Number of Bills of Local Interest Presented to the Legislature at Harrisburg.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—The following bills were introduced in the house tonight:

Mr. Thompson of Fayette, amending the Brooks high license act of May 13, 1887, so as to provide that the offender against the law shall be fined not less than $50 nor more than $500 and undergo an imprisonment of not less than 20 nor more than 90 days, or both, or either, at the discretion of the court.

Mr. Reidleman of Dauphin, to abolish child labor and improve the condition of women and children in factories and other establishments, which was prepared by the state factory inspection department. The bill raises the age limit from 13 to 14 years, prohibits the employment of girls under 16 years of age in cigar and tobacco factories, fixes a physical standard of all persons employed in factories, etc., prohibits night work by women and children, makes 10 hours a maximum day's work and authorizes persons having authority to administer an oath to issue certificates to children. Mr. Beidleman also introduced a bill appropriating $25,000 to the state game commission.

Mr. Hasselbarth of Allegheny, appropriating $65,000 to the South Side hospital, Pittsburgh.

Mr. Francies of Allegheny, appropriating $5,000 to the J. M. Gusky Hebrew orphanage, Allegheny City, and $6,000 to the Temporary Home for Children, Allegheny City.

Mr. Henderson of Allegheny, appropriating $5,000 to the Western Pennsylvania Humane society.

Mr. Kennedy, Beaver, creating a Pennsylvania commission to the Lewis and Clark exposition, composed of 15 members, and appropriating $50,000 for its expenses.

Mr. Ammerman of Montour, appropriating $251,450 25 to the Danville State Insane hospital.

Mr. Hays of Butler, appropriating $20,000 to the Butler hospital.

Mr. Coll of Philadelphia, defining mutual beneficial associations and their status, providing for their registration in the office of the insurance commissioner and placing them under his jurisdiction and supervision.

Mr. Creasy of Columbia, authorizing trolley companies to carry freight.

Mr. Shern of Philadelphia, fixing the salary of the district attorney in counties of over 800,000 population at $12,000 and providing for the appointment of one or more assistants, not exceeding eight, three of whom are to receive $5,000 annually each, three to receive $4,000 each and two to receive $3,000 each; appropriating $30,000 to the Children's Aid Society of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Braun of Warren, appropriating $18,000 to the Warren hospital.

Mr. Hockenberry of Butler, appropriating $75,000 to the Slippery Rock State Normal school; forbidding companies authorized to execute trusts or to act in a fiduciary capacity without entering such security than their own obligation from becoming security for the faithful performance of duty by any person or public officer.

Mr. Maust of Cumberland, appropriating $75,000 to be used by the state board of health as an emergency fund for the suppression of epidemics.

Mr. Osborne of Venango, appropriating $25,000 to the Franklin City hospital.

Mr. Cooper of Delaware appropriating $8,241 84 for the payment of the deficiency in the salary of the state treasurer; fixing the salaries of the employes of the state treasury as follows: Cashier, $3,000; assistant cashier, $2,200; bond clerk, $2,500; assistant bond clerk, $1,800; expert bookkeeper, $2,000; bond clerk, $2,500; assistant bond clerk, $2,200; corporation clerk, $1,800; clerk, $1,800; two clerks, $1,400 each; two stenographers, $1,000 each; watchman, $900; fireman, $900; messenger, $1,200.

Mr. Holcomb of Luzerne, requiring automatic safety controllers on hoisting engines for the prevention of loss of life and limb of employes and other persons from overhoisting or runaways in shafts.

The bill providing for the acquisition of toll bridges was read the first time and then recommitted to the judiciary general committee. The house adjourned until Tuesday morning.

Sharpsburg House Damaged.

Fire of unknown origin yesterday afternoon damaged the home of August McChesney, 4 Ferry street, Sharpsburg. The fire started in a clothes press in the second story. One side of the building and McChesney's furniture were destroyed, causing a loss of $900. Justice R. W. Saint of Sharpsburg owns the building, which was insured. There was no insurance on the household goods.

Esplen Man Cut His Throat.

Martin Mullen of Revere street, Esplen, is in a serious condition as a result of attempting suicide early Sunday morning by cutting his throat with a razor. He was employed as a section hand on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, and is said to have had domestic trouble.

LOCAL OPTION BILL IS READY

State Anti-Saloon League Prepared to Go Before the Legislature.

PROVISIONS OF THE MEASURE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., Jan. 22.

The state Anti-Saloon league will complete the details for its campaign in the present legislature for the passage of a general local option bill for Pennsylvania at a meeting here tomorrow of the board of trustees. The bill permits the electors of any county, city, ward of a city, borough or township to determine by an election whether the sale of liquor shall be prohibited and provides a heavy penalty for the violation of the proposed act.

When 25 per cent of the voters of any county, city, etc., petitions the court for an election to determine the question of the sale of liquor the court shall order a special election in not less than 20 nor more than 30 days from the filing of the petition.

The election shall be held at the usual polling places under the laws governing general and municipal elections, and the ballots shall contain the printed questions, "Shall the sale of intoxicating liquors be prohibited?" followed by the words "Yes" and "No," with a square at the right of each word in which the elector shall designate his choice by a cross mark.

When a majority of the electors shall have voted in favor of prohibiting the sale of liquor, "it shall be unlawful for any court of quarter sessions, board of license commissioners or other power or authority to issue or grant any license authorizing the sale of any spirituous, vinous, malt or other intoxicating liquors in said county, city, ward of a city, borough or township at any time hereafter until at an election, as hereinafter provided, a majority of electors shall vote against prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors."

At any time after two years of the date of the first election another election may be petitioned for and shall be ordered by the court. The sale of liquor in a district which shall have voted against its sale is punishable by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or an imprisonment of from 30 days to one year.

The bill provides that all licenses shall continue in force during the time for which they were granted, unless revoked under existing laws. The proposed act does not affect the localities in which the sale of liquors is now prohibited and goes into effect immediately upon its passage.

The Ministers association of Harrisburg at its regular meeting today indorsed the league's campaign for local option and declared against any tampering with the "Blue laws" by the present legislature.

EXPLOSION OF DYNAMITE INJURES FIFTEEN MEN

Railroad Workmen Were Blown Up While Eating Their Dinner—Four of Them Are Expected to Die.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DUBOIS, PA., Jan. 23.—Fifteen men were seriously injured by a dynamite explosion near Benezette today, four of whom will probably die before morning. The accident occurred on the line of the New Buffalo & Susquehanna road. The men were gathered about a bonfire eating their dinner. Near the fire was a lot of dynamite and caps. The caps exploded and the concussion caused the dynamite to explode. Every man in the party was injured, and some were terribly mutilated. The injured arrived here tonight for medical and surgical treatment.

PITTSBURGHER THANKS PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—H. G. Morgan, of Pittsburgh, president of the National Hay association, and 12 other members of the association, today called on President Roosevelt to thank him for the position he has taken on the question of freight rates. It was pointed out that hay had been advanced by the railroads to freight of the fifth class, increasing the rate from $1 to $1 40 a ton, thus "prohibiting business in some sections and imposing a burden upon it in all others."

Fire Damages Home of Rev. J. F. Ray.

A torch used for thawing water pipes started a fire yesterday morning at the home of the Rev. J. F. Ray, pastor of the Avalon United Presbyterian church, Ben Avon. The flames destroyed a pantry and slightly damaged a room.

ORPHANS FIND REAL POLITICS

Have Their Factional Quarrels Just Like the Other Political Organizations.

J. D. O'NEIL MAKES STATEMENT

The few Orphans of the Twenty-first ward who want to effect fusion with the Citizens and Democrats and reject the action of the majority of their party in indorsing the Republican candidates on the ward tickets were thrown out of court by the Orphans' central committee last night. M. W. Hall, who claims to be chairman of the Orphans organization in the Twenty-first ward, appeared before the central committee to justify the action of his faction in fusing with the Citizen-Democrats.

Mr. Hall said that some time ago he read in the newspapers that the Orphans of the ward intended to fuse with the Republicans; he had not been consulted; thereupon he called a meeting of the ward committee, and at that meeting a committee was appointed to consider fusion with other political parties. This committee decided to fuse with the Democrats and Citizens and he asked the central committee to approve the ticket thus selected.

The two members of the central committee from the Twenty-first ward are J. K. Wynard and George W. McNeil, and the central committee left the decision to them. They promptly decided that the Hall ticket was invalid in the Lincoln school district of the ward. They do not dispute the Hall faction's right to fuse with the Citizens and Democrats in the Homestead district of the ward, but they insist that the Republican-orphan ticket in the Lincoln school district is the only valid Orphan ticket. Each district votes separately for two of four school directors. In the Lincoln district the two candidates for school directors are an Orphan and a Republican, and in the Homewood district an Orphan and a Democrat. The candidate for constable is on all four tickets and McNeil and Wynard will decide whether the Orphans' candidate for assessor shall be the Republican nominee or the man named by the Citizens, Democrats and the Hall faction of the Orphans.

Thirty-eight of the 39 ward chairmen of the Citizens party met last night in the Citizens headquarters in Third avenue. The nomination papers from the different wards will be filed today. The meeting was presided over by L. S. Levin and James W. Clark, secretary of the Citizens city committee, was also present. Clark said he was so much encouraged by the reports brought in by the ward chairmen that he was willing to predict a majority of 15,000 for Lardin.

Senator P. C. Knox was in Pittsburgh yesterday to attend the Crucible club's dinner. Senator Knox thinks local river improvements will be well provided for in the rivers and harbors bill to be presented in congress, and that the bill will probably pass the house of representatives, but he says no one can tell what the senate will do with the bill.

The senator, when asked if the legislature was likely to pass a Greater Pittsburgh bill, said he thought it would, if the Allegheny country members could agree on one.

County Recorder J. D. O'Neil, to whom an injustice was done in the newspapers on Sunday, by an item sent out from McKeesport by the Tri-State News agency, said yesterday:

The statement made in The Gazette of Sunday was very misleading. There was really no political significance in the fight in the Republican primaries of Saturday, as one was in the Second ward, where I live, a determined effort was made by the administration to defeat Mr. Hampson and Mr. Evans, the candidates for council supported by myself and friends. They both won out by decisive majorities. In the Sixth ward, the home of Mayor Tallenstein, a fight was made against Mr. Bedell simply because he was a personal friend and a strong supporter of mine. Mr. Bedell was victorious by a large majority. For city assessor I supported Mr. Hill, the winning candidate, and myself and friends supported the winning candidates for council in eight out of eleven wards.

Result of Esplen Primaries.

The Republican primary election held last night in Esplen borough resulted as follows: Council, three years, I. J. Dietrich, W. S. McClatchey, Robert Gray; school directors, three years, Robert Meslick and Samuel Foster; one year, J. W. Shuck; constable, Michael Roach.

Arrested on Wife's Complaint.

Arnold Evershore of Fleming Park, McKees Rocks, was held in $200 bail for court by Justice John Morgan last evening on charges of desertion and non-support. His wife alleged he deserted her last October. Last week he returned from Chicago and she had him arrested.

MAKING A FIGHT AGAINST CONSOLIDATION

Further Investigation Will Be Made Into Brownsville and Cadwalader Postoffices.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Representative Bates of Meadville has been appointed chairman of the committee on the disposition of papers in the executive departments. This assignment gives Mr. Bates a room in the capitol next to the minority caucus room.

Representative Cooper of Uniontown was at the postoffice department today to protest against the consolidation of Cadwalader and Brownsville postoffices. It appears that there is a report on file with the department providing for the consolidation of these offices. The change was to be effective February 15, but Mr. Cooper secured its postponement, pending further investigation. It is being urged that as Brownsville is a town with a population of 1,500 and Cadwalader has 3,000, the offices should not be consolidated.

Representative Huff of Greensburg has introduced a bill providing that the secretary of war replace the war record of Aaron Loughner of Company K, Sixty-first Pennsylvania volunteer infantry.

Representative Cooper introduced a bill providing that the name of William Freeman, Company A, Ninety-seventh Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, be placed on the pension roll for $30 a month.

Representative Bates today recommended F. C. Drury be appointed postmaster of Beaver Center to succeed J. H. Drury, resigned.

Representative Sibley of Franklin presented the petition of the Kiko grange of Russell asking for the increase of the power of the interstate commerce commission.

Representative Richardson of Tennessee today introduced a resolution asking that the treaty relative to the Isle of Pines not be adopted until a joint commission of the senate and house investigate the condition of the island. In the resolution it is stated that a number of American citizens, including people from Pennsylvania and Ohio, have at the invitation of the government, settled upon the island and that it would be an injustice to them to turn the island over to Cuba. It is alleged that there are now over 3,000 American citizens on the island.

FIGHTING BARBER BADLY BUMPED

It Took Frank Morgan Less Than One Round to Turn the Trick. Some Lively Bouts.

ONE FIGHT WAS FOUL

It took Frank Morgan, the Pittsburgh Lyceum boy, less than one round to convince Charles Johnson, known as the "Fighting Barber," of the Penn avenue district, that the fight game is not his long suit, and that he had better stick to the barber business in the future. This happened at the bouts in Evans hall last night and the hall was packed with fight lovers.

Johnson has gained something of a reputation as a strong boy, and he wanted to try the fighting line and accepted a chance for a try with Morgan. This was the chance he got last night, and his experience will probably last him for a life time. No sooner had the gong sounded than Morgan went right after Johnson and battered him all over the ring, sending in lefts and rights in such quick succession as to daze his opponent and bring a stream of blood from his nose. The affair was so one sided that the police inspector, who was present, ordered the bout stopped. The bout lasted long enough, however, to give the followers of the game a chance to see Morgan in action and he was pronounced one of the best that has been turned out in this city in years.

By long odds the best as well as the fastest bout of the season was the one between Patsy Brannigan, the clever little 90-pounder of this city, and "Kid" Sullivan of Homestead, who won the amateur championship, and who is regarded as a wonder by the Homestead people. The little fellows put up six rounds that were full of fight all the way. No decision was given, but had there been one she would have gone to Brannigan, who outfought and outpointed the Homestead lad in every one of the rounds. This was the bout that stirred up the enthusiasm, and both were loudly cheered at its conclusion.

Louis Isaac of this city, who has been beating all before him of late, caught a tartar in Mike Jordan of McKeesport, who had more than an even break with baseball pitcher, and he managed to land a few of them which made Isaacs see stars. The local man, however, used a left jab to fine advantage and had the best of the bout, but he knew he was in a fight before it was over.

Mark Kerwin, who used to be one of the best in the old amateur days, and who has not yet forgotten the game, went on for a six-round bout with Dick Given of Homestead. The bout was pretty one for two rounds, Kerwin having a shade the best of it, but in the third Given accidentally landed a foul blow which made Kerwin wince with pain, and that ended the bout as the local man was unable to continue.

Joe Keally of Allegheny and Harry McGraw of the Herron Hill club went on for a three-round bout and Keally had all the best of it. The boys started off slowly but the wind-up was fast enough to suit anybody. The show was a well conducted affair and was thoroughly enjoyed by the followers of boxing.

Clymer Deal Pleases Clarke.

President Dreyfuss of the local club received word from Manager Clarke yesterday expressing his pleasure that the deal for Outfielder Clymer had been successful. Manager Clarke writes that he wants the players to spend three full weeks at Hot Springs and he approves the club owner's plan of a series of exhibition games after the team leaves the training quarters. It has been arranged to play three games at Louisville, and this meets with the manager's approval.

WHAT THE INDEPENDENT PLAYERS ARE DOING

Lee Fohl, Buck Kennoy, Harry Kellar and "Pat" Briney are to be at this office Thursday evening by request of a baseball manager.

Frank Eustace, who captained the champion Penn Park team of the Tri-State last year, has signed to manage and play third base on the Concord (N. H.) New England league team.

East Liverpool players are signing contracts. John Heckatrone, a first baseman, has signed with Altoona, and Charles Vasbinder, the pitcher from Steubenville, may go with the Athletics. Charles Godwin and Harry Barker, the outfielders, have signed with the Bloomington club of the Ill league. Pitcher George Jarvis will report to the Rochester Eastern league club. Harry Maley, the young pitcher, hopes to be given a trial in the big league.

AMONG THE PASSERS.

The Oakland A. C. has lost its hall and has canceled its home games.

The Sycamore Reserves will play St. John's Lyceum Juniors this evening at the latter's hall.

Knoxville will have Hans Lobert's fast Beltzhoover five for the attraction at Youngs hall this evening.

The Knoxville Midgets challenge 7 to 8-year-old teams. Address Earl Young, 126 Rochelle street, Mt. Oliver station.

The Fayette team will line up against the D. L. and G. A. team of the Point this evening. All players are requested to report not later than 7:15 p. m.

The Knoxville five would like to arrange games with all first junior teams; games to be played in Knoxville's hall. Address George W. Vaughn, 79 Beltzhoover avenue, Pittsburgh.

SCOTT TO RUN IN THE WASHINGTON (D. C.) MEET

Champion School Miler of This Section Will Be Only Western Man in the Games.

Dumont Scott, the champion mile runner of the Pittsburgh High school, who holds the record for that distance for Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia, will compete in the big indoor school meet at Washington, D. C., Saturday night.

Scott will be the only western representative entered, and his performance will be watched with interest. It was the intention to send a High school team east to contest with the best prep. schools of that section that will be in the meet, but the idea was abandoned.

Scott won the mile race in the championship school meet at Friendship park last spring, beating a fast field from the other schools. He did the distance in 5:05, creating a new local interscholastic record for the distance. In the July 4 races at the same park he won the event from another good field in 4:56. He is always in good condition. Last week he practiced at the Schenley park track.

Interclass hockey games at the Pittsburgh High school will be started this afternoon by the students on their ice at Friendship park, which has been flooded and affords excellent skating. The classes C4 and C 6 will start the series. The teams will line up as follows:

C 4.		C 6.
N. Orr	Forward	Griffith
Rinehart	Point	Meaner
Slocum	Cover Point	Ressler
Fullman, Capt.	Forward	Miller
Hogen	Center	Schoedie
G. Orr	L. Wing	Dornberger, Capt.
Reed or Kirk	R. Wing	Ramsey

The W. U. P. students are beginning to line up for the basketball game with South Side Friday night at Cyclorama hall. Walter East, who is one of the strongest players on the college team, is also a member of the South Side five and when these teams meet East is kept out of the game, because South Side objects to his playing. Now since South Side won from W. U. P. last Saturday night, it is thought the objection will be removed and East will play with his collegians.

As the result of the defeat of Princeton by Yale at basketball on Saturday night, the Blue is tied with Columbia's team for the lead in the Intercollegiate league. The New Haven-ites whose first game it was, have the same percentage as the Light Blue and White team, which has won two matches. Each team plays eight games in the season, which has only just begun. From the showing up to date, Princeton and Yale are the colleges that Columbia, last season's champion, has most to fear.

The contests in the Eastern Intercollegiate association thus far have resulted as follows: Columbia defeated Cornell, 30—11; 23—17; Yale defeated Princeton, 17—13; Princeton defeated Pennsylvania, 33—37; Pennsylvania defeated Cornell, 23—25. The standing in the league:

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.
Columbia	2	0	1000	Pennsylv'a	1	1	.500
Yale	1	0	1000	Cornell	0	4	.000
Princeton	2	1	.666

The allied sports committee of the University of Pennsylvania athletic association, which has charge of basketball, swimming, cricket, fencing, lacrosse, tennis, etc., at the university, has been organized for the current year, with the following sub-committees: Basketball, boxing and wrestling, M. S. Bennett; lacrosse and fencing, L. S. Oliver; cricket, Dr. J. A. Scott, chairman; golf, swimming and tennis, Joseph Carson; swimming and gymnastics, R. G. Torrey. R. Francis Wood, 1906, has been elected assistant manager of the varsity crew by the university rowing committee.

The Harvard baseball schedule has not been officially released as yet, as there are still some games to be fixed up, but the games so far arranged for are: April 18, Harvard at Annapolis; May 3, Colby at Harvard; May 6, Harvard at Holy Cross; May 13, Harvard at University of Pennsylvania; May 20, Princeton at Harvard; May 24, Williams at Harvard; May 27, Lehigh at Harvard; June 7, Bowdoin at Harvard; June 10, University of Pennsylvania at Harvard; June 14, Columbia at Harvard; June 17, Holy Cross at Harvard; June 22, Yale at Harvard; June 27, Harvard at Yale; July 1, Harvard vs. Yale in New York, in case of tie.

Allegheny High School will present a strong baseball lineup this season. There will be Billinger behind the bat and Boyle and "Will" Billinger to do the pitching, Waeger and Grier at first, Mason at second, Thompson at short and McNair at third. Games have been arranged with Shadyside and East Liberty. High School also wants to include in its schedule Pittsburgh High, Allegheny Prep., Beaver College, Kiski, Elders Ridge, Indiana Normal, Washington High, Washinton and Jefferson Academy and Braddock High. Address Dale R. Mason, 1107 Ridge avenue, Allegheny.

The members of the Pittsburgh High School baseball team were unable to elect a captain yesterday, but will make a choice next week. All players are to report at the commercial building Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Spuhler, Halferty and Staley take notice. Henning, Bialas and Johns are the three nominated for the captaincy.

W. U. P. BEATS MANCHESTER; WALTER EAST IS THE STAR

The W. U. P. five last night at Raleigh hall beat the Manchester team 37 to 22. Walter East played a star game for W. U. P. The line-up:

W. U. P.—32.		Manchester—22.
Thompson	Forward	Koch
Liebeau	Forward	Yeager, Stehle
Edgar	Center	McLefferty
Cashdollar	Guard	Graham
East	Guard	Patterson

Field goals—Thompson 1, Liebeau 2, Edgar 6, Cashdollar 3, East 2, Yeager 2, Stahle 2, McLafferty 2, Graham 2. Foul goals—Thompson 9, Graham 6. Referee—Bob Kelly.

KENNEL CLUB PREPARES FOR ITS ANNUAL SHOW

Old Board of Officers Was Re-Elected. Entry List Promises to Be Larger Than Ever.

The Duquesne Kennel club held its annual meeting yesterday in its rooms, Lewis block, and after the election of officers for the ensuing year completed arrangements for its coming bench show to be held at Old City hall, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 8, 9, 10 and 11. This will be the seventh annual bench show of the club and promises to eclipse all its predecessors. It has always been a three-point show, that is to say, one with 500 or more entries, but this year the prediction is that it will be brought near a four-point one, or a show with 700 entries.

The bench show committee and secretary were instructed to go ahead and select the judges and secure special attractions for the show. The date for the closing of the entries was fixed at Saturday, February 25, and intending exhibitors should apply at once for entry blanks to Secretary F. S. Stedman, Lewis block.

At the meeting al lthe old officers were re-elected and are as follows: President, J. B. Vandergrift; vice president, J. A. Davidson; treasurer, S. M. McElroy; secretary, F. S. Stedman; solicitor, J. D. McKennan; delegate to American Kennel club, G. M. Carnochan; club veterinarian, Dr. J. Stewart Lacock. Board of directors, B. S. Horne, G. Washington Moore, C. G. Carter, John Moorhead, Jr., W. S. Bell and J. W. Love; bench show committee, C. G. Carter, J. C. Mahler, S. B. Cummings, E. M. Oldham and W. F. Render.

PITTSBURGH GIRLS LOSE.

Allegheny Opens Its Season—One Maid Has Shoulder Dislocated.

The Pittsburgh High school girl team lost to the Allegheny High school five yesterday on the latter's floor in the opening game there, 12 to 8. Although none of the stronger sex were admitted, there was a large crowd of the fair ones present. Play had scarcely commenced when Miss Kingsbacher had her shoulder dislocated. However, after this, the playing was clean and fast. Misses McMillen and Miss Belleville were the bright stars for their respective teams. The Allegheny High boys and girls are rejoicing about this victory over their rival students across the river, as it has been the only time they have come off victorious since the baseball victories three years ago. The lineup:

A. H. S.—12.		P. H. S.—8.
Miss Miller	Forward	Miss Belleville
Miss McMillen	Forward	Miss Stiffler
Miss Friedman, Capt.	Center	Miss Kingsbacher
Miss Renisch	Guard	Miss Vockrodt
Miss Flecks	Guard	Miss Martin

Field goals—McMillen 2, Miller, Keneweg, Fenderick, Belleville 2. Foul goals—McMillen 2, Belleville 4. Substitutions—Keneweg for Miller, Fenderick for McMillen, Ray for Kingsbacher. Referee—"Beth" Barnes and Mary Campbell. Time of halves—15 minutes.

KISKI PASSERS WIN.

Westminster College Five Is Defeated in Fast Game, 24 to 13.

SALTSBURG, PA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Kiski today defeated the Westminster college five, 24 to 13, in a fast game. Not until the last five minutes was Kiski sure of the game. Kiski took the lead and ran up nine points, while Westminster followed with a close score until it tied at the point. Kiski again took the lead and held it for the rest of the game.

Capt. McCreight played his usual fast game, Judy McGregor and Davies, as guards, covered their men in fine style. Gordon and Lamberton threw some very difficult goals and made some beautiful passes. For Westminster Deavore led in goal throwing, making one spectacular goal over his head while going at full speed. Lambe also played a fine game. Lineup:

Kiski—24.		Westminster—13.
Lamberton	Forward	Lambe
Gordon	Forward	Deavore
McCreight	Center	Calhoun
Davies	Guard	Patterson
McGregor	Guard	Marks

Goals—Davies 3, Gordon 3, Lamberton 1, McCreight 1, McGregor 1, Deavore 4, Lambe 1, Marks 1, Poole—McGregor 3, Gordon 2, Lambe 1, Referee—McCall and Doyle. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Kiski will play Grove City here February 2.

MELVILLE IS RELEASED FROM THE HOCKEY TEAM

Tom Melville, the substitute on the Pittsburgh hockey team, has been released. Melville is a player of some ability, but the team has been losing and new players will be engaged, if good ones can be secured. Manager McGwigan has been trying to get Baird and Kent, who played in the local league last year, from the Portage-La Prairie team, which is in the province of Manitoba, Canada. McSwigan wired them transportation last night. He has been after these men all season.

Western Seminary Beaten.

The Western seminary five lost to the U. P. seminary team last night on the latter's floor, 24 to 17. The lineup:

Western Seminary—17.		U. P. Seminary—24.
Cooper	Forward	McClelland
Smith	Forward	Curry

Detroit Loses Player Graham.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 23.—Player Graham's draft by the Detroit American league baseball club does not hold, according to a decision announced today by the national baseball commission, which denies the application by Detroit for a reopening of the draft against the Tacoma club of the Pacific Coast league. The players had non-reserve contracts with the Tacoma club and that club, therefore, loses no players by draft, although Overall goes to Cincinnati on a new contract.

Fighter Sackett in Trouble.

KITTANNING, PA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Othie Sackett, the well-known lightweight pugilist, is in jail here on charges preferred by Miss Barbara Peters of Oil City. Miss Peters alleges that while Sackett was in Kittanning he borrowed $46 from her and never repaid her.

SOCIALS BEATEN IN THREE GAMES

Troy Hill Team of the County League Turned Loose a Little Bowling Surprise.

MANY GAMES WERE BOWLED

The Social team of the Allegheny County Bowling league was treated to something of a surprise last night when the Troy Hill team of the same league appeared on the Social alleys and took all three games from the home team. The Troy Hill team had sent in a request to have last night's game postponed, as some of the best players were unable to be on hand, but this request was denied by Social, and the feat of Troy Hill in taking all the games is therefore the more creditable. Devore of Troy Hill was in fine form, securing both high score and high average. Scores:

FAVORITES FALL BY THE WAYSIDE AT NEW ORLEANS

Moorish Damsel, Owned by Capt. Brown, Breaks Shoulder and Is Destroyed.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23.—Formaster's sharp reversal of form was a feature of today's racing. The colt, not entirely overlooked in the betting, made a show of his field. Bradley Bill was so frisky that he could not quit after he had gone the mile, but kept on three miles farther. All favorites were defeated, two of them, Flying Torch and Montebank being left at the post. Moorish Damsel fell in the first race, breaking her shoulder, and was destroyed. She was owned by Capt. S. S. Brown, and was by Esher-Lamoore. Summary:

First race, 6 furlongs—Antimony, 106, Livingston, 9 to 1, won; Agnes Virginia, 95, J. Hennessy, 40 to 1, second; Bishop Poole, 94, Ambuhon, 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 4-5.

Second race, 6 furlongs—Torlo, 97, J. Hennessy, 15 to 1, won; Signal II., 103, T. Dean, 12 to 1, second; Ojibway, 102, Livingston, 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:18.

Third race, 1 mile—Death, 107, J. Martin, 5 to 1, won; Misanthrope, 100, Nicol, 6 to 1, second; Merry Acrobat, 116, Schilling, even, third. Time, 1:46.

Fourth race, 1 mile—Formaster, 110, Auburchon, 7 to 1, won; Red Raven, 111, Nicol, 9 to 5, second; Ahola, 104, H. Phillips, 4 to 5, third. Time, 1:48.

Fifth race, 1 1-16 miles—Miss Beatty, 101, Schilling, 6 to 1, won; Sarah Maxim, 97, J. Hennessy, 9 to 1, second; Sunny Jonse, 95, De Rouen, 9 to 1, third. Time, 1:53.

Sixth race, 1 mile—Exclamation, 104, H. Phillips, 14 to 5, won; Dalesman, 107, Nicol, 11 to 5, second; Arachne, 102, McCafferty, 9 to 1, third. Time, 1:46 2-5.

DAVIDSON IS CLEVER.

Champion Fancy Skater Gives Exhibition on the Duquesne Garden Ice.

John Davidson, champion fancy skater of the United States, began a week's engagement last night at Duquesne garden, appearing before a fair sized, but appreciative crowd. Davidson is undoubtedly the cleverest man in his class, and he showed all his greatness last night.

His efforts on the stilts were clever. He opened with a straight ahead front roll, and then made a figure three with a spread eagle. After executing similar acts he made a one-foot serpentine three with a spread eagle finish to an eight, concluding with a waltz, which caught the crowd. He concluded the session with a straight spread eagle the full length of the ice, back to innerpart of the circle.

He appeared on short skates in the second session and performed his usual acts.

Davidson will appear again tonight. He will also give a matinee Saturday afternoon when the Pittsburgh High school and Shadyside teams of the Interscholastic Hockey league will meet.

Doing Nothing but Resting.

"Doing anything this winter?" Tommy Leach was asked.

"Nothing but keeping quiet and resting all I can," said Tommy. "When the papers say you are the greatest third baseman in the National league you've got to live up to that reputation. So I'm going to rest every minute of the time until the Pittsburghs start south."

Worn-Out Women

Who Feel Tired and Fail to Get Refreshed by Sleep, Are on the Verge of a Serious Train of Diseases.

At first there will be a great languor, especially in the morning, faintness, dizziness, weakness or sinking at the pit of the stomach; the appetite will be variable, digestion impaired; palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, cold hands and feet, headache, paleness, dark circles under the eyes, and a dragging pain across the hips and loins. The blood becomes thin and watery, and the nerves lacking in strength, the complexion sallow, the cheeks sunken, the bust flattened and reduced, the memory poor, the mind weakened, the disposition irritable and nervous, the least noise often producing complete nervous prostration. By feeding the blood and nerves with Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food, the weak parts are made strong, the weight increased, the sunken cheeks and flattened bust fill out and become firm and plump; the enriched blood makes the complexion clear, the lips red, the eyes bright, and gives new life, strength and animation to the system. Price 50 cents.

Maxim Gorki Describes Butchery of a Peaceable People Seeking Emperor's Ear.

MADE MANY REVOLUTIONISTS

By MAXIM GORKI, NOVELIST.
[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 23.—The Russian revolution has commenced. The bloody dawn of the day of freedom will be followed by more slaughter, but in the end the people will triumph.

Yesterday's awful proceedings have accomplished what years of propaganda could not accomplish. The confidence in the czar—the strongest article in the faith of the common people of Russia, has been destroyed.

Today there are but two parties in Russia, aligned in enmity that will never cease until liberty has been achieved. On my honor the workingmen made the pilgrimage toward the winter palace without a thought of violence in their minds. All they wanted was to present their petition to the emperor. Had he come out of his palace and let them see him all would have ended with cheering and with the multitude on its knees praising him and calling down the blessings of heaven upon his head. Instead the troops were put there to slaughter these peaceable and faithful subjects and they now hold him responsible for the lives that were taken. Every widow and every orphan that was made on Sunday has a voice that will pronounce the end of absolutism in Russia.

Not Weapons of Revolution.

I was in the crowd. Father Gopon and the other chiefs of the movement were in the van. They carried aloft the sacred Ikons, portraits of the czar, and holy crucifixes—are these such weapons as would be held by men seeking to overturn a throne? We gained to within 15 paces of the soldiers. We could look into their eyes and even then we did not believe that they would slay their fellows. There was no warning. We saw the rifles go up and then the fire flashed in our faces and all about us men went down choking with their own blood. Not a word of disloyalty had been spoken when that order was given to shoot.

It was evidently the intention to exterminate the group of leaders, in the center of which were Father Gopon and Father Sergius. Why were they not all slain? The soldiers did not fire properly. Many among them hated their task and though we were within 50 feet of them many of the shots went over our heads. They did not dare refuse to obey the order to fire, but many of them contrived to shoot so that the guilt of the massacre should not rest on their consciences. In no other way can I account for the escape of any considerable number of those who faced the rifles.

Fired Into the Crowd.

But though they could not bear to kill the priests who bore the sacred emblems, numbers of them fired into the crowd. My hand was upon the shoulder of a young man as the rifles went up. He fell under it and as he rolled at my feet the blood gushed from his mouth. It was impossible to miss had the men shot as they were ordered. I certainly would not be here today had all that volley gone into the mass of men. The picture of the czar above us was shattered by the bullets.

As the wounded tried to rise from the snow they were shot down again and again. It was cruel and unnecessary work. We made no resistance. Even if we had been so minded, we had nothing with which to offer battle. The crowd fell back before the bullets. Even then the troops did not cease firing.

Directly before me a man stooped to look at a friend who had fallen; to see if he was dead, or if he was dying to get his last word for the family he left behind. A guard deliberately shot him through the head and he fell dead across the body of the man he would have succored. There was no panic even when men were dropping on every side and it seemed as if every man in that crowd was fated to die. Those not killed went to other parts of the city to join their brothers.

Spoke Their Minds First Time.

I went to the Nevsky Prospect where the workmen had gathered to consider the outcome of the movement. Orators sprang up and addressed them. For the first time in Russia men spoke their minds. I was with a friend. He felt the call to speak to his people and mounted a step. He was making a speech, when the soldiers came again and once more the rifles spoke and the bullets whistled about me. My friend clapped his hand to his breast, reeled from the step and fell in the roadway. He was dead when I reached him. Again men were scrambling in the bloody snow, or falling headlong and lying still.

The horror of it all stilled the voices of those left alive. I saw a boy staring at his arm that had been shattered by a bullet as if surprise had overcome every other sentiment, and all the time the merciless hail of lead was pursuing us. The crowd scattered as it fled. This at least should have marked the end of the slaughter, but it did not. The soldiers chose their marks among the escaping people and picked them off as they run.

In other sections of the city the same ghastly scenes were being enacted because a sovereign would not receive a petition that bore nothing but respect for him and loyalty to the country.

Vain Call on Officials.

Again I must say that there was not even a contingent purpose of disorder or revolution in the progress of the workingmen to where they hoped to see their ruler. We tried in every way to prevent bloodshed. I was a member of the committee appointed at a meeting of the literary classes on Saturday. Other committeemen were Prof. Karevoff, Editor Hessen of Provo, Messers. Annensky, Peshekenoff, Myakomin and Arsenieff, all well-known names in Russian literature and all my respected friends. We visited Witte at his home and Prince Mirsky at the office of the minister of the interior. Deputy Rydsevesky received us in the absence of the prince and we begged them not to call out the troops, and to do so would lead to awful bloodshed and an outbreak of terrorism that would result in the loss of prestige by the czar. You know how vain were our efforts.

The effects of yesterday's work will never be eliminated. There are more revolutionists in Russia now by hundreds of thousands than there were two days ago and Father Gopon is still alive and well. I may not reveal where he is, but he will be heard of soon.

MID-WINTER OUTING.

Successful Equitable Agents to Spend Two Weeks at Florida Resorts.

W. M. Duff, secretary of the Pittsburgh agency of the Equitable Life Assurance society, left for Florida last week to make arrangements for the agency's outing trip in March.

Mr. Duff has had charge of the agency's outings for nine years and they have now grown to be such prominent features of the agency's work that extended arrangements are necessary.

All agents who write a specified amount of assurance between the dates of September, 1904, and March, 1905, are eligible to the trip and the present indications are that fully seventy will qualify.

The party will leave Pittsburgh in a special train of two sleepers, a dining car and a baggage car, over the Pennsylvania railroad, and will visit Washington, St. Augustine and Ormond Beach. A pleasure boat will be chartered at Ormond on which pleasant little side trips will be made from that place.

WILL NOT TELL MORMON SECRETS

Senator Reed Smoot Refuses to Answer Question on Cross-Examination.

HEARING IS NEAR AN END

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The senate investigation into the protests against Senator Reed Smoot will be closed this week. The cross-examination of the respondent terminated earlier than expected and several other witnesses for the defense were examined. It was announced just before adjournment of the committee on privileges and elections that only a few more witnesses would be put on the stand. Except for some documentary evidence, the investigation may conclude tomorrow. Chairman Burrows remarked that it was necessary to get through with the arguments also this week as Mr. Tayler, counsel for the protestants, will assume his duties as federal judge in Ohio Tuesday next.

The cross-examination of Senator Smoot resulted in absolute refusal to testify in regard to the endowment ceremonies. He also asserted that it was not his business to call to account President Smith of the Mormon church because Mr. Smith had admitted to the committee that he was living in violation of the laws of the land. Three other witnesses refused to divulge the character of the endowment ceremonies.

Judge Tayler asked if Senator Smoot saw any criticism in the statement of Moses Thatcher that the church was getting out of its function in interfering in functions of the state.

"I do not think there was any charge that the church was trying to influence the action of the legislature," answered Senator Smoot. "That would be wrong and most reprehensible."

Smith Is Supreme in Church.

"The first presidency is supreme in everything pertaining to the church," said Senator Smoot, in answer to a question by Chairman Burrows. He also said in explanation, "of course, when it comes to a question of revelation that is to be binding upon the people of the church the president himself receives it and it must be accepted by the people."

"Do I understand you to say that the apostles are not prophets?" asked Chairman Burrows.

"I say they are sustained as prophets, but I do not think a man is a prophet at any time unless he speaks by the spirit of prophecy. In other words, I do not believe that a man has always that spirit of prophecy with him."

"Do you think the president of the church communicates directly with God—has direct revelation?"

"If God desires to speak to his people it would be through the president of the church."

"Does God speak through the apostles in the same way?"

"Oh! not in the same way. An apostle has no more authority in a stake of zion than its president has, unless sent by the head of the church to act in the stead of the stake president."

In an endeavor to ascertain the proper procedure in a difference between churchmen, Judge Tayler asked if there was authority to condemn a member of the priesthood.

Believes in Modern Prophecy.

"I think the Lord has given any man the right to do it," was the answer. "If one of the Lord's servants should do a wrong to me I would condemn him and bring charges, after first going to him personally. It is a rule of the church that a person aggrieved should go to the person offending before condemning such person."

In answering a question as to his belief in modern prophecy, Senator Smoot said: "Men speaking today, under the inspiration of the Lord, their counsel is just as good as that of the prophets that spoke under inspiration in ancient days."

Senator Burrows interrogated Senator Smoot regarding the details of the endowment ceremony.

"How long did it take to perform this ceremony?"

"From the beginning to the end about three or four hours."

"How many went through it with you?"

"Thirty or 40."

"State what you are able to recall of it."

"I would very much prefer not to."

"Why not?"

"For conscientious reasons. I made a vow, not an oath, with my God, not with any man, not with the president of the church or with a living soul, but I did make a vow that I would keep these endowment ceremonies sacred and not reveal them to anybody, and I have kept that all my life, and if I went out of the church tomorrow, and remained out of the church until I was gray headed, I would never feel that it was my duty or that I should divulge what little I even remember of them."

Millions Paid Into Church.

The senator was asked a number of other questions regarding the ceremony, which he preferred not to answer.

"Do you know why the oath of secrecy was imposed?"

"It is purely a religious ordinance—refers absolutely to man's hereafter, and has nothing whatever to do with anything other than man's relation to his God, and I suppose that it is an ordinance in the church and the rule is that it be not revealed."

"Do you know how much money is paid into the church annually in tithes?" asked Senator Overman.

"I could not say except as a guess."

"As much as $1,000,000?"

"Some years more and some years less, I understand."

"How is this money expended?"

"Well, there is about $140,000 for educational interests, about $100,000 for the feeding of the poor, a great deal for the expenses of missionaries——" at this point Senator Overman interrupted, saying that all he wanted was information as to the extent of church investments in industrial and commercial institutions.

"The church has some money so invested, but a small per cent of the capital of these institutions," said the senator.

Would Not Depose Smith.

Chairman Burrows inquired of the witness: "Is there any method by which the president of the church may be deposed?"

"If he should engage in any un-Christian-like act that would unfit him for his place he could be tried the same as any other member of the church, and if found guilty he may be removed."

"You heard the testimony of President Smith, that he is living in defiance of the laws of the land?"

"Yes, sir."

"And that he is also living in defiance of the divine law?"

"Yes, sir, and I heard the qualifications he made."

"Has the church proceeded against him because of his violations of the laws?"

"It has not."

"Has there been any attempt to try him because he is living in polygamous cohabitation?"

"There has not."

"Did you see him after he testified before this committee?"

The senator said he had seen the president of the church, both in Washington and in Utah, after his testimony, and had made no protest to him concerning his manner of living.

"You have not sought to bring him to trial in any manner?" asked the chairman.

"I have not."

"Do you intend to?"

"I do not."

"How many children do you understand President Smith said he has had since the manifesto?"

"Eleven, I believe."

"With full knowledge of his testimony, you voted to sustain him at the conference last October?"

"I did."

EXONERATE YOUNG HARRIS.

Police Say They Will Have Real Members of Gang That Robbed Lance Farm, in Few Hours.

BEAVER, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—It is only a matter of hours until those under suspicion of being implicated in the Lance robberies which resulted in the shooting of Arthur S. Harris by William McKendry, January 13, will be apprehended. Detective Lazarus has received valuable information on the case from a Washington county man whom he visited yesterday and arrests will probably be made in that county.

The detectives say they are assured young Harris was in other places when the series of five robberies were committed on the Lance farm, notwithstanding the fact the body of the boy has been identified positively by the Lances and McKendry as that of one of the robbers. It will also be shown, they say, that Harris made his first trip to the farm the day he was shot. It is said Harris' body will be exhumed to see whether the false mustache was made from hair cut from his head.

SOCIETY

THE semi-centennial celebration of the Calvary Protestant Episcopal church has brought with it not only the scheduled round of events, but a number of small social entertainments for the visiting clergy. Col. and Mrs. Edward Jay Allen issued telephone invitations a few days ago for an informal tea held from 4 until 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon at their home in Shady avenue. The guests were a few old friends of the Rev. Dr. George Hodges and Mrs. Hodges of Cambridge, Mass., who are here for the celebration. Dr. and Mrs. Hodges, Col. and Mrs. Allen and Miss May Allen, their daughter, received together, while assisting informally through the different rooms were several of their friends. The list included Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, Mrs. Henry H. Byram, Mrs. John Bain Corrin, Miss Rachael Aiken, Mrs. Edwin Bindley and several others.

Dr. and Mrs. Hodges are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Guthrie during their visit in the city. After the tea with which Col. and Mrs. Allen entertained, Mrs. Guthrie's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Brown gave a small dinner for the same guests the Rev. William D. Maxon sharing the honors. Both Dr. Hodges and the Rev. Mr. Maxon are former rectors of Calvary church. Covers were laid for 12.

Two Sisters Entertain.

Mrs. James Wood Friend of Ellsworth avenue received with her two daughters, Miss Elizabeth McClellan Friend and Miss Rebekah Jane Friend, whey they entertained at cards yesterday afternoon. The affair was conducted in the Pittsburgh Golf club with 19 tables of bridge in use. The prizes, of which there was one for each table, were silver picture frames. They were captured by Mrs. Eugene Lawrence Meeker, Miss Cornelia McKnight, Miss Sarah McKnight, Miss Amy DuPuy, Mrs. Augustus Gross MacConnell, Miss Alice Wood Tindle, Miss Eleanor Humbird, Miss Anica Humbird, Miss Mathilda Clarkson, Miss Florence Walker, Miss Janet Walker, Mrs. Charles Edmund Beeson and Miss Eleanor Fiten. Among the other players were Miss Sallie Hill, Mrs. Oliver P. Nicola, Mrs. Eugene Wellington Fargny, Miss Alice Schmertz, Mrs. Grant McCargo, Mrs. Francis Sellers Guthrie and Mrs. Frank Fabor Brooks.

A Luncheon and Euchre.

Mrs. Herbert Black and Mrs. Harvey V. McCullough won the prizes at the euchre following the luncheon given by Miss Minnie Agnes Beatty and Miss Lorraine T. Beatty at the Country club yesterday. The affair was in honor of Miss Marguerite Bope of Mt. Vernon, O., who is visiting her relatives, Col. and Mrs. H. P. Bope of the East End. The guests also included Miss Marie Hemmick, Miss Elsie Seeger, Miss Jean Roberts, Miss Eleanor Ayers, Mrs. Black, Mrs. McCullough, Miss Ethel Griffin, Miss Dean, Miss Edith Evans, Miss Mary Dickey, Miss Helen Dickson, Miss Ethel Craig, Miss Mary Lawrence, Miss Louise McKinney, Miss Helen Thompson, Miss Willa Ahl, Miss Gertrude Hoeveler, Miss Helen Rickey, Miss Jeannette Dickson, Mrs. H. P. Bope and Mrs. H. Bruce Beatty.

Will Wed Today.

The rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Florence Belt Kitzmiller and Dr. Albert Ralston Matheny took place last evening following a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Kitzmiller, parents of the bride-elect. Miss Kitzmiller presented her attendants with gold bend bracelets on each of which was engraved the initials of every member of the bridal party. Dr. Matheny gave his best man cuff links, while his ushers were presented with stick pins set with sapphires and diamonds. Mrs. John B. Reynolds of New York, a sister of Miss Kitzmiller, arrived in the city on Sunday morning to remain over for the wedding. Among the gifts which the bride-elect has received is a handsome chest of flat silver from her parents, a mahogany dining table from Dr. Matheny's parents, and a chevel mirror from Representative and Mrs. John Daizell, her uncle and aunt.

Card Parties of the Week.

Miss Mary Mellon and her brother, Edward P. Mellon of Bayard street, have issued invitations for two large card parties this week, the first of which will be given on Thursday evening and the second on the evening of the following day.

Mrs. Thomas Alexander Mellon of Fifth avenue will be hostess at cards next Saturday afternoon to meet Miss Russell of Cambridge, Mass., who is visiting Mrs. Mellon's sister, Miss Wightman.

Dinner, Rehearsal and Euchre.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Gazzam of Amber street gave a dinner last evening in honor of their daughter, Miss Clara Gazzam, and her fiance, Clifford C. Rosser, whose marriage will take place tomorrow. The guests, in addition to the members of the bridal party, included Mr. and Mrs. Harry White, Miss Clara Gazzam, an aunt of the bride-elect, and James Thompson. The dinner preceded the rehearsal for the wedding and the rehearsal was in turn followed by a euchre. The favors for the girls in the bridal party were gold Nethersole bracelets, while the men received monogram stickpins.

Three Brides as Honor Guests.

Mrs. Edward Moreland of East End avenue will issue cards shortly for a tea which she will give on the afternoon of Saturday, February 18. The honors will be shared by three brides of the season, Mrs. William Stetler Kuhn, who was formerly Miss Anna Louise McFeely; Mrs. John Barnett Tonkin, formerly Miss Simpson of Oil City, and Miss Florence Belt Kitzmiller, whose marriage to Dr. Albert Ralston Matheny will be an event of today. Mrs. Moreland, assisted by Mrs. J. K. Dillon, Mrs. George Wambolf and Mrs. H. M. Corwin, will receive her friends from 2 until 4 and from 4 until 6 o'clock.

Farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Frick.

The little dinner which Mr. and Mrs. William Nimick Frew gave at "Beechwood Hall," their home in Fifth avenue, last evening, was intended as a farewell entertainment for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Frick of "Clayton," Penn avenue, who expect to leave the city in a few days for their winter home at Palm Beach. At the dinner covers were laid for 12, the guests including Mr. and Mrs. Frick, Mr. and Mrs. Harmar D. Denny, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Darlington, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Herron Griffin. The centerpiece was a vase of delicately shaded pink roses, and the dinner was followed by bridge.

In Honor of a Worcester Visitor.

Mrs. Samuel Ayers of Morewood avenue was hostess yesterday at an informal little card party, the first in a series which she is planning for her guest, Mrs. R. Frederick Taylor of Worcester, Miss. There were four tables used yesterday, bridge being the game played, and the prizes going to Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Wesley Gould Carr. Mrs. Ayres will entertain with a whist breakfast of six tables today, and tomorrow evening she and Dr. Ayres will give a euchre of five tables. Dr. and Mrs. William H. Foster of Shady avenue, will give a very informal little euchre on Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Taylor.

An Interesting Engagement.

An interesting engagement, just announced, but which has been known to the intimate friends of the young couple for some time, is that of Miss Agnes Denniston Crookston, daughter of William Crookston, of the East End, and John Brandon Guthrie, a son of Robert Walker Guthrie, of Howe street. No date has been spoken of for the wedding. Mr. Guthrie is a graduate of Rutgers college, New Brunswick, N. J., and is identified with the rubber and belting firm of Edward H. Ladew of New York, having offices in this city.

Luncheon for Miss Heberton.

Miss Carolyn Eugenia Heberton, whose marriage to Davenport Plumer of Germantown will take place on Thursday, was the guest of honor at Mrs. Maxwell Kennedy Moorhead's luncheon, given at her home in Ellsworth avenue yesterday. The guests included Miss Heberton, Miss Ella Cassidy, Mrs. Hugh Wharton, Mrs. Christopher Magee, Jr., Miss Charlotte Lloyd of Muncie, Ind., Miss Helen Gray, Miss Audenreid of Germantown and Miss Florence Murdoch.

Leave for Florida Tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Snyder of Colonial place, Shadyside, will leave tomorrow in their staff of servants for Palm Beach, Fla., where they have taken one of the ocean cottages. Mrs. Snyder's brother, A. W. Black, has been in Florida for some time. Palm Beach is to have its usual contribution of Pittsburghers this winter, but the Snyders are among the first to go down.

Will Entertain at Cards.

Mrs. Gilliford B. Sweeney will entertain with an informal card party on Thursday afternoon at her home in South Negley avenue, East End. The affair will be given in honor of Miss K. Marie Fagen of Philadelphia, who is making a fortnight's visit with Mrs Sweeney. The game to be played on Thursday is "Five Hundred."

Future Events in the Social World.

Mrs. Edward Scull of Castleman street has issued invitations for a card party to be held tomorrow afternoon, the affair to be followed by a similar entertainment next Wednesday evening.

Mrs. George Hamilton Flinn will be hostess at a small luncheon today to meet her guest, Miss Anna North of New York. A second luncheon will be given by Mrs. Flinn on Thursday.

Mrs. James Wood Friend of Ellsworth avenue, has cards out for a bridge party at her home on Thursday afternoon.

Notes of Society.

A reception in honor of the twentieth anniversary of their marriage was given by Mr. and Mrs. A. Vote of Hazelwood last Friday evening.

A surprise party was given for Miss Gertrude Handy last evening at the home of her parents in Sewickley. The guests included about 40 of the young per school set.

A concert will be given in the Edgeworth club this evening by the Schubert trio, which includes Walter Ortlon, Fritz Gloemer and Carl Bernthaler, assisted by Joseph Schneider and R. A. Sneed.

The choir of the North Presbyterian church, Allegheny, will repeat "Aunt Polly Russell's Singin' School" on Thursday evening in the church building for the benefit of the Woods Run Industrial home.

At the card party which Miss Grace and Miss Edith Lowry of Black street will give for their sisters, Miss Lois Virginia Lowry and Miss Clara Dove Lowry, on Saturday, the two honorees will be assisted by Mrs. Frank W. Faas and Mrs. Howard Arthurs.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sheldon Douglas of Chicago, who are being entertained by Mrs. G. E. Power of Oakland, were honor guests at a box party at the Gayety theater last night, the party also including Dr. and Mrs. M. S. McKeenan.

AMONG THE CLUBS

THE Dolly Madison chapter, Daughters of 1812, met yesterday afternoon in the Twentieth Century club house. Mrs. Sullivan Johnson, state regent, gave a comprehensive account of the annual meeting of the order in New York last November. The National society sent beautiful pins to the daughters of the Pittsburgh chapter, and seven of these were given yesterday to the following members: Mrs. Sarah Evans, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Hicks, Miss McComb, Mrs. Duncan and the Misses Rickey. The pins are of silver with a star and anchor insignia, the star being in blue enamel. The next meeting of the chapter will be held at the home of the regent, Mrs. Robert T. Reineman, Bidwell street, the third Monday in March. Mrs. Minnie O. Roberts will give a paper on the work of the Daughters of 1812, and a special musical program will also be a feature.

Luncheon Today at Y. W. C. A.

The graduates of the domestic science department of the Central Young Women's Christian association will give a luncheon today at 1 o'clock. This luncheon is given by the Tuesday morning class and the menu has been prepared and will be served by the pupils. The graduates who will entertain today are Miss Lydia Swearingen, Mrs. John Woods, Miss Mary Scott, Miss Mary McIntire, Miss Elizabeth Hatfield, Miss Jean McLean, Miss Jean Stone, Mrs. C. Wiles, Mrs. William Velte, Miss Carrie E. Seaman, Miss Alice J. Linde, Mrs. J. L. Baird, Mrs. Charles Large, Mrs. Maud Rahn and Miss Maud Bishoff. The guest list includes Miss Florence Brown, Miss Paulette Guffey, Miss Eleanor Park, Miss Jean Batty, Miss Eastman, Mrs. Wilmot Jones, Miss Laura Baldt, Mrs. Frank Bryce, Mrs. Frank H. Taylor, Miss Bertha Turner, Miss Mary Angeline, Mrs. Partridge, Mrs. Charles F. Stifel and Miss Gelin. Miss Trimble is superintendent of the domestic science department.

Rummage Sale a Success.

The rummage sale by the Civic club of Wilkinsburg for the Soho bath movement was a financial success. Those who conducted the sale were Mrs. A. M. Jones, general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Gray, Mrs. J. L. Keothen, Jr., Mrs. Annie C. Firscoe, Mrs. Theodore Stonerod, Mrs. F. B. Stonerod, Miss Marie Vandergrift, Mrs. N. C. Jacobs, Mrs. Charles Briggs, Mrs. E. Z. Speer, Mrs. W. H. Phillips, the Misses Jones, Miss Pansy Jacob and Miss Lucy Koethen.

A Japanese Program.

The Tourists' club met yesterday, several features of Japan being discussed. J. Himari, formerly of Yokohama, but now in Pittsburgh, was a guest of honor and gave a delightful talk about his home city and its people. J. R. Reed of Allegheny was another honor guest, who illustrated his talk with watercolor scenes. Miss Louise Loy gave a reading "Kamakura, the Forsaken City," and in the discussion which followed the reading of the poem over a score of members took part. Mrs. Samuel Esben Bowers gave a reading, "Buddhist Allusions in Japanese Folk Songs." The musical numbers were furnished by Miss Lichliter, who played a mandolin solo and a vocal solo, "Spring is Here." Mrs. Dick gave two piano solos, Schubert's "Traumerei" and Erwin Schreider's "At Daybreak." The next regular meeting of this club will be held on February 9, when Japanese fiction and drama will be the subjects for discussion.

Study of "Macbeth."

The Woman's club of Homestead met yesterday at the home of Miss Mary Hirth. Mrs. C. W. Ashley acted as leader, and the program was opened with a discussion of "Macbeth." The character of Lady Macbeth was discussed by Mrs. J. A. Doyle. The question, "What Does Richard Grant White Say of Act II.?" was discussed by several members. Another question which received consideration was "Who Probably Collaborated With Shakespeare in the Composition of the Play?" Current topics centered entirely upon the czar's position in Russia. Mrs. E. W. Shoemaker read a paper on "Hamlet." Mrs. John Furham spoke on the "Need of Uniform Divorce Laws in All States and Territories."

Held Rehearsal Yesterday.

The Colloquium club held a rehearsal yesterday of the play "The Sin of David," a drama by David Stephen Phillips, which is to be read by the club members on February 13. The two principal parts will be taken by Mrs. William A. McGee and Miss Grace Hamilton, who will represent Sir Hubert Lisle and Miriam. The meeting yesterday was held at the home of Miss Hamilton in South Highland avenue. Next Monday the Rev. Dr. Dorchester will give a lecture on "Robert Browning" at the home of Mrs. W. A. Lewis in Amberson avenue.

Celebrates Golden Wedding.

BUTLER, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Taylor celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home here today. The four children, William J. Taylor of Butler, Mrs. C. C. Benscotin of Brookville, Mrs. George S. Swope of East Brady and Mrs. E. C. Hughes of Chicago, with their families and a large number of friends were present. Mr. Taylor is a veteran of the Civil war and is a contractor and builder. Among the buildings he has erected are the court houses at Butler and Easton.

Pittsburghers at Palm Beach.

PALM BEACH, FLA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thaw and Mr. and Mrs. George L. Carnegie came this morning from Pittsburgh.

PNEUMONIA IS PREVALENT.

Diseases Due to Weakened Resisting Power of the Body — Colds, Catarrh, Consumption, Etc., All Come From Same Source—How to Prevent.

Pneumonia is especially prevalent at this season of the year. Damp, cold weather lowers the vitality, and exposure in a weakened condition is often followed by fatal results. The congestion from a chill rapidly develops into inflammation and if speedy remedial attention is not given death may follow.

Chills, colds, catarrh, tuberculosis, pneumonia and many other affections of the lungs, throat and breathing passages belong to the same family of disease. In general the same causes are responsible for them all. The conditions which give one man a nasal cold start the seeds of consumption in another or develop quick pneumonia in a third.

Initially the fault is due to the lowering of the resisting power of the body, because the same exposure which may invigorate one man may kill another.—Editorial in N. Y. World, Jan. 14, 1905.

HOW TO RESIST.

Do you "take colds?" Are you prepared to resist? If you do, your lungs are weakening under the attacks of the great scourges, consumption, pneumonia, catarrh, grip, etc. These are the great captains of Death's army.

A cough syrup won't do. You must treat the weakened lungs. A remedy that goes straight to the lungs, aids them in casting out the germs of disease, sets them at work again with all the vigor and warmth of perfect health—that is the only remedy for colds and coughs. Strengthen your fortress. The minute you take Dr. Acker's English Remedy you can feel the glow of healthy action in your lungs. It sets the wheels of health running again. It casts out all evil. It makes strong lungs. Not a mere cough syrup, mind, but it cures your cold and cough and your lungs, too.

Bottles at your druggist's, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. No cure, money back.

Any reader of The Gazette sending name and address to W. H. Hooker & Co., 24 Ellicott St., Buffalo, N. Y. will receive a free sample bottle of Acker's English Remedy by return mail. Write for it today.

OFFICIAL.—ALLEGHENY.

(No. 380.)

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing the submission of a vote of the electors of the city of Allegheny the question of increasing the bonded indebtedness of the city of Allegheny by the amount of twenty-five thousand ($25,000.00) dollars for the purpose of building porches on the buildings for the insane at the city home at Claremont.

Whereas, The select and common councils of the city of Allegheny deem it for the best interests of the city that its bonded indebtedness shall be increased by the amount of twenty-five thousand ($25,000.00) dollars for the purpose of building porches on the buildings for the insane at the city home at Claremont, therefore

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the question of increasing the bonded indebtedness of the city of Allegheny by the amount of twenty-five thousand ($25,000.00) dollars by an issue of bonds, bearing interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, the principal thereof payable annually in not less than five years and not more than thirty years from the date of their issue, and for the payment of the principal and interest of which as the same shall mature and become payable, so much of the revenue of the city of Allegheny as may be necessary shall be pledged, for the purpose of building porches on the buildings for the insane at the city home at Claremont, at such times, in such places, in such manner and in such amounts as the councils of the city shall determine, shall be submitted to the electors of the city of Allegheny at the municipal election to be held on Tuesday the twenty-first day of February, 1905, in the manner prescribed by and in accordance with the laws of the state of Pennsylvania in such case made and provided.

Sec. 2. That the mayor is hereby authorized, empowered and directed to procure the proper proclamation for said election to be issued, and public notice thereof given according to law, and to provide at the expense of the city of Allegheny any and all ballots or tickets, return sheets, or any other papers, materials or things that may be required by law to be provided by the city, for the lawful holding of said election, and to cause the same to be held according to law.

The expenses thereof to be payable out of appropriation No. 41, contingent fund.

Sec. 3. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing, be and the same is hereby repealed.

SENATE DEFIES THE GOVERNOR

West Virginia Upper Body Follows House in Increasing Number of Employes.

MAY KILL CORPORATIONS ACT

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Jan. 23.—The dispensary bill came up in the house on second reading today. Following a motion to postpone indefinitely and other motions, the house adjourned and the bill comes up tomorrow as unfinished business.

The senate today, although it was organized by the administration Republicans, took a small piece of revenge on the governor by the aid of the Democrats. The governor in his message had called attention to the large number of useless attaches appointed by the last legislature, and had recommended that this legislature avoid the error of former legislatures in this respect. Senator Caldwell of Wood made the fight for additional employes and carried his point with the aid of the Democrats by the exact two-thirds vote necessary. Just a few days ago the house increased the expenses about $100 a day by appointing 17 attaches. Senator Darst introduced a resolution that the attaches that are not needed be given their pay for the session and be allowed to return to their homes in "peace and quiet." It was voted down.

The Republicans of the senate caucussed on Senator Darst's bill to allow county officials compensation up to a certain point and then turn the remainder to the county treasuries and decided to kill it.

The senate judiciary committee has reported favorably the bill to repeal the act passed at the last regular session authorizing the attorney general to bring suits against delinquent corporations. Under this act the attorney general had brought suits against some 1,200 corporations forfeiting their charters, in many cases upon minor and purely technical violations of the law. Heavy fines were assessed against corporations to restore them to their former privileges, the greater portion of which fines stopped in the office of the attorney general, instead of going into the state treasury.

Although the administration has succeeded in organizing both houses, yet the opposition, still nursing the factional fights of the preliminary campaign, is in an attitude of active hostility, and with the assistance of the Democrats, who are bent on creating all the trouble they can, are able to neutralize the plans of the administration. This, coupled with a weak floor leadership, may render abortive the large Republican majority in both houses.

BROWN WAS NOMINATED WITHOUT OPPOSITION

Allegheny Republicans Hold Convention to Name a Candidate for City Controller.

Controller James Brown of Allegheny was given the Republican nomination last night for the office he fills.

The convention was held in Republican headquarters, East Diamond street, and delegates from the 88 election districts were present. Dr. Samuel S. Woodburn was chairman, and Albert Miller of the Eleventh ward acted as secretary. Brown had no opposition and the nomination was made by acclamation.

In opening the meeting Dr. Woodburn spoke of the excellent record of Mr. Brown during the 33 years he has served the city as controller.

"If Mr. Brown fills out the term for which we are nominating him, he will have served 36 consecutive years as the controller of our city, and in all the years that he has held this responsible office there has never been a word spoken against his integrity or his ability," said Dr. Woodburn. Mr. Miller spoke briefly in the same vein.

After the vote had been taken Controller Brown made a short address in which he thanked the convention for the honor. He promised, if elected, to conduct the office in the same manner in which it has been run for more than 30 years.

Controller Brown was host at an informal banquet given after the convention at Ilenberger's cafe, East Diamond street. All the convention delegates and many politicians were present and spent the evening enjoyably.

Since the Wyman machine cannot fuse with the Democrats to make a fight for the controllership it is scarcely likely Brown will be opposed at the general election on February 21 next. At their convention last Friday night the Democrats nominated Brown, so that his name will appear at the head of two columns on the ballot.

DR. WILEY STANDS BY HIS ORIGINAL STATEMENT

He Has Not Denied That 85 Per Cent of Whisky Sold Over Bars Is Adulterated.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Somebody, acting in the interests of the Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association, bunceed Dr. H. W. Wiley, the government chemist, according to his statement, when they circulated the report that he had denied saying that 85 per cent of the whisky sold over American bars was diluted and adulterated. Dr. Wiley says he never denied making the statement and he stands pat on his original proposition, which is not complimentary to the liquor dispensed to the American public. In a signed statement issued today he says:

"In order that my own view may not be misunderstood, I desire to repeat it. I believe that at least 85 per cent, if not more, of the whisky sold over the bar in the United States is not straight whisky. It is a compound made of neutral spirit of alcohol, artificially colored, often flavored with artificial essences and sometimes mixed with more or less straight whisky to give flavor. When sold as straight whisky it is an imitated or adulterated article."

BRIDGE CONTRACT NOT VALID, JUDGE DECIDES

Places Costs on Beaver Falls Company and Venango County Commissioners.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

FRANKLIN, Jan. 23.—The contract between Venango county and the Penn Bridge Company of Beaver Falls for the proposed Kennerdell bridge across the Allegheny river was declared invalid by Judge Criswell this morning. The contract figured in the recent "graft" investigation. While the alleged substitution of plans on the part of the defendant was not sustained the court held the action of the county commissioners in failing to comply with the act of legislature relative to the awarding of contracts, rendered the contract in question void. Each side was ordered to pay half the costs, which were large.

The county commissioners who awarded the contract were indicted by the recent grand jury for violating the provisions of the act. The cases against William Farris and William Gulich, bridge agents, and ex-County commissioners Black, Thomas and Plimpton, growing out of the investigation, fell flat today. The charges of conspiracy against the bridge agents were dismissed without a question being asked on cross-examination. The charges against the county commissioners were barred by the statue of limitation. The costs were placed on the defendants.

Man Charged With Embezzlement.

KITTANNING, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Dent Ditty was arrested today on a charge of embezzlement made by Postmaster F. A. Moesta, who is president of the Kittanning and Ford City Street Railway Company. Young Ditty had charge of the business office of the street railway company for two years. A few weeks ago he disappeared. The company is said to have discovered that his accounts were short nearly $1,000 and information was made against him. When he re-appeared today he was arrested. His father furnished bail.

Ohliger Furnishes Bond.

WOOSTER, O., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—L. P. Ohliger, the cashier and president of the failed Wooster national bank, who absconded and was brought back from British Columbia by federal officers and released on $15,000 bond, returned here late last night. Ohliger appeared in court of common pleas this evening and furnished $2,100 bond on two indictments returned against him here for embezzlement.

For Loss of Wife's Affections.

UNIONTOWN, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—In the damage suit of L. W. Gilpin against C. K. McCormick for $1,000 on the charge of alienating the affections of Gilpin's wife, the jury found a verdict of $500 against the defendant.

MARBLE WORKERS STRIKE OVER OPEN SHOP POLICY

Employes of East End Company Lay Down Tools Because Non-Union Men Are Hired.

The first strike over the open-shop policy demanded by the Builders' Exchange league of the labor unions, occurred yesterday when the employes of the East End Mantel and Tile Company stopped work. The 50 men working for this firm allege the company has imported non-union men and refuse to work until they are discharged.

Work has become so plentiful that the local union affiliated with the National Association of Marble Workers could not supply sufficient men. The company then employed union men affiliated with the International Association of Marble Workers. The unions are dual organizations and call one another unfair. When the International men started to work yesterday the National workers' stopped.

The Marble Contractors' association, affiliated with the Builders' league, will meet this morning at 10 o'clock to take action on the matter. This will be followed by a meeting of the league to indorse such action as the contractors deem advisable. This will eventually lead to a general lockout unless the trade unions agree to the open-shop policy, which the league intends to enforce.

MRS CODY FILES ANSWER TO BUFFALO BILL'S SUIT

CHEYENNE, WYO., Jan. 23.—Mrs. Louisa Cody's answer to the divorce suit of Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), was filed today. She denies she ever attempted to poison Col. Cody or showed indignities to him and discourtesy to his guests. She makes a counter charge of infidelity.

HE FOUND IT

Just as Recommended.

"I bought a 50-cent package of Pyramid Pile Cure from my druggist, and have used $2 packages since. I find them just as you recommended them to be. I have not felt the least sign of piles since using your remedy three months ago. If you want to use my name you may do so, as I feel like a new man. I now have no trouble with the dreadful, aggravated disease.

"I meant to write you sooner, but thought I would wait until I was cured. I thank you for your wonderful Pile Cure. I was a great sufferer from piles." Fred Deerr, R. F. D. 4, New Brunswick, N. J.

Seldom, if ever, is there any doubt about the effect produced by the use of Pyramid Pile Cure, as is shown by the experience given above. The proprietors of this remedy have thousands of similar letters on file, and surely no better proof of the merit of the preparation could be asked; when it is borne in mind that these letters are wholly unsolicited, there is certainly cause for pride in the remedy.

Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists for 50 cents a package, and if yours hasn't it he will get it for you if asked to do so. Accept no substitutes, and remember there is no other remedy "just as good." Everyone is urged to write Pyramid Drug Company, Marshall, Mich., for their little book describing the causes and cure of piles, as it affords much useful information and is sent free for the asking.

Judge Grants Rule in Case Growing Out of the Recent Water Famine.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—The water famine in Central Pennsylvania is responsible for litigation in the Blair county courts to determine who are the owners of Tipton run, a mountain stream. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, the city of Altoona, the Tipton Water Company and private individuals are all asserting separate claims of ownership in court.

Today Judge James W. Shull granted a rule to show cause why the Pennsylvania Railroad Company should not be held for contempt of court in attempting to appropriate the stream, after the company had been forbidden to do so by the court.

Standard Oil Properly Burned.

MERCER, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—The bursting of an eight-inch oil pipe at Leesburg this afternoon caused a flow of oil to communicate with the flames under the boiler and started a fire, which resulted in the destruction of nearly $40,000 worth of property belonging to the Standard Oil Company. The boiler house, pumping station and telegraph office were burned. Ten boilers and other valuable machinery were destroyed or damaged. The loss is covered by insurance.

Mother Kills Son on His Birthday.

OIL CITY, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Mrs. Ella Greeley, aged 25, a resident of Lickingville, Clarion county, was committed to the county jail today charged with killing her six-year-old son John by cutting his throat with a razor. She also slashed her own throat but the wound is not serious. It is said the crime was committed Saturday, the child's birthday. It is thought poverty unbalanced her mind.

Body of Sewickley Man Found.

GREENSBURG, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—Tramps near Arnold this morning found the body of Stanley A. Watkins, aged 23, of Sewickley, with a bullet wound in his right temple. Watkins worked in the local window glass plant. On Saturday evening, it is stated, he received a letter which made him despondent.

SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND MAY BE ESTABLISHED

Bill to Be Introduced in West Virginia Legislature—Site to Be Offered.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MORGANTOWN, W. VA., Jan. 23.—In a few days a bill will be introduced in the West Virginia legislature providing that a school for the blind be established near Morgantown. The legislature will be offered a free site of 20 acres within two miles of the city and on a proposed trolley line that is to be built this summer. The site will be offered by the Hon. George C. Sturgiss.

In his recent message Gov. White calls attention to the fact that West Virginia is one of the few remaining states in the union that still teaches its deaf, dumb and blind in the same institution, and he recommends that a separate school be established for the blind. Considering merely the cost of the building and the maintenance of the institution, he says that Romney would be the most economical site that being the present location of the combined schools; but he recommends that the new institution be established in one of the larger cities, where the advantages in the way of music, lectures, etc., would be greater. As the school for the blind is almost the only new building that the governor recommends for the next biennial period, the legislature will probably regard it favorably, especially as several of the members are in favor of it and several prominent citizens are working for its establishment.

MAKES YOU IRRITABLE

Nothing more irritating than constant backache—that dull, heavy throb, which bothers you all day and prevents sound sleep at night.

Backache makes you fretful and nervous—keeps you "on edge" all the time. It carves plain lines in the face, and ruins a cheerful disposition.

Don't mistake the cause of backache. Overwork might tire your back, but should not make it ache and pain and throb. A man or woman with healthy kidneys can work hard, rest and sleep and be ready to work hard again.

Backache is kidney ache. It tells you of an inflamed or congested condition of the kidneys, brought on by a cold, a strain on the back or perhaps some other slight cause.

The danger is that kidney congestion never relieves itself and it so disturbs the blood-filtering process of the kidneys that uric acid and other poisons collect in the blood.

These poisons should pass off in the urine, but instead are carried by the blood to every part of the body and cause painful and fatal diseases.

Health can only be restored by restoring the kidneys to health. This can only be done with a kidney medicine.

Doan's Kidney Pills Relieve and Heal Diseased Kidney Tissues, Set the Kidneys Filtering the Blood, Banish Backache, Dizziness, Urinary Troubles and Restore Strength and Energy.

WATCH THE URINE.

Kidney diseases are not always painful in the early stages. They frequently gain ground before the victim knows of their existence.

But an examination of the urine will always tell of the existence of any form of kidney trouble.

Allow a quantity of urine to stand in the vessel for 24 hours. If any of the following symptoms appear, the kidneys are diseased.

Brick-dust sediment; whitish, cloudy or stringy settlement; offensive odor; high reddish color, or very pale, watery appearance; oily scum on the surface.

Other urinary symptoms are too free or too scanty a flow; frequent desire to urinate; pain or scalding in passing.

PITTSBURGH TESTIMONY

W. J. Greenfield of 10 Sweetbriar st., one of the most prominent fraternal men in Pittsburgh, past commander of Knights of Malta, past councilor of the Junior Order of Mechanics, past grand ruler of the Royal Society of Good Fellows, and member of other societies, says: "It is through reading of Doan's Kidney Pills in the local papers that I first learned of this remedy, and I felt some relief from the first box I used. This was in the spring of 1898, or about six years ago. I had been troubled more or less with my kidneys for years, and about the time that I commenced using the pills I was a victim of insomnia. I got so that I lost appetite as well as sleep, and was suffering with my back all the time. I doctored considerably, but got no better until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. When I had taken four or five boxes I could sleep and eat well and all the symptoms of kidney trouble disappeared. I was completely cured and have been well ever since."

RENO DARDAIA TO BE SUMMONED

Commission Appointed to Inquire Into Murderer's Sanity Met and Organized.

NON-SUIT MOTIONS REFUSED

Attorney J. M. Shields was made chairman of the commission appointed to inquire into the sanity of Reno Dardaia, the self-confessed murderer of Thomas Sinclair. The commission met yesterday, the other members being Dr. T. M. T. McKenna and John B. Jackson. There were present at the meeting beside the members of the commision, District Attorney Robert E. Stewart, Assistant District Attorney William J. Grimes and Attorney E. J. Smail, counsel for Dardaia.

After organizing the commission discussed the best modes of proceedure for ascertaining knowledge of the prisoner's mental condition. It was decided that witnesses, as well as the prisoner, be examined. Several experts will be called to testify after having talked to the prisoner. Afterward the commission went to the jail and for half an hour the members were closeted with the prisoner in the warden's private office. The commission then adjourned until next Monday afternoon, when another meeting will be held and witnesses examined. In the meantime Dr. T. M. T. McKennan will have a consultation with Dardaia and will make a report of his observations.

Judge Joseph Buffington, in the case of John A. Bechtel against George J. Humbert et al., refused the motion of the plaintiff to strike off a non-suit which was allowed when the case went to trial. The action was over the alleged violation of a contract.

Judge Buffington also refused a motion to strike off a non-suit in the case of Harry Burch against the American Tin Plate Company. The plaintiff entered suit for injuries he received at the Connellsville plant of the defendants.

Dan Cameron McKee, alias Snyder, petitioned common pleas court No. 2 to allow him to legally bear the name of McKee. He claims he was born Snyder, but had always lived in Mercer county with the family of William McKee and believed, until recently, that he was adopted by them and legally bore their name.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed by Vincenzo Piazzi, a fruit dealer of Dubois, Pa. His debts are $2,380 and he has no assets.

An involuntary petition was filed against N. S. Greenburg of Ramey, Clearfield county. The petitioners, the Plate-Parker Company, J. D. Gillis Sons Company and the J. V. & Turnback Hardware Company of Philipsburg, Pa., and the Eager-Gillen Company of Tyrone, present claims amounting to $678 37.

A voluntary petition was filed by Elmer A. McHale, a contractor of Stewards Run postoffice, Forest county. His liabilities are $548 20 and his assets $109 50.

Margaretha Saerger of Pittsburgh by her will makes two charity bequests, giving $25 to the St. Michael's Orphan asylum and a like amount to St. Michael's church for the benefit of the poor. In addition the sum of $150 is set aside for the church for masses for herself and husband. Each of her four grandchildren is given $50 and she directs that $150 be used for a monument. The residue of a $700 estate goes to her two children.

Common pleas court No. 2 granted the petition of James Donnelly and ordered a sale of certain real estate in Madison avenue, Allegheny, made by John Donnelly, resulted. Donnelly has since the agreement was drawn been declared to be of feeble mind.

A decree in divorce was granted in the case of William J. Urbin against Williamina J. Urbin on grounds of indignities.

In criminal court Frank Gawlic was given 60 days for assault and battery. Dora Greco was fined $5 for carrying concealed weapons and sentence was suspended on Robert McElroy, who pleaded no defense to stealing tools from Barker Bros.

Executions issued: James W. Houston & Co. vs. H. A. Wadding, $200; Charles Claus vs. Pittsburgh Seamless Bottle Company, $106; Provost Bros. vs. W. F. Russell, $250; Mrs. H. C. Gust vs. Lawrence Hartwig, $575 68; C. A. Provost & Co. vs. Herbert Schleinebraten, $150; John W. Corkran, use, Miners and Mechanics bank, vs. David R. Terrance, $7,192 33; same vs. same, $7,192 33.

CONSIDERED JAIL CASES.

No Information in Allegheny Graft Investigation Presented to the Grand Jury.

After an absence of over a month the grand jury reconvened yesterday morning and passed on a number of jail cases. None of the informations that have been made in connection with the district attorney's graft investigation were laid before the jury, but some of them will be passed upon before the jury finally adjourns.

The true bills returned were: Felony, William Nellek; robbery, George Sarnick; felonious assault and battery, Arthur Reschamer, Thomas Gilliam, Andrew Hengstler, John P. Moyer, Wash McCarthy, Frank Nerzsl, Toney Olenous, A. Scott, Charles Black; aggravated assault and battery, William Gwyn; assault and battery, Max Bornstein, David Coleman, Paul and John Szaranska; entering a railroad car, etc., Earl Sheets; larceny from the person, Charles Muckle, John Murphy; larceny, Samuel Abbie, Christian Banan, John Campbell, Frank Martin, Walter Rice, Mike Flaherty, Gertrude Francis, Joseph Wheeler, William Sparby; carrying concealed weapons, T. Edward King, William Mayho; misdemeanor, J. H. Harkness, Andy McGrern, Joseph Storba.

FRIGHTENED CZAR HAS FLED THE CITY

Imperial Family Makes a Hasty Departure for the Gatchina Palace.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Daily Telegraph received the following dispatch from its correspondent tonight:

Not the shooting down of defenseless men and women, nor the protection of palaces, shops, telephones and railways constitute noteworthy results of today's rather one-sided struggle; but the flight of the imperial family from Tsarsko-Selo.

After three and a half days of secrecy and frequent change of dwelling from palace to palace, the emperor hurriedly left Tsarsko-Selo this morning, when the news had come that the strikers from Kolpino had chosen that palace as the goal of their march.

Despite reassuring statements of the court dignitaries and military men the czar is alleged to have lost his nerve immediately, and to have announced his intention to repair to Peterhoff, which is his summer residence. Objections occurred to the official minds, and Gatchina was suggested instead of Peterhoff by the dowager empress. The czar consented and the imperial party thereupon made a hasty departure for the palace where Alexander III. lived in seclusion during his entire reign.

CAPT. LAKE WILL LEAVE UNAPPRECIATIVE LAND

Inventor of Submarine Boat Bearing His Name Says He Will Establish Plant Somewhere in Europe.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., Jan. 23.—Capt. Simon Lake, inventor of the Lake type of submarine boats, and president of the Lake Submarine Torpedo Boat Company, is going to leave this country, take his equipment abroad and establish a plant in some European country. He is at his home here completing preparations.

"It has been my dream for 20 years," said Capt. Lake today, "to have my boat adopted by my native country, but I have received scant consideration at Washington. I have been denied the tests I asked for my boat, and now I am going. The markets of Europe are open to me and I have received a number of flattering offers. We can build the boats at less expense over there. We will continue facilities in this country to enable us to do business, and we might build boats for certain South American nations at a plant here.

"The Simon Lake X will shortly be sold. I am sorry I came back from Europe last fall. It was a mistake."

Suspected Men Not Identified.

James Tuskos, the Italian who was stabbed in the right lung in a fight in Second avenue, near Marion station, several weeks ago, failed to identify Joseph Stefan and Andrew Megi, participants in the fight, who were taken from jail yesterday, as the men who did the cutting.

BLOW AIMED AT THOSE HIGHER UP

Street Commissioner Charles Striepeke of Allegheny Charged With Extortion.

MANY CASES GO TO COURT

Information was made yesterday by County Detective Robert G. Robinson against Charles Striepeke, street commissioner of the eastern district of the city of Allegheny. He is charged with extortion and with aiding in the maintenance of a disorderly house. The charge is made on information furnished by Ida Ballard, who alleges that in February, 1904, she paid to Striepeke $100 "to procure a license, permission and consent, of the department of public safety of the city of Allegheny, that one, Annie Nevin, open and maintain, at 223 Craig street, a disorderly house and place for the sale of liquor on Sunday and without a license." The warrant for Striepeke's arrest will be served today.

It is understood an official of the public safety department is entangled in the alleged dealings between Ida Ballard and Striepeke, and that the latter was used simply as an agent. The story told by the Ballard woman involves "someone higher up," and if Striepeke's case gets into court the story will be told publicly. The conversation between Miss Ballard and Striepeke, as told by the former to a stenographer in the district attorney's office, promises to prove sensational when made public.

Only one new information was made yesterday in the Allegheny cases. The afternoon was spent in holding hearings and renewing bail bonds at Alderman Toole's office. A large number of the women upon whom warrants have been served, were summoned to Toole's office. Rody P. Marshall represented most of them and advised them to waive hearing for court.

The cases called and in which the defendants were held for court or who waived a hearing, were: Minnie Hunter, 94 West Robinson street; Mrs. Dora Frieshman, 302 West Robinson; Margaret O'Brien, 608 Ann street; Kit Baker, 306 River avenue; Pearl Gordon, 606 Ann street; Goldie Carroll, 214 Craig street; Margaret Seese, 102 River avenue; Grace Brown, 102 Morgan street; Mabel Russell, 529 West Robinson street; Lee Sanford, 34 Craig street; Grace Gordon, 318 River avenue; Ben Dagney, 312 Craig street; Lee Gray, 55 Darragh street; Marie Young, 618 Ann street; Jeannette Young, 81 West Robinson street; Ida St. Clair, River avenue; Sue Stevenson, 41 West Robinson street; Lydia Howard, 18 East Lecock street; Olivet Graham, 117 Sandusky street; Jeanne Faber, River avenue; Margaret Miller, 10 Arbuckle alley; Jean Leanor, 212 East Robinson street; Bertha Devin, 53 West Robinson street; Harry Cottrell, 214 Sandusky street.

The case against Supt. Melvin H. Campbell for accepting money for opening a disorderly house, will be called today at 2 o'clock.

CLERGYMEN INDORSED CRUSADE OF MAJ. STEWART

Resolutions Passed by All Ministerial Associations Commending the District Attorney.

Ministerial associations, without exception, yesterday adopted a resolution offering moral support to District Attorney Stewart in his crusade against gambling and other vices in the two cities, and expressed their approval of his efforts. The same resolution was presented at all the weekly ministerial meetings and was very clear in its expression. It was as follows:

Whereas, The cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny have been for a long time past the unhappy victims of a horde of gamblers, thieves and keepers of low dens and vile resorts of nearly every description; and

Whereas, Many of those who are charged with the duty of executing the law and protecting the citizens appear to have betrayed their trust in the most shameless and criminal manner, thus bringing great disgrace upon these cities and sorrow upon all good citizens; and

Whereas, The district attorney is now engaged in a vigorous crusad against vice and crime in those cities, with the purpose, as we believe, of putting our wholesome and righteous laws into execution against these criminals, as well as against the no less criminal officials who connive at the violations of the law which they are sworn to uphold and maintain; therefore

Resolved by this ministerial association, that we most heartily indorse this movement, and urge upon the district attorney and upon the courts and officers of the law the utmost vigilance in ferreting out and punishing all offenders and violaters of the law; and that we pledge to the district attorney and to all other officers of the law who are trying in good faith to suppress vice and to punish criminals, whether they be lawbreakers or official scoundrels, our most hearty indorsement and support; and we call upon all good citizens to come forward now, at once, and by every legitimate means give expression to their approval and satisfaction for what is being done, and every possible assurance of help and moral support to the district attorney, to the courts and the officers of the law in this and every other honest effort to cleanse these cities of the moral cancers, and to place our city governments upon the high plane of civic righteousness and public virtue.

TARRY CONVERTS RECEIVE BIBLES FROM MISS GOULD

NORFOLK, VA., Jan. 23.—(Special.)—To each of 108 United States sailors who said they desired to become Christians and appeared on a public stage before a vast audience here, Miss Helen Gould today presented handsome little Bibles, and with each presentation gave a personal word of encouragement.

JUDGE HOOKER ASKS FOR INVESTIGATION

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Justice Warren B. Hooker of the New York supreme court, against whom charges were brought at the recent meeting of the State Bar association, today sent a communication to the assembly asking that his conduct be the subject of legislative investigation. The communication was referred to the judiciary committee.

PEACE ATTAINED ON PENNSYLVANIA

Brakemen's Order Will Stand, but Men Have Obtained Other Concessions.

LOCALS HAVE BEEN NOTIFIED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—After a conference of less than an hour today between General Manager Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad and Grand Master Morrissey, Vice Grand Master Lee and the board of adjustment of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Mr. Morrissey announced the differences between the company and the men have been amicably settled.

The following joint statement was issued by Mr. Atterbury and Mr. Morrissey:

Mr. Atterbury has accepted Mr. Morrissey's proposition on the Jersey City situation, increasing the wages of the conductors and brakemen in the Jersey City, Harsimus Cove, Greenville, Meadows, Newark and Waverly yards to the standard rates of New York harbor, together with other working conditions.

Mr. Morrissey has accepted Mr. Atterbury's proposition of January 7, as amplified by the results of the conferences of the last few days, in regard to brakemen assisting firemen, both to go into effect as of January 1, 1905.

Mr. Atterbury will, in addition, take and put into effect within a reasonable time such other measures of relief not only to the brakemen, but also to the firemen, as have been discussed and offered by Mr. Atterbury and suggested by the committee.

The concessions granted by the company to the trainmen in the Jersey City case means a considerable increase in wages. In addition they will be paid a full day's wages for overtime, whereas heretofore, they have been paid an hourly rate for overtime. Under the new working conditions, day conductors will receive an increase of 90 cents a month, the night conductors will receive an increase of $3 30 a month; day brakemen $6 60 and night brakemen $9 30. The men are also guaranteed pay for a minimum day of 10 hours.

Rather than cause a rupture of the friendly relations between the trainmen and the company the board of adjustment decided to accept the compulsory firing order on Mr. Atterbury's agreement to adopt measures of relief wherever practicable. Brakemen will be asked to assist in firing locomotives at such points only where in the opinion of the division superintendents, such help is absolutely necessary. For this work the brakemen will be paid firemen's rate of pay, and the time they are thus employed will be credited to their seniority records by which promotions are made. The company will pay additional men at ash pits and water tanks to assist the brakemen.

Notice of the settlement of the differences was sent to the 85 lodges of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen tonight. The men affected are the freight trainmen on the Pennsylvania railroad lines of Pittsburgh and Erie. They number about 9,000.

Mr. Morrissey tonight said:

The concessions are accepted in the generous spirit with which they have been tendered. Mr. Atterbury has given his word that the relief of the firemen from unusual strain will be his first regard. The stationing of extra men at sah pits, which I understand are about three miles apart on the middle division; the putting to work at junction points of men who have been laid off when need for such extra services shall be demonstrated—these are some of the concessions made by the company.

It was my first meeting in conference with Mr. Atterbury, and I was much impressed by his kindliness and his disposition to hear patiently and to judge fairly. Because of these characteristics we have every evidence that, after the thorough investigation he has promised, the men will receive satisfaction of their just demands.

DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED.

Traction and Building and Loan Stockholders Choose Same Managers.

The stockholders of the Pittsburgh Traction Company, part of the Pittsburgh Railways Company system, held the formal annual meeting yesterday and elected the same directors—James D. Callery, James H. Reed, S. L. Tone, C. S. Mitchell, C. J. Braun, Jr., W. B. Carson and J. L. Foster.

The directors were re-elected at the annual meeting of the Keystone State Building & Loan Association. They are Theodore F. Brown, Charles Fairman, Wilson A. Shaw, S. M. McElroy, Charles Wilcox, R. C. Duncan and W. D. Holliday.

DRAVOSBURG MAN SAVED BY SUSPENDER BUTTON

A suspender button saved the life of David Watkins at Dravosburg Heights yesterday. While he was standing on the street corner a shot rang out and he felt a stinging sensation in the back. A rifle bullet passed through his coat and vest and flattened against the button. A boy, shooting at a target, fired wild. Watkins is preserving the button as a memento of his narrow escape.

BELLBOYS CONFESS TO $20,000 JEWEL ROBBERY

PASADENA, CAL., Jan. 23.—According to statements credited to Carl Wilson and James Doyle, bellboys, who are under arrest, the plot by which Mrs. William S. Edey of New York was robbed of $20,000 worth of jewels at the Maryland hotel, was planned and executed by them, with the assistance of a Los Angeles friend of Doyle's. The bellboys have confessed.

Charges Wilson With Larceny.

James Wilson, a negro, was committed to jail for five days by Magistrate Stewart yesterday morning. He is charged with larceny and entering a building with intent to commit a felony. A number of boys in Oliver avenue saw Wilson leaving the Hotel Duquesne bar about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. They gave the alarm and Wilson was captured by Officer Lenker after a struggle. The charge against him was made by C. H. Douglas, manager of the hotel. He had an accomplice for whom the police are looking. About $6 was stolen from the cigar stand.

This your head to the left?

Then there's no use trying. It's too late! Nothing in the world can make hair grow on a bald scalp that has been smooth and shiny for years. It's too late! No use trying now!

Or is this yours to the right?

Good. Only look out for dandruff! It leads straight to baldness. But there's use trying now, for Ayer's Hair Vigor cures dandruff, keeps the scalp clean and healthy, and checks falling hair.

THREE CENT FARE CARS WERE TOO FAR BETWEEN

Experiment in Cleveland Did Not Prove Popular, Apparently, at End of First Day.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 23.—The Cleveland Electric Railway Company, which operates every street car line in the city, today inaugurated a test of 3-cent fare within a limited zone. The zone district extends about two miles in all directions from the business center.

No transfers are given on 3-cent fare cars. Street car men from other cities were here today watching the test. If the plan meets with popular approval it will be permanently adopted.

The cars stopped running for the day at 7 o'clock this evening, having been in service since 5 a. m. The result of the first day's experience showed the percentage of street car patrons benefitted by the 3-cent fare was quite small. Horace E. Andrews, president of the Cleveland Electric Railway Company, said the test had been but for one day, and it was too soon to give an opinion on the practicability of the service.

One explanation of the comparatively small number of passengers using the 3-cent cars was that rather than wait for the alternate reduced fare cars, passengers would board a 5-cent car regardless of their destination. The experiment is costing the railway company at least $1,000 a day for extra crews on the cars. It will continue at least a week, and if necessary, for a longer time.

MANY CLERGYMEN GATHER.

Ministerial Meetings Were All Well Attended and Papers of Theological Interest Were Read.

Ministerial meetings were well attended yesterday morning. The Presbyterian clergymen were addressed by the Rev. Dr. James H. Snowden on "The Historical Study of the Bible." Dr. Snowden dwelt upon the criticisms of the scriptures and held that investigation was courted, but that the individual ideas, publically expressed, were unworthy of attention. A letter was read from the Rev. Dr. T. J. McCrory asking the association to oppose any attempt to modify the "blue laws."

"Religion of Authority and Religion of the Spirit," was discussed before the United Brethern ministers by the Rev. Dr. W. E. McCullough. The Rev. J. W. Righter addressed the Methodist Protestant pastors on "Education vs. Revival Methods."

"Cultivation of Imagination in Bible Study," was the topic of a paper read before Baptist clergymen by the Rev. F. H. Farrington. "Superannuated Ministers" was the subject discussed by the Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees before the Methodist Episcopal ministers. "Deaconess' Work in the Lutheran Church" was told Lutheran pastors by the Rev. C. E. Hay of Baltimore. "Round Table, the Best Book in My Library," was the subject of the address before the Christian ministers by the Rev. C. L. Thurgood.

The Woman

Who is discouraged by a condition of ill-health which fails to yield to the treatment of local physicians will be glad to know she can consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. In a little more than thirty years, Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured hundreds of thousands of weak and sick women. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"After being subjected for some time to an annoying female trouble," says Mrs. Minnie Tillotson, of Potomac, Vermillion Co., Ill., Box 150, "I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, who at once understood my suffering, and advised me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and use also his 'Lotion Tablets' and 'Suppositories.' After using his medicines eight or nine months I was completely cured.

"I am grateful to Dr. Pierce for his advice and the kind and encouraging letters he wrote to me. I would advise any woman suffering with female disease, to consult him. Prompt and respectful attention will be given and good advice received by so doing."

The Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 large pages in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

STOCKS SOLD OFF, BUT WERE SUPPORTED

Net Loss in Wall Street Was Insignificant, Considering the Weakness Abroad and the Heavy Selling by Foreigners.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The stock markets at home and abroad yesterday were depressed by the disturbances in the Russian capital, but considering the weakness on the continent and the heavy selling for foreign account, the net loss in Wall street was insignificant. The fact that the market had closed weak on Saturday, and that there had been no satisfactory explanation of the enormous expansion of bank loans, would of itself have been sufficient to cause a continuation of the decline yesterday. When to this was added the startling events in Russia on Sunday and the no less startling rumors yesterday, it was a wonder that the decline was not greater. The course of the market is taken as evidence that stocks are in strong hands, and that the public interest in the market is not large enough to precipitate a severe slump, even if foreign news should continue disturbing.

Enough time elapsed between the hours for opening the foreign markets and that for the opening in Wall street to give the latter opportunity to observe the effects on the former. In Paris, which is the most sensitive market, owing to the enormous amount of Russian bonds carried by French investors, there was a decline of 27½ centimes in French rentes and a decline of 1¾ per cent in Russian imperial 4s. The latter had closed Saturday at 89 and opened yesterday at 87¼, declined to 87, rallied to 89 and reacted to 87½. It was reported that the Imperial Bank of Russia had not opened for business yesterday, but that the Russian government was supporting its securities in the market. The recovery that took place on the Paris bourse also indicated that the financial interests at that center had rallied to the support of the market, and the rather insignificant change in English consols indicated that that center was not greatly alarmed. London, however, sent quotations for American securities ranging from ¼ to 1½ per cent below Saturday's close, and these were followed by liberal selling orders, the total sales of London on balance being estimated as high as 70,000 shares.

Initial quotations on the New York stock exchange showed average declines of about 1 per cent in the high-priced active railroad stocks, and fractional amounts for others. As a rule the lowest prices of the day were made during the first half hour. Support was in evidence, but no effort was made to manipulate an advance. Trading was quite active during the first two hours, the sales reaching 625,000 shares. During the afternoon dullness ensued, and the market gradually crept upward. Just before the close, however, there was another sharp reaction, which in some instances carried prices back to the opening level. This selling was probably by nervous speculative holders who feared to remain "long" of the market over night. United States Steel common and preferred closed at an average net loss of 1¼ per cent, and Amalgamated Copper and Sugar at an average loss of 1 per cent. The fluctuations in Pennsylvania did not extend over ⅜ per cent, but the stock closed ⅞ lower than on Saturday. A sustaining factor was the early announcement that an amicable agreement had been reached between the company and its employes, and that no strikes on the system would occur. St. Paul and Union Pacific each closed 1⅝ per cent lower for the day, and Louisville & Nashville, which was quoted ex-dividend, closed 2 per cent off. There were smaller losses in the remainder of the list. Several strong spots developed during the day. Consolidated Gas closed ½ per cent higher, Erie ½, Northwestern 1, and Metropolitan Street Railway ¾ higher. Money remained easy all day, the closing quotations on call loans being 1½ bid, 1¾ per cent asked.

On the Pittsburgh exchange all the active stocks closed lower, and trading was only moderately active. The decline in Crucible Steel preferred occurred late in the session, and was probably due to the reaction which was in progress at that time in New York. The stock sold down to and closed at 62⅝, a net loss of 2¾ per cent. The common closed ⅜ lower at 12. Westinghouse Electric was also affected by the same influence and declined to 89¼, closing at 89½. Pittsburgh Coal common was inactive and sold at the uniform price of 21⅝, but the preferred was weak, declining to 80 and closing at 80½ bid. Manufacturers Light and Heat sold down to 39 and at one time was offered at that price, but closed at 39 bid. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas declined to 71½ and closed offered at that price. The remainder of the list was dull and only fractionally changed.

SOUTH SIDE SALE BRINGS $125,000

The Old Ihmsen Glass Property Sold to the Oliver Iron and Steel Company.

DEAL OUT FIFTH AVENUE

The sale of the old Ihmsen glass property to the Oliver Iron and Steel Company for $125,000, which was closed yesterday, is the most interesting deal in South Side real estate announced for many months. Title to the property was secured from the American Window Glass Company, which bought it in 1901. The ground is in two parcels, having a total frontage of 555 feet on the north side of Muriel street, extending from Thirteenth street to Fifteenth street. It also has a frontage of 75 feet in Thirteenth street, 120 feet in Fifteenth street and an average depth of about 290 feet. The buildings are old frame and brick structures. The plant was built in 1818 and remained continuously in the Ihmsen family until its sale four years ago. The property adjoins the other holdings of the Oliver Iron and Steel Company, which extend from it to the Monongahela river with a width of about 340 feet. The purchasing company also own 180x260 feet on the opposite corner of Fifteenth and Muriel streets.

Transfer in Wood Street.

Benjamin Thaw has purchased a two-fifths interest in the property at the northeast corner of Wood street and Third avenue, for $90,000. The sellers were Mary Thaw Thompson and Mrs. E. T. Edwards, who received $30,000 each for their shares. The lot is 45x120 feet and is improved with a three-story brick store building.

H. M. Berman of the Merchants Savings and Trust Company has sold for Julius Baer to Dr. J. J. Buchanan the property at 1329 Fifth avenue for $27,000. The lot is 24x90 feet, extending back to Our alley, and will be improved with a new store building. The sale figures at the rate of $1,125 a front foot.

The same company leased for Charles Ruben to M. Schohnick the three-story brick building at 1416-1417 Fifth avenue for five years at $4,000 a year.

The Commonwealth Real Estate Company leased for the Brown estate to Charles Bily, the tailor, the three-story brick building at 622 Penn avenue for five years. The building, which is 20x112 feet, is now occupied by Thomas & Company who have taken larger quarters in the Phipps block, near Ninth street. The room now occupied by Mr. Bily near Sixth street will be included in the site for the 14-story hotel to be built by the Annex Hotel Company.

Mortgage Money Getting Easier.

Indications that money is getting easier in the real estate market are coming to light every day. Yesterday Avey & Irish placed a loan of $150,000 on downtown property at 4.5 per cent, the money coming from eastern sources. This makes a total of over $500,000 that this firm has placed of eastern money since it started in business. Other firms are reporting similar success and are fully as busy placing loans as they are making sales. In general more care is taken with the risks than two years ago, but the rates obtained compare very favorably with those prevailing in the boom period.

Architect F. C. Sauer has plans for the three-story brick manual training school to be erected at the Second ward school, Irwin avenue, Allegheny. The estimated cost is put at $75,000.

Plans are being prepared by Architect J. L. Beatty for a brick and stone church to be built in Sampson street for the Metropolitan Baptist congregation at a cost of about $35,000.

Architect H. J. Lobman will take bids about February 1 on a four-story brick store and apartment building in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, for David H. Rhodes and J. W. Albig to cost $25,000.

Architect James T. Steen has awarded to James Wherry & Co. of Allegheny, the contract for a residence for A. S. Altoffer at Sewickley to cost $15,000.

DEALERS WANTED FOR NEWS FROM RUSSIANS

Local Markets Affected by Disturbances—Eggs Suffer a Severe Break.

At no place down the street yesterday were the merchants in the local market willing to talk much business. The events in St. Petersburg were of more interest to them than were their own affairs.

But the day effectually ended the attempted corner in eggs. The packet boats H. K. Bedford and Kanawha got in from down the Ohio Sunday night loaded down with fresh eggs. The egg market had been sliding off all week anyhow, on account of the warm weather. This was the last straw. Yesterday fresh eggs were selling on the wharf at 27 cents a dozen. Up along the street the highest that could be had was 28 cents. The opening of navigation did that much to solve the question of food supply for Pittsburgh. There are thousands of cases of eggs down the river yet, and they will be coming up by the boatload now if the weather continues favorable. Unless the rivers should freeze again this week there is no doubt in the minds of some dealers that fresh eggs will be down to the neighborhood of 20 cents a dozen by Saturday.

The flour market was excited all day yesterday, owing to the Russian situation. Should the revolt there assume any greater proportions and give evidence of enough strength to more or less successfully cope with the government, it is believed flour will jump to a fancy figure. Yesterday it was uncertain and the dealers were simply in a waiting humor. The sugar market was in the same condition. There was comparatively little business doing in any line, but the dealers were all confident that prices would jump up if the Russian situation should develop into civil war.

In produce everything was quiet. It was too cold to ship anything and but little was doing in local trade. This was natural, from the fact that it was Monday and it is always a slow day. Today the produce men are looking for a good line of business.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania lines, 42 cars hay, 30 cars oats, 24 cars corn, 3 cars feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 5 cars hay, 6 cars corn, 1 car corn and oats, 3 cars oats, 1 car malt; Baltimore & Ohio, 9 cars hay, 3 cars corn, 3 cars oats, 1 car straw.

The entire list of commodities in the hay and grain market showed a weakness yesterday, with the possible exception of rye, which was a fairly strong market. There was little buying or selling being done and dealers on all hands were awaiting the news from Europe. No person tempted selling to bid anything up and none seemed willing to sell anything at the prices offered. The day was simply a standoff between the buyer and the seller. Oats showed some weakness, but maintained their price. Corn was weaker than for several weeks and the prospects are that it is going to drop in price. Hay about held its own and millfeed and straw remained as firm as last week.

The Wool Market.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today amounted to 12,982 bales. There was a keen demand for a good selection on the New South Wales and Queensland greasy merinos at firm rates. Fancy descriptions were steady. Scoured were difficult to buy at late rates, crossbreds neglecting wonder animated buying. American buyers secured fine merinos, crossbreds and half-breds. Cape of good Hope and Natal was steady at full rates. Following are the sales in detail: New South Wales, 4,200 bales; scoured, 10½@1 1½d; greasy, 6@11d. Queensland, 2,200 bales; scoured, 1s 3@1s 11½d; greasy, 8@1s 1d. Victoria, 1,500 bales; scoured, 1s 2@2s 3½d; greasy, 5@1s 6d. South Australia, 1,300 bales; greasy, 5@11½d. West Australia, 500 bales; greasy, 7@11½d. New Zealand, 1,000 bales; greasy, 6½@1s 2d. Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 300 bales; scoured, 1s 2d@1s 4½d; greasy, 7@10½d.

DISORDER IN RUSSIA AFFECTS WHEAT PIT

Market Finishes Strong on Possibility of Decreased Shipments from Czar's Land.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Possibility of a decrease in shipments from Russia as a result of public disorder, caused a strong finish in the wheat market here today. At the close the May delivery was up ¾@1c, corn is up ¼@½c, oats show a gain of ⅛c and provisions are up 5 to 17½c.

The strength with which the wheat market closed was not in evidence earlier in the session. At the opening the sentiment in the pit was inclined to bearishness in spite of the bullish tenor of weekly statistics. World's shipments were considered small, and the amount on passage was correspondingly light. As an offset, however, receipts in the northwest showed decided increases. In consequence the market at Minneapolis was extremely weak. Trading here was more inclined to be governed by domestic possibilities than by the foreign situation. Opening quotations on May were a shade higher to ⅛@¼c lower at $1 13⅜@1 14⅛. While the pit crowd generally was bearish the desire on the part of many traders to sell wheat short was held in check by a rumor that a leading long was supporting the market. Selling was likewise restrained by the critical condition of affairs in Russia. A fear was entertained that further violence might result disastrously to Russian commerce and perhaps cause a stoppage of grain exports from that country. After trading was well under way sentiment became a little firmer, May advancing to $1 14⅝. Weakness of northwestern markets, however, was a constant drag on prices here and, with the announcement of liberal primary receipts, commission houses turned active sellers. Under the pressure May declined to $1 13⅞. Late in the day, however, the market developed considerable activity with a sharp rise in values. News from the southwest was bullish, a report from Kansas City stating that receipts there would be small in the near future. Inasmuch as country offerings are paying from 2@3c a bushel more than the nearest price. Dispatches from St. Petersburg added to the anxiety of shorts, advices asserting a renewal of disturbances at the Russian capital. Prices $1 13 May quickly advanced to $1 15⅜. The market closed almost at the highest point of the day, final quotations on May being at $1 15. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 69,000 bushels. The amount on passage decreased 1,538,000, and the visible supply decreased 202,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 928,800 bushels, compared with 1,080,800 bushels a year ago; Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 331 cars, against 676 cars last week and 1,051 cars a year ago.

Influenced by larger receipts than expected, pit traders were quite free sellers of corn early in the session, resulting in some weakness. Later the market became somewhat firmer in sympathy with the advance in wheat. On the whole the volume of trading was very small. May opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c lower at 44⅜c to 44⅝@44¾c, sold up to 45c, and closed at the top. Local receipts were 547 cars, with three of contract grade. A steady tone prevailed in the cash market and trading was largely of a scalping character. May opened unchanged to ¼c higher at 39⅝@39¾c, sold at 40@40⅛c and closed at 39¾@39⅞c. Local receipts were 182 cars.

A gain of 10c in the price of hogs at the yards caused fairly active conditions of provisions by shorts, resulting in a rise from the start. At the close May pork was up 17½c at $12 90. Lards was up 5@7½c at $7 02½. Ribs were 10c higher at $6 85@6 87½. Estimated receipts for tomorrow—Wheat, 450 cars; corn, 307 cars; oats, 105 cars; hogs, 17,000 head.

WHAT THE THEATERS HAD TO OFFER LAST NIGHT

Nixon—"Babes in Toyland."

"Toyland, Toyland,
Little girl and boy land,
Once you've passed its portals
You can ne'er return again."

Quite the most delightful stage conceit of our modern and conglomerate forms of spectacular amusements is that revealed to us in the pantomime comedy-opera and extravaganza that is paying its second visit to Pittsburgh at the Nixon this week. "Babes in Toyland" is altogether in a class by itself. In its music, for instance, which Victor Herbert wrote, the score reaches from conventional ragtime to the dignity and beauty of grand opera. Mr. Herbert has scattered his music gems with rich profusion. It would be almost like picking out the prettiest diamond in a Tiffany window to attempt to make a selection of the best. "Floretta," "Barney O'Flynn," "Rockabye Baby," "Castles in Spain" and the seductively beautiful "Toyland" are among the song gems, while a little sum in arithmetic and "Don't Be a Villian" are samples of the broader humor of the music. But it is in his pantomimic accompaniments and in some of the interlude and finale music that Mr. Herbert has given rare distinction to this extravaganza. The composer has rarely done a better thing than the music of the pantomime of the acrobat in the second act, while the butterfly music and the march of the toys comprise some peculiarly sweet and quaint movements, rising sometimes to the dignity and polish of an operatic score and always interpreting the theme with sane reference to the progress and motive of the story. Glen McDonough has given a bright libretto that has a sub-current of child land and child joy in it, and it is this that the composer has dignified and made beautiful. Julian Mitchell's wizard hand has cast all this pantomime music and childhood story into a perfect setting, both of scenic effect, costume and ensemble loveliness.

The cast is but little impaired from its condition when the piece was seen here a year ago. Ignacio Martinetti as the boy, Alan, fails to give us Norris' spirit of boyhood, but he is a capital dancer and through this gift makes the role attractive. Bessie Wynn as Tom Piper is as beautiful in face, figure and voice as ever, though there is a trace of self-consciousness that spoils somewhat the alluring picture. Mabel Barrison, she of the nimble dance and the infantile beauty, is still one of the crowning glories of the spectacle. May de Sousa lacks Amy Ricard's individuality and acting art but she has a sweet voice. All the children of the Widow Piper are pretty, happy maidens, and the garden scene on the wall remains one of the beauty scenes of this superlatively pretty and quaint entertainment. Charles Guyer, the acrobat, does an amazing and alarming specialty in conjunction with Marguerite Ferguson as Jill. The chorus is a clear voiced, shapely one, and the various interpolations of humor and song bring the extravaganza thoroughly up-to-date, including the inevitable Mrs. Chadwick and the Russian losses by land and sea. "Babes in Toyland" is a product of some of the best sources of music, humor and staging that the modern light amusement stage affords. It is dignified in its music appeal and never coarse in its comedy. CHARLES M. BREGG.

Gayety—"The Ninety and Nine."

The temperance drama which Ramsey Morris wrote on the suggestion of one of Ira D. Sankey's hymns and called "The Ninety and Nine," had its initial production in Pittsburgh last night at the Gayety theater. The piece has been heralded by a sensational production in New York and a prosperous run on the road, but it is now almost two seasons old and comes to this city in classic form. Its lesson in temperance is a good one, although the claim that it is a rural masterpiece is a little bit far-fetched. In the author's efforts to inculcate a practical temperance lesson he sacrificed a good many precepts of the quiet drama and rode rough-shod over some time-honored rules of stagecraft. "The Ninety and Nine" is intensely melodramatic, with a strong plot well interwoven with stirring —and sometimes startling—climaxes. There is a great deal of talking and a vast amount of suiting the action to the word. This makes a great deal of action, too. The same amount of action with less talk, it seems, would improve things. The talk is of the declamatory, didactic sort that not infrequently makes people tired. The hero is a confirmed drunkard and the heroine of course is willing to sacrifice everything, including her good name, to save him and she succeeds and the "lost sheep," in the words of the old hymn, are found. The stage picture of the rescue train making its flying journey through a forest fire is less weird and less terrifying than the billboards would indicate. The play is presented by a strong company and last night's audience was highly pleased. Miss Bayone Whipple, the daughter of a church prelate, it is said, has the leading part and acts intelligently. O. J. Ashman, who manages the staging of the play and acts the hero's role, does excellent work.

Alvin—"The Frisky Miss Johnson."

Perhaps "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson" is quite the most indifferent play in the repertoire of Miss Amelia Bingham. It is a silly French comedy in which the usual marital mixup is the principal motif. Clyde Fitch adapted the piece for the American stage and Miss Bingham has played it more or less successfully for two seasons. Its revival at the Alvin yesterday was notable for two things—the very beautiful and gorgeous scenic background and the marvelous gowns of the women in the cast. One rarely sees a more beautiful stage setting than that of the first and second acts of this play. In the second act, when the change is made from morning to evening, the lights in the distance and the illumination of the Arch of Triumph makes an exceedingly pretty picture. This brief review shall not attempt to describe the gowns of the women. They were exceedingly and amazingly rich—and very decollete.

Miss Bingham plays the role of the frisky Mrs. Johnson with sincerity and humor. The emotional moments are rare but she is admirable in them. Mr. Probert, the young comedian, does an exceedingly clever bit of work as the flirtatious Oxford boy. Mr. Woodruff is capable as the cause of all the trouble, while Mr. Dodson Mitchell, Mr. Paulding, Mr. Harris, Mr. McVay and Mr. Melrose render valuable assistance. Miss Gale, Miss Troutman and Miss Darling wear handsome gowns and do excellent work. Indeed the standard of acting in the company is infinitely above the silly, foolish and suggestively drab play.

Empire—"Sweet Clover."

A welcome diversion in entertainment is furnished this week at the Empire in the beautiful comedy drama, "Sweet Clover." Although this is its first appearance in Pittsburgh, the play has been on the road for four years and has met with excellent success. It is pure in sentiment and thoroughly clean in its presentation. Sharing the rustic simplicity that characterizes all the dramas of the "Old Homestead" order, the play abounds in beautiful and touching scenes that give wide range for an actor who is well cast. In this particular "Sweet Clover" is exceptionally fortunate. Otis B. Thayer has been the simple-hearted old country grandfather, Jerome Holcomb, from the time the play was first staged. He is peculiarly well adapted to this role, and his work, both as a humorist and in parts that are replete with pathos, has a finish that stamps him as an actor of marked ability. Gertrude Bondhill, in the role of the innocent, twice-loved country girl, gives to her part the charm of graceful simplicity, which is heightened by her remarkably pretty voice. The balance of the company are entitled to much credit in their able support of the two stars. This is notably true of Clara Reynolds Smith, the "old maid" of the cast, and John Maurice Sullivan, the husband who won and nearly lost the bewitching country grandaughter. The production was well received last night and is considerably above the average of many of the plays that have visited the uptown theater recently.

Bijou—"In Old Kentucky."

When C. T. Dazy wrote "In Old Kentucky" over a dozen years ago he succeeded admirably in infusing the romance of the Blue Grass state into the drama, and it is surprising that the play has lived so long and still enjoys great popularity. There are few melodrama on the road that possess the merits of "In Old Kentucky," and the company presenting it this season is the best since its first season in 1893. Miss Nellie Callahan who plays the role of Madge Bricely, the mountain girl, invests the part with intelligence and the gentle grace of the true Kentucky girl. Miss Callahan is a graduate of the Girard stock company in Philadelphia, and has mastered the sweet accents and quaint dialect of the southern belle. After a season of blood and thunder vulgarity in Theodore Kremer's stuff at the Bijou it is a treat to see such meritorious work as that of Miss Callahan. Rapley Holmes is the new Col. Sandusky Doolittle, and Otis Turner makes a capital Uncle Neb. There is the same rabble of pickaninnies with the Wangdoodle band and buck and wing dancers. New scenery has brought the production up-to-date in its realistic aspect of old Lexington.

IN A NUTSHELL

NIXON—"Babes in Toyland" is a music gem, set in quaint, alluring picture frames.

GAYETY—A melodrama of action and climaxes. The company is unusually good.

ALVIN—Miss Amelia Bingham and her co-players give distinction to a play of little worth.

EMPIRE—A fine old rural drama acted creditably.

DUQUESNE—"McFadden's Flats" please those who like rough and tumble nonsense.

BIJOU—"In Old Kentucky" is given a new lease of life by the excellent acting of the present company.

GRAND—A bill of pleasing and amusing variety.

ACADEMY—The burlesques are much better than the olio.

Grand—Vaudeville.

An exceptionally varied vaudeville bill is presented at the Grand this week, including several acts which have long been regarded as among the best. Ross and Fenton burlesque Sardou's version of "Cleopatra" and work in the travesty lines in a way that keeps the audience in uproarous laughter. An elaborate stage setting adds to the high class of the act. Jennie Yeamans is also on the bill with her own peculiar line of talk, which, as usual, appears to be largely impromptu. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Barry in a good comedy sketch, the Orpheus Comedy Four and the Brittons were the other favorites in the fun-making line. A very intricate and richly staged marionette act and Herzog's six horses are included in the remainder of the entertaining bill.

Duquesne—"McFadden's Flats."

The newest thing at the performance at the Duquesne theater last night was the playing of Frank A. Panella's sprightly new march, "Flags of Freedom," by the Duquesne orchestra. The march has a patriotic swing and was warmly received when Staley's players gave it as an overture. Mr. Panella is a member of the Duquesne orchestra and is well known as a local composer and for his work in well-known Pittsburgh military bands. As for "McFadden's Flats" with the diminutive Speck brothers, both have been seen here before. As George and Alex the brothers are as funny as ever, but it is about time for the "Flats" to be put on the shelf. The specks would be funnier still if they could shake off some of the horseplay which is bad enough in the comic section of a Sunday newspaper and becomes intolerable when given too much repetition on the stage.

Academy—"Blue Ribbon Girls."

"Caught With the Goods," a one-act burlesque, is the bright spot in the "Blue Ribbon Girls" performance, and helps keep the show up in the average class. The plot or idea of the piece is very funny and as acted by the company it pleased the Academy audience immensely. Several good musical numbers were also greatly appreciated and the chorus took well, because of their rich costuming. A feature of the olio bill is the Blue Ribbon Zouaves, a company of 17 young fellows, who are trained finely in intricate and gymnastic military movements. Others on the vaudeville list are Lew Palmer, animal entertainer; LeRoy and LeVannion, acrobats; Ira Kessner, parodist; Ward and Bradburn and Nevins and Arnold, comedy sketch teams.

Miss Amelia Bingham in "Olympe."

One of the principal successes in Miss Bingham's extensive repertoire is Pierre Decourcelle's strong emotional drama, "Olympe," written expressly for Miss Bingham and played by her in New York and other principal cities last season with very great success. The cast will introduce four original members and will bring into service the full strength of the Harry Davis stock company when the piece is produced at the New Alvin next week.

The Parsifal Lecture.

Hearing Rubin Goldmark dilate on the beauties and mysticism of "Parsifal," is said to be a privilege and also necessary to a full enjoyment of the performance itself. Mr. Goldmark has been a student of Wagner for years and a lecturer on his music dramas. He will speak in the Nixon theater, Thursday afternoon at 3:30. Tickets for admission (without charge) will be distributed in limited number at the box office.

Miss Eugenie Blair.

Miss Eugenie Blair, who comes to the Gayety on Monday next, needs no recommendation to the playgoers of Pittsburgh, who know the quality of her work in former seasons.

The new play, "Her Second Life," provides her with a part that exactly suits her artistic temperament. It is full of strong emotional scenes.

PLEDGED SUPPORT TO THE RATE BILL

Democrats Will Aid President Roosevelt in Railroad Legislation.

BAKER IS SQUELCHED AGAIN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The proposition to control the railroads in the matter of rates was discovered at length in the house today by Mr. Burgess of Texas and briefly by Mr. Hepburn of Iowa. Summing up his remarks, Mr. Burgess said that an opportunity was now presented for members of the house to rise above party and vote for legislation which will restrict the railroads. The matter, he said, resolved itself into the question, "are you with Roosevelt or are you with the railroads." He was loudly applauded when he pledged the president the support of the Democrats in the effort to restrict the railroads.

Mr. Hepburn of Iowa took issue with Mr. Burgess regarding a portion of his remarks on railroad control. He first congratulated Mr. Burgess for pledging Democratic support to such a measure, but said that all through Mr. Burgess' remarks there had been attempt to make a partisan question out of it. Mr. Hepburn vigorously asserted that every shred of legislation now on the statute books regarding the control of railroads came from Republicans and Republican bodies. He charged that the Democrats on one occasion had two years in which to amend the law but that no recommendation of any kind or character was made by their committee on interstate commerce.

Congress Must Economize.

Mr. Littlefield of Maine said that congress must do one of two things—reduce appropriations or increase the revenues. He would be glad, he said, to follow any reasonable suggestion from the committee on appropriations and called attention to the fact that the decrease in appropriations must be very much larger than at present indicated by the bills reported, if there were to be funds in the treasury to meet them. Mr. Littlefield, addressing himself to the house leadership generally, said he disliked to increase revenues, because it increased taxation and said he wanted to be told why it was desirable to decrease appropriations. No reply, however, was forthcoming.

Various reductions in amounts carried in the District of Columbia bill were suggested by Mr. Baker of New York, who charged that the district commissioners were incompetent and that members of congress owning land in Washington were getting rich by their own acts in voting for city improvements.

Laughter and applause followed a criticism by Mr. Lind of Minnesota of an item of $14,000, which he said was in connection with the care of 40 horses, when he expressed surprise that there was no provision for a horse stenographer. Consideration of the bill had not been concluded when it was laid aside and the house concurred in the senate amendments to the omnibus claims bill and sent it to conference.

Wanted Congress to Express Horror.

A minor bill was being considered when Mr. Baker, in an excited manner, jumped up and moved that the house adjourn "in order that we may express our indescribable horror at the wanton massacre that has taken place in Russia."

Speaker Cannon put the question to the house. The only vote recorded in favor of adjournment was that of Mr. Baker. Seeing that his motion had been lost Mr. Baker, shaking his finger at the Republican side of the house, exclaimed: "That is the interest your people take in humanity," and in an undertone said that if it had been a king or emperor who had been shot down the house immediately would have adjourned.

Criticising the house for its refusal to adjourn Mr. Baker said he could not conceive how the house could be indifferent to such a condition of affairs. The house, he said, had devoted the day to "The little paltry, petty district squabbles in the city of Washington," while it had ignored what he termed the Russian horror, "a crime so unprovoked, so wanton and so shameless and cruel that the whole civilized world stands aghast." He hoped the house would take immediate opportunity to put itself on record "as expressing its horror and the horror of the American people at the fearful outrage."

The proceedings were interrupted by Mr. Pearre of Maryland being seized with a nervous convulsion, necessitating a brief recess. He soon rallied and was conveyed to his home.

FORTIFICATION BILL PASSES.

Senate Rejects Amendment to Strike Out Provision for Insular Defense.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Mr. Beveridge made another ineffectual effort in the senate today to have a time fixed for voting on the statehood bill. The opposing senators expressed an unwillingness to vote on the bill until the amendments shall have been disposed of and Mr. Beveridge would not consent to a vote on them without an agreement extending to the bill itself.

The fortifications appropriation bill was passed after rejection of the amendment fortifications.

OVER THIRD OF VOTES WERE FRAUDULENT

DENVER, Jan. 23.—The legislative committee considering the gubernatorial contest, today received the reports of nine handwriting experts on the ballots of 19 precincts. Out of 4,079 votes the experts deemed 1,438 fraudulent. Out of 238 ballots in one box, 181 had never been numbered as provided for by law.
